Congress in Conflict Over Roosevelt Plan

MOVES TO LIFT BURDEN OF TAX FROM BUSINESS

President Admits Slump at Hand.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Having listened to a presidential message that recognized the business recession and was both conciliatory and critical of business men, congress ended the first day of its extraordinary session in a turmoil of conflict over measures to meet the crisis.

With the overwhelming Democratic majority split more widely than on the court packing bill, a movement is growing apace to lighten the tax burden borne by business at once and shelve the wage and hour bill and other collectivist items on the President's program.

The radical Democrats are rallying to support of the administration leadership which would put through the wage and hour bill at this session and postpone action on tax revision until the regular session that meets Jan. 3.

Hope to Avert Depression.

The Republicans and the insurgent Democrats contend that unless congress acts promptly to undo the Roosevelt economic mistakes and to check further experiments with economic laws the present business slump will become a disastrous depression.

The tax subcommittee of the ways and means committee tentatively agreed on the exemption of corporations with net incomes of $5,000 or less from the surplus earnings tax and on modifications of the impost on larger units.

Forced by the impact of the new depression to enlarge the fourfold program of proposed legislation for which he called congress back to Washington, Mr. Roosevelt in his message submitted these suggestions for reviving business:

1. Encouragement of private capital to embark on a large scale residential housing undertaking, legislation to promote which Mr. Roosevelt will propose at a later time.

2. Encouragement of business enterprise by modification of taxes on business, particularly small business, in such manner as to check big business combines and "monopolistic practices" in defiance of the anti-trust laws.

3. Preparation of a federal government budget for the next fiscal year "which I expect can be brought within a definite balance."

Two Fields for Revival.

That was all the President had to offer in the way of specific proposals for halting the business recession.

Having thus briefly disposed of the subject of the new depression and his cure therefor, the President launched into a presentation of his wide social program pointed toward higher living standards and a more just distribution of the gains of civilization."

The four objectives listed were: [1] Crop control and soil conservation; [2] legislation to banish child labor and to establish uniform hours and wage standards; [3] reorganization of government system; [4] creation of seven regional conservation boards.

Through the crop control bill and the minimum wage and maximum hour bill, the President said he would stabilize the purchasing power of the nation and effect "a wider distribution of an immensely enlarged national income."

Through the reorganization of the administrative branch and the blanketing of the whole country with TVAs he would obtain "essential tools for the whole task."

Recognizes Need for Action.

The President started right off with his recognition of the business recession, which, he said, "has not reached serious proportions," but is giving "definite concern," because of the resultant decrease in national income.

The cause of the new depression the President traced back to rising prices, checking the revival of the construction industry, of which he gave warning last spring. Greedy business men who had put up prices are to blame for the business recession, according to the President.

When he came to the crop control

UTILITIES OPEN FIGHT ON TVA IN U. S. COURT

Call Law Creating It Invalid.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Charges that the Tennessee Valley authority is selling electricity at cheap subsidized rates, with hidden costs shouldered upon taxpayers throughout the United States, were made today at the opening of a trial here challenging the constitutionality of the authority and its hydro-electric operations.

The case, which is on the clear cut issue of the validity of the TVA, one of the key projects of the New Deal which proposes an ultimate expenditure of 520 million dollars in its water power and planned society experiment, is brought by eighteen power companies operating in the valley.

As expounded today it involves the question of whether the federal government can enter the power business in competition with private business, whether it can supersede states rights in the control of intrastate affairs, whether the "yardstick" of rates set up by TVA is made of india rubber. It is of such broad importance that it is conceded here that it involves not only TVA but has a bearing on the seven little TVAs which the Roosevelt administration proposes to throw over the country as a blanket.

Sells Power Below Cost.

Hydro-electri. power and the part it plays in TVA was the controverted point taken up today, in the opening hearings. Attorney Raymond T. Jackson of Cleveland, O., in his argument for the utilities asserted that TVA's program fundamentally is a hydro-electric venture.

"We will show," said Jackson, "that TVA is selling power for millions of dollars less than the actual cost of production. Navigation and flood control are incidental to this power production and sale.

"As to navigation of the Tennessee river, it would be better for the government to pay for everything handled by boat, on the river. The government is not justified in spending $30,000,000 here for flood control. The annual damage is not more than $1,500,000."

Lists Utilities' Contentions.

Jackson listed two chief contentions of the utility companies as follows:

1. Electricity produced by TVA is not constitutionally produced, and the government has not and will not acquire property in that electricity.

2. Methods for the distribution and sale of electricity—supposing the electricity is constitutionally produced—are unconstitutional because they place the federal government permanently in the utility business. Such methods bring the government in competition with the plaintiffs and supplant local and state regulation in intrastate affairs.

The 18 complaining companies which are attacking the constitutionality of TVA and its acts, the attorney said, have a property investment of 600 million dollars, 13,000 miles of transmission lines, 22,000 miles of distribution lines, 755,000 customers, and 16,000 employés.

TVA Calls Power By-Product.

James Lawrence Fly, counsel for TVA, taking the opposite view, argued hydro-electric power was just a by-product, instead of the main purpose of TVA.

"We will prove," said Fly, "that the projects are not only related to navigation and flood control, but that each one is a substantial and necessary step under the statute. It will appear as an incontrovertible fact that construction of these dams for navigation and flood control produce a by-product of power."

The hearings are before a three judge federal court consisting of Judge Florence E. Allen, presiding, and Judges John D. Martin and John J. Gore. The bench declined to rehear a utility petition, previously refused, to examine Secretary Harold L. Ickes, concerning PWA relation to the TVA power program. Judge Allen said if a new set of facts appears, this matter may be given a hearing later.

Indict Eleven on WPA Job Bribe Charge

Charges that ten WPA officials in Cook county enriched themselves by selling the better paid jobs under their control and extorting regular payments from the jobholders were made yesterday in an indictment returned by the federal grand jury. Named as an eleventh defendant is William Claus, building inspector of Park Ridge, who is alleged to have had a part in the extortion conspiracy.

Assistant District Attorney Martin Ward disclosed that the paying workers, of whom 17 were named, placed their donations in envelopes each pay day and handed them over. Sometimes these envelopes bore such tender messages as "Happy Birthday" or "From a Friend."

Charge Extortion of $4,000.

The alleged acts of extortion took place between Feb. 1, 1936, and June 1, 1937, while those under indictment were in charge of Works Progress administration projects in the suburban area. It was estimated by Mr. Ward that the workers paid between $4,000 and $5,000.

Federal Judge John P. Barnes issued bench warants for the arrest of the alleged conspirators and the warants were turned over to deputy United States marshals for service. Conviction on the indictment, which contains separate counts charging bribery and extortion, would be punishable by a maximum prison sentence of two years and a $10,000 fine on each count.

The victims of the plot were destitute workers who were first put on the WPA rolls at $55 a month. These men were solicited, the indictment stated, to pay their bosses substantial shares of increases awarded them when they were reclassified as timekeepers, carpenters, electricians, assistant foremen, cement finishers, and truck owner-operators—jobs that paid from $175 to $200 a month.

Agreement on Split Alleged.

It was charged that the promotions of the workers were influenced by their agreements to split the increased pay with the indicted men.

The WPA officials indicted and the jobs they occupied in the WPA setup, are:

Showers Children with Pennies from Hahn Fee

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Capt. Patrick Hayes, who directed the police investigation that ended in the conviction of Anna Marie Hahn, for the poison murder of Jacob Wagner, received a county voucher for $8 today for his services as a witness in the case. Capt. Hayes had the voucher converted into pennies, which he carried in a bucket into a school yard opposite city hall. There he gave a penny shower for the pupils.

N.Y. Snow Men Go to L. Placid for a Warmup

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Emulating the big league baseball clubs, commissioner of sanitation, William F. Carey, is sending his municipal snow fighters into winter training quarters at exclusive Lake Placid.

A dozen pieces of assorted equipment have reached the winter resort by freight, creating no little mystery. Puzzled upstaters, viewing the grotesque machines, under canvas and parked on flat cars, have spread all manner of rumors. Today the mystery was unfolded.

They're Snow Removers.

The bizarre shapes under tarpaulins are not field guns or PWA equipment. They are New York City snow removal machines. And, come the first fall of snow in the northern resort, truckloads of New York City sanitation snowmen will arrive to operate them.

Last Friday the whole town was agog when a dozen flat cars, addressed to the "department of sanitation, city of New York, Saranac Lake, N. Y.," were shunted into the local station.

Next to arrive on the scene was Edward C. Nugent, city superintendent of the sanitation department, who hastened to stake out the training quarters.

Work Limited to Airport.

Lake Placid doesn't scrape its streets down to hardpan after snowstorms, what with sleighing and the like. So Commissioner Carey's men will have to do their winter warming up on the airport and on the race course.

The airport at Placid will present a pretty problem in snow removal. Constructed on a plateau the northern face of which drops off a thousand feet or so, the landing field will have to be scraped with utmost caution lest New York's newest wrinkles in snow removal start avalanches down the mountainside.

The snow office at sanitation headquarters, already getting ready for the winter season, has its fingers crossed. When it was suggested today that snow might reach Placid and New York the same day, the chief snow office operative finally conceded that a hasty retreat from Placid would be in order.

Pick 8 Jurors to Try Pastor in River Death

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsfield, Ill., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—A long and grueling session in Circuit court here today produced only eight of the 12 jurors necessary for the murder trial of the Rev. C. Ellsworth Newton, cadaverous Baptist minister from the bottomlands of Missouri.

The Rev. Mr. Newton guided the spiritual destinies of some northern Missouri Baptists for the last 30 years. Now he is charged with the murder of Mrs. Maybelle Kelly, his most devoted parishioner, whom he once called "a very helpful, devoted Christian woman."

Since the slaying of Mrs. Kelly, matronly red haired wife of a Paris, Mo., rural mail carrier, took place some 30 yards on the Illinois side of the Mississippi river, the trial is being held here in Pike county, with half the women in Paris crossing the river to attend.

All Farmers on Jury.

This is one reason why of the 56 lean, taciturn farmers who entered the jury box today, only eight were permitted to remain. Of those eight, only one is a bachelor; all are farmers in the river country.

Of the others who streamed in and out of the jury box since 9 o'clock this morning, their faces devoid of emotion, their voices low but emphatic, six had conscientious scruples against the death penalty which the state will ask. Others admitted preconceived opinions.

Judge A. Clay Williams excused seven from jury service. Harvey Scott begged freedom because he has "a good many hogs to look after and corn shuckin' on hand." Russ Laurel's apple crop is ready for the warehouse and "it's purty hard to get away." Another's wife is "porely."

Victim Long a Friend.

Mrs. Kelly had been Newton's friend ever since 1923, when the preacher first came to Paris, Mo. She plied him and his wife with fresh vegetables and dressed chickens, served him as president of the Woman's Missionary society and on the night of last July 12 left town with him. The next day her body was found floating in the Mississippi river. Although the minister confessed the slaying July 15, he since has entered a plea of not guilty.

Throughout the questioning of the prospective jurors, Newton, a thin lipped man with a gaunt frame appropriately draped in black, seemed nervous.

Courtroom Is Filled.

The courtroom, a great octagonal place, bright with golden oak and dull with stained glass windows, was filled. All the spectators looked toward the Baptist preacher, who in the past had been called "handsome, almost boyish." Right now he is neither. He looks his age, which is 51.

Although tall, he is so thin he seems frail. His features are on the foxy side, long, lean jaw, small pointed chin, and quite a nose. His blue gray eyes are blurred behind thick lensed spectacles with gold rims.

State's Attorney Merrill Johnston says he will dwell on the minister's "winning way" with women and will seek to prove he took from Mrs. Kelly, his richest admirer, the $1,950 she had with her.

Defense Is Mysterious.

Defense Attorney Daniel P. Johnson, however, is mysterious. Thus far he has subpenaed no witnesses; has done little, in fact, except issue a repudiation of Newton's confession of July 15.

In that confession the minister implied he was merely trying to help an old friend flee by automobile from a husband she was sick of unto death. When he told her he intended to drop her at a hotel so he could get home she "became hysterical."

To give his nerves the calmness which a pint of whisky had failed to do, he got out of his car into the rain. She followed, and they grappled and fell, her head striking the pavement, he said. Seeing she was unconscious, he then "became excited," by his own words, administered a brief clubbing, and tossed her from the Mark Twain bridge, 35 miles from here.

Ravoux is said to have angered the Nazis by reporting that the hoof and mouth disease was especially serious in Germany because the health of live stock was undermined by lack of proper fodder.

Tokio Is Condemned

BRUSSELS—Fifteen nations, including the United States, vote to condemn Japan for invading China at nine power treaty conference and seek way to punish Tokio. Conference adjourns until next Monday to frame future policy toward Japan. Page 2.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16 [Tuesday].—(AP)—A great exodus from Nanking, China's capital, was under way today, as the Chinese defense system between Shanghai and Nanking threatened to break under the savage thrusts of Japan's legions.

The government ordered all war wounded removed into the interior from Nanking, which has been the center of the army hospital system.

By highways, rivers and canals the civilian population was leaving Nanking by thousands, spurred by reports of great destruction inflicted on Soochow by Japanese bombing planes. Government officials remained behind. The normal population of Nanking is more than 1,000,000.

700 Bombs Rain on City.

Seven hundred bombs within 30 hours were said to have made a shambles of Soochow, city of 260,000 some 50 miles west of Shanghai. It is a key point in China's "Hindenburg line," and formerly was one of the country's most picturesque and prosperous cities. It has been known to the Chinese as "Paradise Under Heaven" for 2,000 years.

Foreign advices described the Chinese casualties as "terrible."

Wusih, west of Soochow, also was heavily punished by Japanese air raiders. Japanese spokesmen said the bombings were necessary to "create panic among Chinese troops falling back to those points."

Reports Hospital Wiped Out.

Dr. H. F. Ettinger, Austrian official in the Chinese medical service, reported that many wounded and the entire staf in a Soochow dressing station simply disappeared when the station was hit by a huge bomb.

Fears were raised in Nanking that the city would suffer punishment similar to that of Soochow after the government announced its determination to defend it to the last.

Vanguards of the Japanese armies, heavily reinforced by newly arrived troops, were reported within 12 miles of Soochow, having swept westward after the capture of Kunshan, 20 miles east of Soochow.

Advance on 100 Mile Front.

Japanese still were some 125 to 150 miles southeast of Nanking, but foreign military observers predicted they could reach the Chinese capital by mid-December.

The Japanese were advancing on a 100 mile front, stretching from the Yangtze river southward well into northern Chekiang province, with the center of the formation before Soochow.

Seventy Japanese warships were reported concentrated in the lower Yangtze river west of Tsungming Island to support the landings and inland thrusts of fresh Japanese columns. On this wing the Japanese said they had advanced to within sight of the walls of Changshu, 25 miles north of Soochow, and threatened to cut off some 50,000 Chinese soldiers fleeing from Kunshan and Taitsang.

Motorboat Fleet Reaches Lake.

South of Soochow the Japanese reported they had reached Taihu, largest lake of the region, with a flotilla of 200 motorboats and powered junks.

Still further south Japanese columns were driving into Chekiang, smashing at the Chapoo-Pinghu-Kashing line, some 50 miles southwest of Shanghai.

A fleet of American made auto trucks and cars aided the rapid advance west of Shanghai, which foreign experts estimated had conquered 4,000 square miles since the native city of Chapei fell last month and the Shanghai defense system began to crumble.

Draw Lines Around Tsinan.

PEIPING, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Cavalry movements today extended lines the Japanese army is drawing around Tsinan, capital of Shantung province, but the Japanese made no attempt to cross the Yellow river.

That stream, a turbulent, formidable barrier, flows about 5 miles north of Tsinan and is crossed there only by one narrow bridge, that of the Tientsin-Pukow railway.

A Japanese spokesman indicated hopes that Gen. Han Fu-chu, Shantung's governor, would surrender without further fighting.

A Japanese army statement said that cavalry carried the Japanese right flank around to the west of Tsinan. The main infantry column, advancing by frontal attacks down the railway, was only 10 miles from the capital. Other Japanese columns which Saturday captured Tsiyang, on the north bank of the river 20 miles northeast of Tsinan, remained there.

LAUNCH PLANE CARRIER

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Nov. 16.—[Tuesday.]—The Yokosuka naval base yesterday was a veritable sea of goldbraid, epaulets, cutaways, and gorgeous kimonos as the nation's leaders, with their wives and daughters, assembled for the launching of the 10,500 ton Kiryu—Flying Dragon—fast airplane carrier.

Anti-air raid maneuyers were launched throughout Japan. They will last eight days. Many warlike demonstrations are being held in Tokio. On Sunday 150 tanks paraded through the streets, which in many places were decorated with Japanese, German, and Italian flags.

UNVEIL STATUE OF SUN YAT-SEN AT SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The late Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of modern China and its first president, was honored at the scene of his exile last Friday when a 14 foot statue of him was unveiled at St. Mary's square here.

It was to San Francisco that China's great national hero fled when his efforts to free his country's many millions incurred the wrath of the imperial government.

The statue, in stainless steel and red granite, is the first step in a program of the San Francisco downtown association to transform the square into a typical Chinese garden. On the platform was Beniamino Bufano, the artist who wrought the heroic figure of Dr. Sun.

The work was a federal art project, undertaken with funds supplied by China's nationalist party, the Kuomintang.

NAZIS TRY JEWISH HEAD OF SHIPPING LINE AND 4 AIDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Arnold Bernstein, head of the Arnold Bernstein Shipping Lines, and four directors of his companies went on trial in Hamburg today. All defendants are Jewish.

They are charged with violating Germany's foreign exchange regulations and "betraying the German nation" by withholding foreign currencies. The death penalty is the maximum punishment for this offense.

Bernstein pleaded he had not been aware of violating the currency regulations. He said that in the worst year of the depression he supplied Germany with over $600,000 worth of foreign currencies.

Flames Rout 3 Families; 28 Sons and Daughters

Three families, including 28 sons and daughters, ranging in age from 3 to 28 years, were driven from their homes early today by fire which swept two floors of the three story flat building at 7416 Princeton avenue. The families were those of Charles Gallagher, with eight children; John Swanson, with ten children, and James Moran, also with ten children. No one was hurt. Harold Swanson, 18 years old, trapped by smoke, had to leap from the third floor porch to an adjoining roof to save himself.

Japanese Advance on 100 Mile Front

With most of the Shanghai peninsula in its grasp, Japan's army today continued its offensive toward Nanking, China's capital. The Japanese were advancing on a 100 mile front extending from the Yangtze river southward into Chekiang province. Ruled area shows the territory held by the invaders, whose bombing planes were reported to have destroyed Soochow, key point in the Chinese defense lines. Japanese troops were within twelve miles of the city. Because China's defense system threatened to break, thousands of civilians fled Nanking.

MADRID TROOPS OUST REBELS IN BATTLE FOR HILL

MADRID, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Government troops struck out from besieged Madrid tonight and wrested a small hill from the rebels southwest of the city along the road to Toledo. Government artillery fire broke up a rebel effort to repair a bridge across the Jarama river at Puente Nuevo, a new military base.

The rebels were reported pouring thousands of foreign legionnaires and Italian troops into positions near Almeria, Mediterranean port in southeastern Spain. It is believed the plans of the rebel leader, Gen. Francisco Franco, call for a winter campaign against Almeria. A second rebel drive is expected to be launched in the upper Aragon sector, northeastern Spain. Rebel deserters in that region were quoted as saying 10,000 Moorish recruits have arrived in Aragon. This coincided with air observers' reports that huge concentrations have been seen in the sector.

[Rebel headquarters at Irun yesterday declared that ten Russian and four Czechoslovak military experts had arrived in loyalist Spain to assist in training troops and planning defense operations.]

POLES COMBAT REPORTS ABROAD PUTSCH IS NEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Nov. 15.—The official Polish Telegraph agency's denial that another putsch is imminent in Poland caused excitement in Warsaw today. The denial followed reports of a conflict between President Ignace Moscicki and a group of "Pilsudski legionnaires," who have ruled Poland since the putsch in 1936 led by the late Marshal Josef Pilsudski.

President Moscicki recently held negotiations with leaders of the Polish Socialist party and is said to favor a more liberal form of government to attract the support of powerful political groups which Pilsudski ousted when he became dictator.

The news agency's denial alleged that the rumors concerning the instability of the Polish government were originating from the soviet Russian embassy in Paris. Government officials were said to believe that Moscow is displeased at the projected visit to Warsaw of French Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos, whose journey fails to include Moscow.

2,500 IN SITDOWN STRIKE IN FISHER AUTO BODY PLANT

Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 15.—(AP)—A sitdown strike involving 2,500 workers began tonight in the Fisher body plant here, with factory doors barricaded and one gate welded shut. Strikers posted guards at the plant.

Odin Johnson, attorney for the United Automobile Workers, said union members sat down in protest against layoff of "600 men" and "uneven distribution of work."

Johnson said the union ten days ago formally asked plant heads to distribute work "evenly," and last Tuesday requested the city commission for aid, which was declined.

Officials of the plant, a General Motors corporation affiliate, could not be reached for comment.

JAPS CONDEMNED BY 15 NATIONS FOR MAKING WAR

Parley Seeks Method to Punish Tokio.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Nov. 15.—The Brussels conference today adopted the American, British, and French declaration which in effect stigmatizes Japan as an anarchist within the society of nations. It then adjourned until Monday to decide what to do about it.

Fifteen powers, including the United States, committed themselves to do something and do it together. Four other nations—Italy, by voting against the declaration, and Norway, Sweden, and Denmark, by abstaining—dissociated themselves from all responsibility.

Japan Stands Condemned.

By their action the delegates of the fifteen powers put themselves on record as declaring that Japan's invasion of China menaces world order, their own rights under the nine power treaty, and their material interests in the far east. They now await instructions from their governments as to whether they should collectively take positive steps to back up these strong words or admit bankruptcy.

The nine power treaty, guaranteeing China's territorial integrity, was signed Feb. 6, 1922, in Washington, by the United States, Belgium, Great Britain, China, France, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, and Portugal. Later five other nations, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Bolivia, and Mexico, adhered to its provisions.

All of the fourteen nations except Japan are attending the Brussels conference. In addition Russia and representatives of the British dominions, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, India, and the Union of South Africa, are present because they have special interests in the Pacific.

Next Step Up to U. S.

The future course of the conference depends upon President Roosevelt and the American congress because the leading European powers have told Washington they will join in any measures which are acceptable to the United States. This is the opinion of many delegates.

Because of Mr. Roosevelt's Chicago speech, they said they expected him to propose or at least accept a plan for a real moral and economic quarantine of Japan. If it appears that American public opinion is not prepared to accept the financial sacrifice which a boycott implies, the other powers here are ready to consent to mapping a concerted plan for supplying China with arms, munitions, and supplies, one delegation spokesman asserted.

Other delegations, he said, take it for granted that since the American delegation helped draft the declaration condemning Japan and specifying further consultation on a common attitude, Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large, must have some concrete proposals in mind. This spokesman added that these delegations likewise presume that Mr. Roosevelt is fully prepared to carry out the policies he has advocated.

Delegates have openly declared that if the French, British and other powers did not believe this to be the case they would have avoided the commitment to hold further consultation and would have contented themselves with a platonic gesture of mild disapproval. In fact, if it had not been for Mr. Roosevelt's Chicago speech urging a quarantine of aggressor nations, they would not have come to Brussels at all, one diplomat said.

Scandinavians Reserve Attitude.

When the declaration condemning Japan was put to a vote in this afternoon's meeting the Danes, Swedes, and Norwegians said that while they deplored the failure of mediation they were obliged to abstain.

They then asked Paul Spaak, Belgian foreign minister, who is chairman of the conference, to explain what the further objects of the conference would be since its original object was declared unattainable. When Spaak replied by reading the clause of the declaration specifying a common attitude toward Japan, the Scandinavians declared they reserved their attitude with regard to further sessions of the conference.

The Italians, as allies of Japan, naturally voted "No," and Count Luigi Aldrovandi-Marescotti injected a menacing note, saying:

"To the Italian delegation it now looks as if the door is left open not toward a settlement of the conflict in the far east, but toward the gravest complications. As a result the Italian delegation is obliged to vote 'no' and reserve its attitude as regards the successive phases of the conference."

This is taken to mean that Italy will probably withdraw from the conference.

When Spaak proposed sending a copy of the declaration to Japan, he was shouted down.

During this week's recess, a draft resolution will be framed outlining the future policy of the powers toward Japan on the basis of instructions received by the delegates from their governments.

THREE OF O'CONNELL'S CONVICTED KIDNAPERS ESCAPE FROM PRISON

Jamesville, N. Y., Nov. 16 [Tuesday].—(AP)—Three men convicted of the kidnaping of John J. O'Connell Jr. of Albany, escaped early today from the Onondaga county jail here after they had bound and gagged four keepers and a matron, and kidnaped another keeper. The prisoners were Percy Geary and John Oley of Albany, sentenced to 77 years, and Harold Crowley of New York City, who was given a 28 year term.

H. H. Paddock, superintendent of the prison, said the three convicts were armed with two guns. The bars of one of their cells had been sawed and placed together with chewing gum to avoid detection.

When John Corbett, a keeper, entered the cell block on the ground floor to punch a clock, one of the prisoners pounced on him, bound him with sheets, and took his keys. The prisoner then liberated the other two convicts and the trio went to the guard room.

There they encountered three keepers, Leroy Pease, Earl Brown, and Francis Crowley, Paddock related. They bound and gagged the keepers with sheets and were ready to leave the room when Mrs. Nellie Hills, a matron, entered. She also was bound, and the convicts went into the prison yard, where they met Edward Hayes, a keeper. They forced him to his automobile, took his keys, bound him, and sped away with him in the back seat to Syracuse, five miles away, where they released him unharmed.

O'Connell, a nephew of two powerful Democratic leaders of Albany, was kidnaped in July, 1933, and released on payment of $40,000 ransom.

SENTENCE SOCIAL CREDIT ADVISER ON LIBEL CHARGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

EDMONTON, Alta., Nov. 15.—George F. Powell, social credit "adviser" from England, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment at hard labor in Fort Saskatchewan jail by Justice Ives in Supreme court today following conviction on a charge of defamatory libel. Justice Ives said he would recommend Powell's deportation.

Justice Ives said to Powell: "It would seem that when you describe yourself as a technician you misname yourself. You are a propagandist. Your propaganda is the type we would well do without in Alberta."

Powell's trial followed that of Joseph H. Unwin, social credit member of the Alberta legislature and government whip, who was sentenced Friday to three months at hard labor on a similar charge. The cases grew out of publication of a leaflet attacking nine Edmonton leaders as "bankers' toadies." The court held that the leaflet was prepared by Powell and that the names of the men were taken by him from a leaflet entitled "Bankers' Dummies" and either were given to Unwin or left on his desk.

HOSPITAL REPORT URGES FUNDS TO REMEDY DEFECTS

Some Improvements Made with Budget Savings.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

Increases in appropriations for the County hospital for 1938 were recommended to the hospital committee of the county board yesterday in a program designed to eliminate many of the defects in the service, equipment, and maintenance recently criticized by a committee of outside hospital administrators.

Anton C. Negri, efficiency expert of the hospital, in his report urged appropriations for maintenance of the hospital be raised from $858,313 to $998,300. These figures are exclusive of salaries and nursing service. Of the increase $125,265 would be for capital improvements.

A number of defects already have been remedied with money saved from the 1937 budget, Commissioner Frank Bobrytzke, chairman of the committee, said. An insufficient linen supply was replenished, diet of patients was improved, and the main hospital interiors were cleaned and repainted.

No Administrative Changes.

The Negri report and comments of the county commissioners who heard it, however, made it plain that little action is contemplated on those sections of the hospital administrators' report which advocated improvement in the administration of the hospital and reorganization of its medical services.

The committee of outside hospital administrators consisted of Dr. Irving S. Cutter, dean of Northwestern university medical school and superintendent of Passavant hospital; Miss Veronica Miller, superintendent of Henrotin hospital; the Rev. John W. Barrett, diocesan director of Roman Catholic hospitals; Dr. A. C. Bachmeyer, director of the University of Chicago clinics; Asa Bacon, superintendant of Presbyterian hospital, and Charles A. Wordell, director of St. Luke's hospital.

Covers Professional Activities.

Mr. Negri was employed originally to conduct efficiency studies of the kitchens and other non-professional departments of the hospital. His recommendations yesterday covered professional activities as well, and Commissioner Bobrytzke said that his report included many recommendations which originated with Warden Michael Zimmer and the hospital staf.

The committee headed by Dr. Cutter said regarding administration:

"On account of the size of the hospital, and under the present organization plan, it is a physical impossibility to administer effectively the activities of the various organization units from a central office, as is being attempted at the present time. This results in lack of adequate administrative control."

Urges Retention of Warden.

The Negri report, however, recommended that the present administrative system with the warden at the head be retained. It did, however, provide for the creation of several new offices directly responsible to the warden. Of these a superintendent of building operations and a controler were also recommended by the Cutter committee.

Mr. Negri also recommended reorganization of the time keeping department, and appointment of one member of the staf of the county superintendent of public service to give full time to hospital purchases. Under existing laws the hospital cannot have its own independent purchasing agent.

Views on Departments.

The Cutter report recommended that the medical staf be more thoroughly departmentalized, blaming patients' complaints that they have not received adequate care on the present form of organization. Action on those recommendations will have to come from the medical staf, Commissioner Bobrytzke said.

The Cutter report also asked that consideration be given to allocating different services [wards] of the hospital to the four accepted medical colleges of Chicago.

Dr. Karl A. Meyer, medical superintendent of the hospital, said that since all but a few of the present staf members are faculty members of the four schools, some division of services might be worked out.

The Cutter report criticized the system of admitting patients as approaching the inhumane and urged that a qualified resident physician be in charge of admissions to supervise interns who now do the work.

The Negri report recommended four chief resident physicians, at $3,000 a year and maintenance, in addition to some fifty already on the hospital staf. One of them would be in charge of admissions.

If the number of residents is increased, more living quarters must be provided for them and for interns, whose quarters are now inadequate, Mr. Negri reported. He recommended a $55,000 addition on top of the present receiving wing for this purpose.

Both Mr. Negri and the Cutter committee found the nursing service inadequate. Mr. Negri recommended that the Cook County School of Nursing, an adjunct of the hospital, supply 160 more nurses and 25 more orderlies and attendants.

Examinations Are Held.

Mr. Negri was more harsh in his criticism of many minor defects in the equipment or maintenance of the hospital than the Cutter committee. He showed county commissioners antiquated pumps, unpainted and unplastered rooms, cramped X-ray quarters, a clinic for children which is improperly heated, and numerous other defects for which he recommended appropriations.

Another recommendation by the Cutter committee was that a large number of political appointees holding temporary appointments at the hospital be eliminated.

Commissioner Bobrytzke said civil service examinations already have been held to fill posts held by 253 political appointees in nonprofessional jobs, and that these positions will be filled by new certified civil service employés within 60 days.

Divorces Dancer, 71

MRS. ELAINE KANDLER.

Judge John J. Lupe yesterday awarded Mrs. Elaine Pura Kandler, 418 Belden avenue, a divorce from Richard O. Kandler, 71 years old, proprietor of a dancing academy at 116 South Michigan avenue. It was announced that Mrs. Kandler, who is 21 years old, received a $25,000 property settlement.

Mrs. Kandler met her husband when she enrolled as a student. She soon became a star pupil and then an instructress. They were married Aug. 15, 1936, at Crown Point and separated last Oct. 5. Mrs. Kandler accused her husband of cruelty.

Kandler used a condescending manner toward her, as if she were still a dancing teacher and not his wife, Mrs. Kandler testified. Although she remonstrated, Mrs. Kandler said he ordered her about their home as if it was the academy.

APPEALS COURT UPSETS RULING ON CUSTODY OF 2

The Appellate court yesterday reversed an order by Judge Oscar F. Nelson of the Superior court taking away custody of two small children from Mrs. Alice Des Chatelets, 850 East Marquette road, and giving the custody to her divorced husband, Policeman Joseph Des Chatelets.

Mrs. Des Chatelets won the custody of the youngsters, Jacqueline and Nathalie, at the divorce hearing in 1933, but Des Chatelets last year won custody on the charge that she was not a fit mother after Mrs. Des Chatelets had unsuccessfully demanded a change of venue from Judge Nelson.

On Oct. 22 the Appellate court denied an appeal, but Mrs. Des Chatelets' lawyer, Edward Schatz, obtained a rehearing, asserting a change of venue should have been granted in the original hearing. The appeals court upheld this view yesterday.

RELATIVE TELLS OF AIDING BEDAUX IN PARIS SLUMS

Bought Socks for First Trip to America.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 15.—When Charles E. Bedaux returns to Paris from America the duke of Windsor will be waiting to see him immediately, persons close to the former British king disclosed to THE TRIBUNE today. The duke, it was said, wants urgently to see Bedaux, despite the certainty that Windsor never will put himself under his friend's guidance again.

The duke wants to talk with Bedaux about the circumstances which raised a storm in America and caused cancelation of the trip which the Windsors had planned.

In addition to having a natural curiosity to know what it was all about, Windsor wants to see Bedaux as a matter of loyalty, showing the world that he does not drop friends without giving them a hearing. Bedaux, inventor of a production efficiency system widely opposed by labor, was the center of the criticism which caused cancelation of the tour.

New Light on Bedaux.

Meantime THE TRIBUNE got new light on the extraordinary personality and the Horatio Alger career of Bedaux from a most authentic source — namely, his sister-in-law, Mme. Rene Bedaux. She summarized her view of the whole family, four brothers and one sister, with the general remark that "all members of the Bedaux clan are tough."

She ought to know something about Charles Bedaux, for he lived with her and her husband—Charles' older brother Rene—before he left for America in 1908 as a hopeful European emigrant seeking his fortune.

Charles then was so poor that he had barely enough money to pay steerage passage. He was wearing his one and only shirt. His sister-in-law lent him a wickerwork valise in which to carry his scanty effects, which consisted entirely, according to her, of six pairs of socks, which she bought for him.

In Paris' Darkest Slums.

Mme. Rene Bedaux still is living in the same circumstances as she was nearly thirty years ago, acting as the manager of a little combined hot dog stand and pastry shop in which two customers barely have room enough to turn around. It is in one of Paris' darkest slums, just in the shadow of the great white basilica of the Sacred Heart of Montmartre.

In this section of Paris, where Windsor might well discover how the humbler classes live amid the smells of decaying vegetables and clogged drains, Mme. Bedaux told THE TRIBUNE correspondent the fantastic saga of the Bedaux family.

They came from Charenton, one of the most squalid of Paris suburbs lying to the east and a byword among the French as possessing the oldest of all French insane asylums. Members of the family never kept in touch with each other.

Mme. Bedaux knows about Charles at the present time because of his celebrity, and knows the whereabouts of her separated but undivorced husband—he is a station master at Cavaillon, near Marseilles. But she knows nothing about the other two brothers except that they are in humble circumstances.

Gives Up Struggle in U. S.

After making a success, Charles never wanted to acknowledge his humble relatives, Mme. Bedaux said. She declared her son wrote to Charles Bedaux asking for a job. Charles Bedaux never answered and never has answered similar letters from other nephews, his sister-in-law said.

Resuming her narrative, Mme. Bedaux told the correspondent that her illustrious brother-in-law did write from America to her and her husband during the first very hard years. Those years were so hard, in fact, that he decided to give up America as too hard a struggle, in order to try his luck in Europe again. So he appeared again in Paris, four or five years later.

Makes Second Attempt.

On his return to Paris, which must have been about 1912 or 1913, Charles Bedaux had with him his wife and an infant son, Charles Bedaux Jr., who now is a Yale graduate. They were so poor that they could not afford to live at a hotel and stayed with brother Rene. Charles soon returned to America, however, and this time was successful. Mme. Rene Bedaux heard nothing about him until his name was linked in the press with the Windsors.

Mme. Bedaux learned then that Charles had a different wife than the one she had seen poverty stricken in Paris.

KIDNAPERS FACE TRIAL FOR MURDER; VICTIM DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Huntington, W. Va., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Legal steps were taken today to try three confessed kidnapers for the murder in the death of Dr. James I. Seder, former missionary and once state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, who died this morning.

Dr. Seder, 79 years old, died of pneumonia resulting from exposure by the adbductors, who held him prisoner ten days in an abandoned coal mine while futile attempts were made to extort $50,000 from his two sons. He finally escaped when left unguarded.

The three prisoners, Arnett A. Booth, Orville Atkins, and John Travis, arrested by federal agents, were said to have admitted that Dr. Seder's was the first of a series of kidnapings they had plotted.

THREE BOYS FACE NEW QUIZ TODAY ON SCHOOL FIRE

Three boys held at the Summerdale police station for several hours yesterday in connection with an incendiary fire at a portable school building at 1123 Berwyn avenue on Friday were turned over to their parents last night by Robert Rashford, officer of the Juvenile court. They will be questioned today by Fire Attorney Earl Downes. Francis Denham, 10 years old, 5206 Winthrop avenue, the first boy arrested, named the others. They are his brother, James, 8, and John Krikae, 7, of 5322 Winthrop avenue.

STATE SEIZES 7 IN $50,000 RAIL FRAUD INQUIRY

Injured Girl, 9, Plaintiff in Suit, Among Prisoners.

Seven persons, including a girl, 9 years old, who was awarded a $50,000 accident judgment against the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville [Monon] railroad, were held yesterday at the state's attorney's office in an investigation of the case. The judgment was set aside on Oct. 6 after a witness confessed that her testimony was perjured.

Attorney Harold Jackson, 4647 Sheridan road, who represented the girl, Rosemary Keiffer, of Michigan City in the case, was among those held. The others were seized at his home.

Taken Before Grand Jury.

After his attorney, Cameron Latter, filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, Jackson was formally booked on a charge of conspiracy. His bond was set at $15,000. Three of the others also were taken before the grand jury.

Held with Jackson and the girl are her sister, Margaret, 16; their father, William; J. J. Stahl, 6415 Kimbark avenue, an investigator for the lawyer, and Edward Szczpanek and Leonard Layman, both of Michigan City who were witnesses.

Miss Frieda Hanief, 34, the witness who admitted perjury at trial of the case, is expected to be sentenced today for contempt of court by Judge Paul McWilliams of Litchfield, sitting here in the Circuit court. She testified last week before the grand jury.

The damage suit was filed after an accident April 16, 1935, near Miss Hanief's home outside Michigan City, where she runs a gasoline filling station and roadside stand.

Testifies to Accident.

Rosemary and her sister were crossing the Monon railroad tracks. An automobile struck the younger girl at the grade crossing, causing injuries which blinded her in one eye. Miss Hanief testified that she saw the automobile veer off the highway to avoid faulty ties placed on the crossing by the railroad.

In admitting her testimony was perjured, Miss Hanief said she was promised money by Attorney Jackson. Jackson countered with the charge that railroad detectives proposed marriage to her and spent large sums on her entertainment.

HELPS HUSBAND TO HOSPITAL, AND DIES AT HIS SIDE

While walking with his wife at Rush and Illinois streets late yesterday, Robert Cairns, 60 years old, 3439 Drummond place, was stricken by a heart attack and fainted. His wife, Jessie, 55, appealed for aid to Isadore Berg, 1257 Lunt avenue, a passing motorist.

Berg drove the couple to [illegible] hospital, where Cairns was put to bed. As she watched physicians trying to revive her husband Mrs. Cairns was seized with a heart attack and died. Later physicians succeeded in reviving Cairns, but withheld news of his wife's death because his condition remained critical. Cairns is a printer.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 2 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Singer Sues

RUTH ETTING.

Ruth Etting, blues singer, filed suit for divorce yesterday in Circuit court from Martin Snyder, her former business manager, known in the theater as Col. Moe Snyder. The bill, prepared by Attorney Otto Baer, charges that Snyder deserted Miss Etting on Armistice day last year after several acts of cruelty. They were married July 17, 1922, at Crown Point. Miss Etting came to Chicago in 1918 from a farm near David City, Neb.

DEATH REVEALS ALFRED, 'PERFECT BUTLER,' A WOMAN

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The "perfect butler," most trusted of the 16 servants on the big estate of Joseph H. Sears, the author, lay dead today and a 14 year masquerade was ended. The servant, who through that time had been believed to be a man, was a woman.

"Alfred" was the name the butler was called all these years. Now, no one knows the real name of that strange person who played the rôle. "Alfred" was taken ill last night in his rooming house. A physician was called. But by the time the physician arrived "Alfred" was dead.

The butler was found wearing men's clothing as usual. The doctor's examination revealed the deception.

Woman Burns to Death After Cleaning Fluid Blast

A woman who registered as Mrs. Mason Andrews was burned to death last night in her room at the Southtown apartment hotel, 546 West 63d street. Firemen who extinguished the blaze after it had spread to another room said it apparently had started in a pail of cleaning fluid. Her purse, which may have contained identification papers, was destroyed by the flames.

LIVERMORE JR. BACK AT WORK AFTER WEDDING

Stamford, Conn., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Jesse Livermore Jr., who was married yesterday to an attractive young divorcée, Mrs. Evelyn Sullivan of Sparrows Point, spent the first day of his honeymoon at work. He was at his desk today at a bottling plant he established here last month.

Young Livermore, whose father is a widely known Wall street operator, and his bride, both 20 years old, came here from Bel Air, Md., where they were married. They made a brief stop in New York on their way to Stamford.

Witnesses to the "Gretna Green" ceremony yesterday were Jesse's twice divorced mother, Mrs. Dorothea Longcope, who once shot him at a drinking party, and the bride's mother, Mrs. Carrie Bletzer, widow of Henry L. Bletzer, a fight promoter.

New Goudy Elementary School Opens for 1,100

The new Goudy elementary school, 1101 Foster avenue, was opened to 1,100 pupils yesterday. The new building has a combination assembly hall and gymnasium. Mrs. Agnes J. Marnell is principal.

VICTORY NEAR IN LONG FIGHT FOR OGDEN AVE. BUS

Commerce Commission Completes Hearings.

A long fight to obtain bus service in Ogden avenue between Lincoln and Union parks appeared to be near a successful conclusion yesterday when the Illinois commerce commission completed hearings on a petition of the West Towns Chamber of Commerce. James M. Slattery, commission chairman, said it would reach a decision within the next few days. It was predicted that the commission would order the Chicago Surface Lines to start the line, probably by Jan. 1.

Heavy line marks proposed bus route.

Testify Need for Line.

North and west side civic and business organizations have been fighting for the service for nearly ten years. Representatives of several organizations testified that the line would save time for hundreds of workers as well as make Lincoln park more accessible to west siders.

Merrill B. Knox, commission transit expert, said it is planned to operate the buses at three to four minute intervals and that one trip would require thirteen to fifteen minutes. The buses would operate from a north terminal at Clark street and Armitage avenue to a west terminal at Paulina and Monroe streets.

Buy Eight New Buses.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday authorized the Chicago Railways company, one of the surface lines units, to purchase eight new gasoline buses at a cost of $40,000 to be used for an extension of the present Pulaski road line from 31st street to 47th street.

William R. McConochie, an engineer for the surface lines, told the city council committee on local industries yesterday that congestion caused by loading and unloading of trucks at freight houses in Clark street between Polk and Taylor streets had slowed up street car service in Clark street.

Representatives of several railroads declared they would have to abandon their freight houses if prevented from using the street. The committee, which is considering an ordinance to stop loading and unloading at this point, will resume hearings Monday.

SURVIVORS TELL BATTLE AGAINST SEA AND SHARKS

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—A grim story of men fighting desperately for their lives against the sea and deadly sharks was told today by fifteen disheveled survivors of the Greek freighter Tzenny Chandris which foundered Saturday in the "graveyard of ships" off Cape Hatteras, N. C.

Seven crew members died during the thirty-two harrowing hours they awaited rescue. One went mad, bit his captain in the face, and then died. Another was pulled through his life belt by a shark. Still another slipped from a raft and was drowned only two hours before his companions were rescued. One of the survivors told of using a stick to fight off sharks which slashed at his legs while he clung to wreckage.

All the twenty-eight men aboard the ill-fated vessel were accounted for. Fifteen, several of them in serious condition, were brought here by the coast guard cutter Mendota. Six were rescued by the Mallory tanker Swiftsure. Four bodies were recovered, and three missing seamen were listed as drowned.

RESERVE PILOT FLIES THE COOP AND IS DIVORCED

When her husband, Oscar Sanson, was not working as assistant engineer for the school board, Mrs. Claire Sanson, 33 years old, 7737 Lafayette avenue, testified yesterday he spent all his spare time with the Illinois National Guard aviation corps, where he is a reserve corps pilot. Sanson even slept at the airport instead of coming home despite her pleadings, Mrs. Sanson said. Judge Philip J. Finnegan granted her a divorce and a settlement of $625.

RED HOTEL TRUST PURGED AS GPU LOOKS INTO 'PLOT'

1 Held as Trotzykist; 11 Sentenced as Grafters.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Nov. 15.—Leningrad is reported to be the center of the latest plot to assassinate Dictator Josef Stalin of soviet Russia. Following the arrest of officials of the government hotel trust in that city, important discoveries were made by the GPU [secret police] while examining the prisoners, it was learned.

Manager Grauzit of the Hotel Angleterre at Leningrad confessed meeting German "Trotzkyist" agents who stopped at his hotel during the summer tourist season. The Leningrad Pravda reported that Grauzit will be tried under paragraph 58 of the soviet code which provides the death sentence for "enemies of the state."

Accused of Tourist Graft.

Eleven other members of the hotel trust were sentenced to terms ranging from three to ten years for grafting from foreign tourists and also overcharging high officials of state institutions for banquets, especially for champagne.

The Leningrad hotels were hotbeds of embezzlement, the GPU charged, asserting that the director of the hotel trust, Skupski; the chief auditor, Cohen, and other prisoners managed to pocket 800,000 rubles [$160,000] during the last tourist season.

The trial revealed that orders were issued last summer to keep out all tourists except sympathizers with Russia.

Soviet Politician Executed.

MOSCOW, Nov. 15.—(AP)—One execution and seven death sentences were announced today in dispatches from Leningrad province and the Ukraine. Z. A. Andreyev, candidate for membership on the local election board in Borovich, Leningrad province, was executed for killing a collective farmer who successfully opposed his candidacy. A military court found him guilty of counter-revoluntionary terrorism.

The seven sentenced to death were employés of a veterinary bacteriological laboratory in the Ukraine.

Calls Husband Wild

MRS. RUTH CLARK LEYDA.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 12.—[Special.]—Beautiful Ruth Clark Leyda, advertising model, was divorced here today from the husband who confessed in a letter to her that "I've made ten thousand fools of myself." The shapely model, who spurned a long term Hollywood contract, was granted a decree from Harold J. Leyda, New York publishers' representative, by Advisory Master Robert D. Grosman.

"He was very strong and wild when drunk," Mrs. Leyda testified.

USED MOTOR OIL MUST BE SAVED, GERMANS TOLD

Will Be Refined Again, Nazis Decree.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Used oil from cars and trucks in Germany must be collected and refined so that it can be used again, a decree issued today by the "supervisory department of mineral oils" requires. The decree was issued with the approval of the minister of economics.

The decree states:

"Effective Dec. 1 all garages, filling stations, and repair shops which have a monthly turnover of more than 25 pounds of oil must collect used oil and deliver it to regenerating plants."

The decree also includes "industrial and agricultural establishments using more than 25 pounds of oil monthly." They, too, are designated as oil collectors.

Car owners when draining the crankcase must deliver the used oil to collecting stations—taking care that the "oil is kept clear of other fats, water, or dirt."

It was stated that the "regenerated oil will be used for its original purpose—lubrication of internal combustion motors.

"The regenerating process must fulfill the minimum qualifications set for fresh oil by the supervisory board," the decree concluded.

Letters Describe Plot.

The first intimation of graft in connection with the reclassifications was given the WPA headquarters here five months ago when workers who were passed over in the promotion list wrote anonymous letters describing the plot. Investigators for the administration and agents of the department of justice then were put to work.

They learned that payments for jobs on the suspected projects ran from $25 to $200. Mr. Ward said that those who received better pay were threatened with reduction to the ranks unless they split their increases. He added that there was evidence the ring also hired WPA labor to private employers. This, however, was not specifically mentioned in the indictment.

10 Ousted During Quiz.

Those indicted have been suspended since the investigation started, according to Charles E. Miner, state WPA administrator.

"We called the attention of the investigators to the case," he said, "and asked that they get to the bottom of it. At that time the suspensions went into effect. Whether these men will be discharged finally from our force depends on the action in court."

Claus, who lives at 322 Grant place, Park Ridge, is alleged to have acted as go-between for Wilson and to have collected some of the "Happy Birthday" envelopes from the workers.

RED CROSS IN ACTION

By CALEB

EARLY last January an old resident of a small town in Pennsylvania looked up at the gathering gray clouds in the sky and said to several cronies, "We're gonna have a heap of rain. I can feel it jest as plain as anything!" Eight days later when they took him in a small boat from the roof of his cottage, he said in disarming frankness, "I really ain't this much of a prophet. I didn't count on all this."

By that time the American Red Cross was in action. The flood covered over two hundred thousand square miles. Over one million persons were in urgent need of help.

When the flood became the vast, enveloping, wet catastrophe it finally showed itself to be, only rescue and succor on a tremendous scale could meet the need of refugees—families made homeless—a large section of the population frustrated and beaten into helplessness by ever-rising water.

The Red Cross rapidly got into operation. They floated a fleet of fifty-four hundred boats. Three hundred emergency hospitals used the services of thirty-six hundred nurses. Over one thousand refugee centers were provided.

A preliminary report of the relief operations in connection with the flood has recently been issued.

How staggering was the task the Red Cross faced, with necessity for immediate action, may be realized from consideration of a few of the figures. Some 62,000 families had to be rescued and transported to mass shelter centers. Over 193,000 families had to be provided food, clothing, and other maintenance. After the actual rescue work and the relief of the suffering, came rehabilitation—and the Red Cross functioned there precisely as it had functioned in the forepart of the tragedy. Over 27,000 families were helped in building and repairing. Over 90,000 families received help in restoration or purchase of household goods. Over 15,000 families received medical, nursing, and sanitary service. Over 10,000 farm families were aided in agricultural rehabilitation.

The money for all this important work of rescue and regeneration came voluntarily from the American public—$25,400,000 of it!

The Red Cross is humane, quick-acting, trusted, and non-political. In these days when so many people look to the government to do so many things, it is invigorating to read the report of an independent agency which accomplishes such heroic results in emergency times with the fullest confidence of the public. Again the American Red Cross has proved iteself.

CONGRESS GETS ROOSEVELT FOUR POINT PROGRAM

Acts to Lift Tax Burden on Business.

bill the President indorsed Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's "ever normal granary" as an "all weather" farm plan to conserve farm surpluses in bountiful years for use in lean years.

The Supreme court decisions in the labor relations and social security cases gave the President hope that the court would reconsider its attitude which was fatal to the AAA. Members of the house had listened in apathy to the message until Democratic applause greeted this passage:

"I believe that the courts themselves are coming to have increasing regard for the true nature of the constitution as a broad charter of democratic government which can function under the conditions of today. I believe that the congress can constitutionally write an adequate farm act that will be well within the broad meaning and purpose of the constitution."

The necessity of wage and hour legislation the President hooked up with the expansion of business, as much as to say to the business men that if they want the President to lighten their tax load in order that they may expand their business they had better get in line for his wage and hour bill.

TEXT OF MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15.—The text of President Roosevelt's message to the extraordinary session of congress follows:

"Important measures are already pending before this congress, and other matters will require early consideration. Therefore, it has seemed advisable to call this extraordinary session to expedite the work of the regular session which will begin in January.

"Since your adjournment in August there has been a marked recession in industrial production following a fairly steady advance for more than four years.

"We have not been unaware of uncertainties in the economic picture. As far back as last spring I called attention to the rapid rise in many prices—a rise that threatened in particular the anticipated revival of building. And over a month ago I quoted one of the country's leading economists to this effect—that the continuance of business recovery in the United States depends far more upon business policies than it does upon anything that may be done, or not done, in Washington.

Nation's Income Cut.

"The present decline has not reached serious proportions. But it has the effect of decreasing the national income—and that is a matter of definite concern.

"During the adjournment of the congress I have sought to avail myself of the wisdom and advice of managers of large industrial and financial enterprise, of owners of small businesses in many lines, and of representatives of agriculture and of labor.

"Out of long experience I place great value on this method of getting suggestions from every possible source. Single answers or simple slogans will not cure the complicated economic problems which today face all nations.

"To over-emphasize one symptom out of many—to over-emphasize any one panacea that for the moment appeals to any one group—is to play with the lives of all the men and women of America.

Coöperation Is Sought.

"The ultimate answer to the conditions of today is a cordial and confident coöperation not only between government and every kind of citizen, but also between every kind of citizen and his government. As never before in our history, the well-being of those who have much, as well as those who have less, depends upon a contented society of good-will where the good-will rests on the solid foundation that all have enough.

"From these conferences and from other sources many suggestions have come to me and to other members of the executive branch of the government. Some of these recommendations are consistent with each other; some are at complete variance.

"But these discussions make it clear that we have enough wisdom in the country today not only to check the present recession but to lay the groundwork for a more permanent recovery. If the people are as willing as government to use the economic knowledge gained in recent years this recession need go no further.

"With the exercise of ordinary prudence there is no reason why we should suffer any prolonged recession, let alone any general economic paralysis. Despite some maladjustments, which can be corrected, underlying conditions are not unfavorable.

"The fundamental situation is not to be compared with the far different conditions of 1929. The banking system is not over-extended. Interest rates are lower. Inventories are not dangerously large. We are no longer over-extended in new construction or in capital equipment. Speculation requiring liquidation does not overhang our markets.

"Obviously an immediate task is to try to increase the use of private capital to create employment. Private enterprise, with coöperation on the part of the government, can advance to higher levels of industrial activity than those reached earlier this year. Such advance will assure balanced budgets. But obviously also, government cannot let nature take its course without regard to consequences. If private enterprise does not respond, government must take up the slack.

"What we can do covers so wide a field and so many subjects that it is not feasible to include them all in this message.

"A little later I will address you further in regard to proposals to encourage private capital to enter the field of new housing on a large scale—a field which during the past four years has failed almost completely to keep pace with the marked improvement in other industries.

TAX REVISION

"On the subject of taxation, in accordance with my suggestion of last spring, committees of the congress, with the coöperation of the treasury department, are already engaged in studies aimed at the elimination of any injustices in our tax laws. Unjust provisions should be removed provided such removal does not create new injustices. Modifications adequate to encourage productive enterprise, especially for the smaller businesses, must not extend to the point of using the corporate form for the purpose of hiding behind it to reduce or eliminate taxes in a way not open to an individual or partnership.

"Nor should we extend tax privileges to speculative profits on capital where the intent of the original risk was speculation rather than the actual development of productive enterprise. Nor can we at this time accept a revision of our revenue laws which involves a reduction in the aggregate revenues or an increase in the aggregate tax burdens of those least able to bear them.

"We should give special consideration to lightening inequitable burdens on the enterprise of the small business men of the nation. Small businesses or even those of average size have difficulties of financing and distribution which are not shared by large corporations.

"Therefore, by special tax consideration they should receive more equal opportunity to compete with their more powerful competitors. In this way we may also find assistance in our search for a more effective method of checking the growing concentration of economic control and the resultant monopolistic practices which persist today in spite of anti-trust statutes. A further search for additional methods to meet this threat to free competitive enterprise is called for at this time.

Sees Balanced Budget.

"The proposed federal budget for the coming fiscal year also will shortly be ready for submission to the congress—a budget which I expect can be brought within a definite balance.

"Still other matters are receiving renewed examination—for instance, the problems of the railroads and of other public utilities. Here because of thoroughly unsound financing extending over many past years, solutions will frankly be difficult.

"But as we work with these problems of details we must not forget the broad central truth that this administration has pledged itself to the people of the United States to carry on with a wide social program pointed toward higher living standards and a more just distribution of the gains of civilization. Much of that program is already in effect—but its continued and complete success depends on a wider distribution of an immensely enlarged national income.

"Such enlargement presupposes full employment of both capital and labor—reasonable profits and fair wages—a resumption of that vigorous moving equilibrium which began in 1933. Deflation and inflation are equal enemies of the balanced economy that will produce that progressive increase in national income.

Offers Four Objectives.

"In the attainment of the broad central purpose we recognize many related objectives. This message, however, deals with only four of these objectives—four which are already being considered by the congress. Two relate directly to the stabilization and maintenance of the purchasing power of the nation. The other two, essential tools for the whole task, look to the improvement of the machinery and functioning of both the executive and the legislative branches of the federal government.

AGRICULTURE

"Intention to pass a new and permanent national farm act was declared by the congress in joint resolution last summer. Great as the need was then, that need is still greater today. Some crops will begin to be planted within three months.

"In recent weeks farmers have once more been facing acute surpluses and falling prices. Cotton farmers are harvesting the largest cotton crop in all our history—5 million bales more than the markets of this country and of the world have been accustomed to take. Corn farmers and potato farmers are harvesting crops that threaten to crush them for producing this plenty. And the producers of other crops are wondering how soon they, too, will be victims of surplus uncontroled.

"We must continue in our efforts toward abundance without waste. We need legislation which will not only prevent new farm surpluses from causing new collapse in farm prices, but which will also safeguard farmers and consumers against the hazards of crop failure. We need an 'all weather' farm plan—a plan that uses the reasonable surpluses of a year of good weather to carry over food supplies to make up for the shortages of a year of bad weather.

"Out of the experience of the last five years we have learned that with the aid of the government farmers can successfully guard themselves against economic disaster.

Protection for Consumer.

"In formulating a farm program there are certain things we must keep in mind.

"We must keep in mind the fertility of our soil. We have begun to assist farmers to stop the waste of soil and save the good soil that remains. Any sound, long time program must have soil conservation as a principal goal.

"We must keep in mind the economic welfare of farm families. As a long time national policy, farmers must have a fair share in the national income to supply farmers' buying to keep city factories running.

"We must keep in mind the consumers of the nation. The blighting drouth of 1934 and 1936 which spelt disaster for so many farmers in those years were brought forcibly home to our large cities in the high prices of many foodstuffs this year. Consumers should have the same protection against the underproduction of years of scarcity as the farmers should have against the overproduction of years of glut.

"We must keep in mind the American democratic way. Farm programs can not long succeed unless they have the active support of the farmers who take part in them. Our program should continue to be one planned and administered, so far as possible, by the farmers themselves. Here again, majority rule seems justified. If and when huge surpluses in any one crop threaten to engulf all the producers of that crop, our laws should provide ways by which a small minority may be kept from destroying the proceeds of the toil of the great majority.

Upset By Court.

"We must keep in mind the United States treasury. I have already expressed my view that if the new farm act provides for expenditure of funds beyond those planned in the regular budget, additional means should be provided to yield the additional revenue. May I reiterate that with all the emphasis I can give?

"We must keep in mind the constitution of the United States. Although vital portions of the agricultural adjustment act were set aside nearly two years ago by the Supreme court, acts of congress to improve labor relations and assure workers' security have since then been upheld. In these later decisions the powers of the federal government to regulate commerce between the states and to tax and to spend for the general welfare have been clearly recognized.

"I believe that the courts themselves are coming to have increasing regard for the true nature of the constitution as a board charter of democratic government which can function under the conditions of today. I believe that the congress can constitutionally write an adequate farm act that will be well within the broad meaning and purpose of the constitution.

"I hope and believe that the Supreme court will not again deny to farmers the protection which it now accords to others.

LABOR

"I believe that the country as a whole recognizes the need for immediate congressional action if we are to maintain wage income and the purchasing power of the nation against recessive factors in the general industrial situation. The exploitation of child labor and the undercutting of wages and the stretching of the hours of the poorest paid workers in periods of business recession has a serious effect on buying power. In the interest of the national economy such adjustments as must be made should not be made at the expense of those least able to bear them.

"I further believe that the country as a whole realizes the necessary connection between encouraging business men to make capital expenditures for new plants and raising the total wage income of the total of our working population. New plants today mean labor saving machinery.

"What does the country ultimately gain if we encourage business men to enlarge the capacity of American industry to produce, unless we see to it that the income of our working population actually expands sufficiently to create markets to absorb that increased production?

"I further believe that the country as a whole recognizes the need of seeking a more uniformly adequate standard of living and purchasing power everywhere if every part is to live happily with every other part. We do not recognize the destiny of any state or any county to be permanently backward. Political and social harmony requires that every state and every county not only produce goods for the nation's markets but furnish markets for the nation's goods.

"This does not mean that legislation must require immediate uniform minimum hour or wage standards; that is an ultimate goal.

"We should provide flexible machinery which will enable industries throughout the country to adjust themselves progressively to better labor conditions. But we must not forget that no policy of flexibility will be practical unless a coördinating agency has the obligation of inspection and investigation to insure the recognition and enforcement of what the law requires.

"Although there are geographic and industrial diversities which practical statesmanship can not well ignore, it is high time that we had legislation relating to goods moving in or competing with interstate commerce which will accomplish two immediate purposes:

"First, banish child labor and protect workers unable to protect themselves from excessively low wages and excessively long hours.

"Second, end the unsound practice of some communities—by no means confined to any one section of the country—which seek new industries by offering as the principal attraction labor more plentiful and much cheaper than may be found in competing communities. To them the congress should reiterate the oft-repeated pledge of political parties that labor is not a mere commodity.

REORGANIZATION

"Last January I presented for the consideration of the congress the improvement of administrative management in the executive branch of the government. Five principal objectives were outlined:

"[A] To create one or more additional departments and to give the chief executive authority to arrange all present and future strictly executive activities in or under regular executive departments.

"[B] To establish a budget and efficiency agency, a personnel agency and a planning agency through which the chief executive may coördinate the executive functions.

"[C] To permit the chief executive to make a slight increase in the White House staf so that he may keep in close touch with, and maintain knowledge of, the widespread affairs of administration which require his final direction.

"[D] To establish accountability of the executive to the congress by providing a genuine independent audit by an officer solely responsible to the congress, who will, however, have no administrative part in the transactions he audits and certifies.

"[E] To extend the merit system upward, outward and downward to cover practically all nonpolicy determining posts. I am giving consideration to proposed executive orders extending the merit principle of selection under the authority vested in me by the constitution and revised statutes.

Advocates Permanent Merit Law.

"Executive orders, however, have not the permanence of law; they will not lessen the need for permanent legislation on this subject in connection with reorganization. I, therefore, seek a statutory modernized machinery for the permanent enforcement of merit principles in appointment, promotion, and personnel management throughout the government service.

"The experience of states and municipalities definitly proves that reorganization of government along the lines of modern business administrative practice can increase efficiency, minimize error, duplication and waste, and raise the morale of the public service. But that experience does not prove, and no person conversant with the management of large private corporations or of governments honestly suggests that reorganization of government machinery in the interest of efficiency is a method of making major savings in the cost of government.

"Large savings in the cost of government can be made only by cutting down or eliminating government functions. And to those who advocate such a course it is fair to put the question—which functions of government do you advocate cutting off?

PLANNING

"Of equal importance with intelligent reorganization of the executive departments is intelligent reorganization of our methods of spending national funds for the conservation and development of those natural resources which are the foundation of a virile national life. I said in a special message to the congress last spring, we have reached a stage in the depletion of our natural resources where we should allot a definite portion of each year's budget to this work of husbandry.

"Our present machinery for carrying out such purposes, however, is geared to methods of which the rivers-and-harbor legislation of many years ago is an example. We spend sporadically—on a project here and a project there, determined upon without relation to the needs of other localities—without relation to possibly more important needs of the same locality—without relation to the national employment situation or the federal budget.

"To avoid waste and to give the nation its money's worth from the national funds we expend we must, like any business corporation, have a definite building and operating plan worked out ahead of time—a planned order in which to make expenditures, a planned timing for expenditures so that we may keep our working force employed, and a planned coördinated use of the projects after completion.

"And because relative values of local projects should be appraised before they come to Washington, first by those with local knowledge, and then by regional conferences, we must have some kind of local and regional planning machinery and coördination to get full value out of the final appropriations authorized in Washington—money value and human value.

Promise for Future.

"Last year I recommended such machinery. For this purpose of conservation and development of our natural resources I recommended that the country be divided into the seven great regions into which nature divided those resources—that in such regions local authorities be set up to arrange projects into some kind of comprehensive and continuing plan for the entire region—and that only after such consideration should regional projects be submitted to the executive and to the congress for inclusion in a national development program of such size as the budget of the year will permit.

"Such machinery will provide decentralization. It will give local communities and the nation alike new confidence in the true worth of such expenditures.

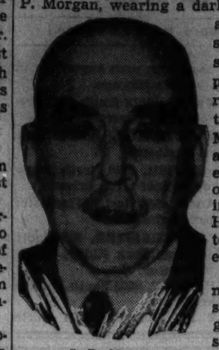
"What these four subjects promise in continued and increased purchasing power—what they promise in greater efficiency in the use of government funds—are intelligent foundations for the other plans for encouragement of industrial expansion with government help. What they promise in social contentment is an almost necessary basis for greater security of profits and property.

"In the months they have been before the congress they have been discussed from one end of the country to the other.

"For the sake of the nation I hope for your early action."

MORGAN, BACK FROM ABROAD, HAS NOTHING TO SAY AND SAYS IT

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—J. P. Morgan, wearing a dark gray suit and tan shoes and smoking a pipe, arrived on the Queen Mary today after several weeks of hunting in Scotland. He amiably told reporters:



J. P. Morgan.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

"I have nothing to say and I'm going to say it."

The financier, after revealing his health is good, carried out his promise. On a previous arrival in June he caused a furor by remarking that "anybody is justified in doing anything" about paying taxes, but today it was different.

When asked what he thought of the stock market crash, he replied: "You mustn't ask questions like that." He also said he had no comment on politics.

THE WILKEN FAMILY
BLENDED WHISKEY—IT'S OUR FAMILY'S WHISKEY, NEIGHBOR!

The grandest idea Pa Wilken ever had!

I can still see Pa Wilken sitting on the edge of his chair there—excited as anything. Boys he says. I got a idea! What if we was to put up our own Family's Whiskey Recipe in regular bottles—and let everybody enjoy the exact same whiskey as us distillers!

That was the start of the whole thing. I recollect it plain as can be—him bouncing up from his chair, talking so fast, and our dog Jessie barking like she thought we'd gone crazy. But we hadn't all right—as shown by how fast you all are buying Our Family's Whiskey!

Harry E. Wilken

There's a heap of happy folks enjoying the selfsame whiskey as us distillers nowadays!

It used to be that only just a few of our nearby neighbors along the Valley Road ever got to taste this personal recipe of our Family. But they always smacked their lips so over the tastiness of it, finally Pa Wilken hit onto the idea of putting it up for everybody to enjoy. And nowadays it seems you can't hardly make mention of whiskey, but what folks will ask have you tried The Wilken Family Whiskey. Well I'm wondering have you tried it? It's our own personal recipe gotten up by our Family after having made I don't know how many million barrels of whiskey. And we think for out and out tastiness nothing can touch it! Well, anyways, I'd sure like you to try it and see for yourself!

REPORT WPA O. K. ON CHICAGO'S 20 MILLION PROJECT

Announcement Due Soon on Specific Jobs.

General acceptance by Works Progress administration officials in Washington of the proposed $20,000,000 improvement program for Chicago, submitted recently by Mayor Kelly, was announced yesterday by H. K. Seltzer, Chicago WPA administrator. Mr. Seltzer said he expects word soon on the specific projects approved.

Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district, announced Sunday that officials in Washington had informally approved a $4,500,000 parks improvement program.

The city and park district programs, according to Seltzer, are planned to keep approximately 60,000 men working on WPA projects during the next six months. Approximately 52,800 men now are working on the projects.

Airport Project Considered.

Mr. Seltzer said one of the city projects receiving most favorable consideration is the $2,797,894 project for improvement of the north portion of the Chicago airport, north of the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad.

He said street improvement projects included in the proposal will increase from 16 to 22 the number of gangs working on hot asphalt street jobs and will call for immediate assignment of 1,200 additional relief workers. Almost $3,000,000 worth of sewer projects, to employ 5,062 persons, are on the approved list, Seltzer said.

Proposals for WPA projects to employ 1,715 white collar workers, to cost the government approximately $901,000, were submitted to Mr. Seltzer yesterday by city department heads. Leslie J. Sorenson, city trafic engineer, submitted a proposal for a $225,000 project to employ 539 men on a checkup of trafic movements on main thoroughfares.

Car Test Survey Asked.

Thomas S. Gordon, city vehicle commissioner, proposed a $426,000 project to employ 562 men in a door to door canvass of the 19,599 motorists who failed to run their cars through safety testing lanes during the last testing period.

Dr. Herman Bundesen, city health commissioner, recommended a project for 614 men and women, to cost about $250,000, for statistical research work in the city health department.

Leo M. Lyons, city relief administrator, announced that 260 professional and clerical workers will be laid off the CRA staf Nov. 30. He said the reduction is in accordance with the state law which requires that relief administration expenditures remain within 8 per cent of the total relief budget.

Pay Roll to Drop $25,000.

In October the CRA received $2,065,240 from state and city funds, and the administration costs were $228,476. The pay roll reduction as a result of the dismissals will be approximately $25,000, Mr. Lyons said.

Mayor Kelly, attending the conference of mayors at Washington, said yesterday that he is planning a new approach toward getting federal aid for the proposed State street subway. He said he has dismissed any possibility of getting a Public Works administration grant or loan for the project.

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, urged consolidation of city, county, and state agencies administering relief and aid to the needy yesterday at a meeting of the Cook County Federation of Women's Clubs at the Auditorium hotel.

RAGGED BANDIT ROBS LOOP MOVIE CASHIER; ESCAPES IN THRONG

A man wearing a dirty and ragged suit stepped between two billboards in front of the Garrick theater, 64 West Randolph street, last night and pointed a gun at the cashier, Mrs. Dorothy Thompson, 25 years old, 1327 Fargo avenue. "Give me the money—all of it," he commanded. She handed over $30. As he hurried away a poster flapped in the cold wind. It said: "Tonight—Alcatraz Island." The bandit, who was about 30 years old, fled toward North Clark street.

SENTENCING OF U. S. STUDENT IN POLAND UPHELD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Nov. 15.—The Poznan district court today confirmed a sentence of ten months imposed upon Walter Milewski, of Milwaukee, Wis., arrested with a friend, John Glowacki of Lodge, Mass., last July on a charge of attempting to smuggle Polish currency out of the country. The government confiscated Milewski's boat and the money involved—$11,400 obtained in the sale of a house which Milewski inherited—and also imposed a fine of $1,900.

Testimony at the trial revealed that the youths, both students of music in Warsaw, were arrested while still in Polish territorial waters.

FIX THAT COLD!

And Fix It Right—Depend on No Mere Half-way Measures!

A cold neglected may be a cold regretted!

Many a "slight" cold has ended in flu and pneumonia.

Treat a cold quickly and treat it sensibly.

Forego "cure-alls." A cold calls for a cold treatment and not a preparation good for all kinds of ailments.

A cold also calls for internal treatment, for a cold is an internal infection.

Your Treatment!

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets) are what you want for a cold. First, they are a cold tablet, made expressly for the treatment of colds and nothing else.

Secondly, they are internal medication, fourfold in effect.

Here's what they do:

First, they open the bowels.

Second, they check the infection in the system.

Third, they relieve the headache and fever.

Fourth, they tone the system and help fortify against further attack.

These four effects make a real cold treatment and in Bromo Quinine you get them all in the form of a single tablet.

The Stitch in Time!

Beat a cold to the punch. As soon as you feel any symptoms, start taking Bromo Quinine tablets at once. Two tablets every four hours will soon break up the cold.

Bromo Quinine tablets may be taken with confidence. They have been on the market for over 40 years and are the world's largest-selling cold tablets. That proves their trustworthiness.

All drug stores sell Grove's Bromo Quinine tablets, a few cents a box. These famous tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain.

Ask for—and insist upon getting—Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets). Any attempt to sell you anything else may be viewed with suspicion.

Holds My FALSE TEETH Tighter and Longer

"I've tried several kinds of powders to hold my false teeth. When I tried FASTEETH I found the one powder that does not thin out or wash away, but 'stays put' all day." It gives a most pleasant feeling, a real sense of security, and holds and holds and holds. Breath is always pleasant. If anyone with loose-fitting false teeth wants all-day comfort and a real stay there fit, insist upon FASTEETH at Walgreen's or any good drug store. FASTEETH is alkaline (non-acid).

[ADVERTISMENT]

Get Up Nights?

Flush Kidneys With

Juniper oil, buchu leaves, etc. Make this simple test if passage is scanty, irregular, smarts or burns, have frequent desire, get up nights or if kidneys are sluggish causing backache. Use juniper oil, buchu leaves, etc., made into little green tablets called Bukets to flush the kidneys, just as you would use castor oil to flush the bowels. Help nature eliminate troublesome waste and excess acids. Ask any druggist for the test box of Bukets. Locally at Walgreen Drug Stores.

DEMOCRATS TRY TO RECESS HOUSE ON OPENING DAY

No Business, Say Leaders in Gag Effort.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Called together for the 24th extraordinary session of congress in the history of the republic, 374 members of the house of representatives rubbed their eyes today when the majority leadership announced there was no business on hand.

With wage and hour legislation, the farm bill and other measures in a chaotic state and leaders in a political dither over the business slump, the Democratic majority attempted to adjourn until Thursday. Proposed by Majority Leader Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.], the move required unanimous consent of the statesmen present and was promptly blocked by Representative Ralph E. Church [R., Ill.].

The majority leadership had determined on the strategy of a three day recess to prevent the Republicans from firing broadsides at the administration, but it was a Democratic member of congress who uttered the first word of criticism. The critic, Arthur P. Lamneck of Ohio, was cut off after two minutes of speaking.

"I have been visiting with the people of my own district and conferring with them concerning the various proposals for the remaking of America," said Lamneck. "I find that the laws of nature have been neither amended nor repealed. The sun continues to rise in the east and set in the golden west. There is uncertainty, inquiry, and doubt as to the wisdom of the many things we have done and there is great apprehension of some of the things we are threatening to do."

He's Been Out and Around.

Outside of Lamneck's brief remarks, the scene in the house might well have been that of a college reunion with the boys and girls slapping each other on the back and pumping each other's hands.

Speaker William B. Bankhead was dressed in formal morning clothes for the occasion with a big white handkerchief popping out of his cutaway coat. His actress daughter Tallulah was on hand to wish him well.

The floor of the house was a hubbub during the session. The hum of voices below mixed with the chatter from the galleries as wives and relatives of members greeted and gossiped with each other.

Speaker Bankhead achieved a semblance of order at noon by a herculean banging of the gavel. But a few minutes after the roll call of members began the house again sounded like a boiler factory.

"The house will please come to order," shouted Bankhead. "The gentlemen will kindly cease talking."

But the Gentlemen Don't.

The gentlemen paid no attention to their presiding officer and finally Bankhead sent the sergeant at arms about the chamber to clear the aisles.

When comparative quiet had been restored Majority Leader Rayburn introduced a resolution for the appointment of a committee to acquaint the President with the fact that his special session was under way and ready to hear any recommendations he was pleased to make. Joseph J. Sinnott, official doorkeeper, ushered in a senate clerk who announced that the senate also was ready.

Bankhead then called for the swearing in of five new members, victors in the recent elections.

First in line was Bruce Barton, advertising man and author of "The Man Nobody Knows," who won a seat on the Republican ticket from a New York City district that had been Democratic for the last four years. The other new members are Lewis K. Rockefeller [R., N. Y.], Ralph A. Gamble [R., N. Y.], Dave E. Satterfield Jr. [D., Va.], and Lawrence J. Connery [D., Mass.]

Next in order was the reading of the President's message, punctuated at times by desultory applause. Immediately afterward Majority Leader Rayburn proposed the adjournment until Thursday.

JURY SWORN FOR U. S. TO TRY 41 IN UNION BOMBINGS

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—A federal jury was completed and sworn in here late today for the mass trial of forty-one men charged with conspiracy in connection with mine and railroad bombings in central and southern Illinois.

Questioning of the jurors in the Southern Illinois District court, presided over by Judge Charles G. Briggle, indicated the fight between the United Mine Workers and the Progressive Miners' union would figure strongly in the background of the case.

The jury is composed of seven farmers, an optometrist, two salesmen, a theater manager, and a business man.

142 FREED ON GAMING CHARGES.

Municipal Judge Eugene Holland freed 142 men arraigned on gambling charges in the South State street court yesterday when their attorneys moved to suppress evidence because police had no search warants.

FORD TO REOPEN ASSEMBLY PLANT IN KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Several hundred Ford Motor company office and stock department employés returned to work today preparatory to resuming assembly plant operations, suspended two months ago after company officials accused the city of failing to provide adequate police protection for workers.

Ford officials agreed to reopen the plant after City Manager H. F. McElroy went to Detroit to assure Henry Ford personally of satisfactory police protection to workers picketed by the United Automobile Workers of America, C. I. O. affiliate. McElroy later put the assurance in writing to Edsel Ford, company president.

The closing was the second at the Ford plant in its controversy with the U. A. W. A. over union recognition. The plant normally employs more than 2,500 men.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION.

The parents of Chicago once more are indebted to Prof. A. W. Clevenger of the University of Illinois for common-sense comment on proposed changes in the curriculum of the high schools of the city. Dr. Clevenger knows a great deal about high schools. He is secretary of the North Central association, which, on behalf of the colleges, seeks to maintain proper educational standards in the secondary schools of this area. He is also official high school visitor for the state university.

Prof. Clevenger heard about the expansion of vocational training proposed by Supt. Johnson, but Dr. Clevenger's blood pressure remained normal. He did not shout imprecations, roll his eyes, tear his hair, wallow in agony, or indicate in any other way that he had lost the power of coherent thought and speech.

Of the new program he said two things which are of particular importance. One was:

"We are not worried . . . about any program change in the Chicago schools so long as the pupil has a chance to take a college preparatory course if he wishes it."

The other was:

"The vocational plan is a worthy objective. The high school can no longer remain simply a college preparatory school."

The first statement quiets the charge that the new plan will close the door of opportunity to the young people of Chicago. If it really did that, if it really prevented those who want it from obtaining adequate preparation for college, the plan would be condemned universally. In fact, nothing of the kind is intended, as a reading of Mr. Johnson's proposals makes clear.

Children who intend to go to college or wish for any other reason to take the college preparatory course will be permitted to do so. They will not be herded into vocational classes against their own and their parents' wishes. Unless human nature has changed overnight it seems altogether probable that high school teachers will continue to urge their pupils, especially the brighter ones among them, to go to college. There will be no lack of college preparatory schools.

Prof. Clevenger's second statement, that "the high school can no longer remain simply a college preparatory school," is a truism to every one capable of thinking realistically about educational problems in America. The compulsory school age has been advanced and because of this and other reasons the high schools are overcrowded with tens of thousands of children who cannot or will not profit from the traditional high school curriculum. As matters stand many of these children are wasting their own and the teachers' time and needlessly retarding the classes in which they find themselves. The quality of college preparatory courses suffers accordingly.

Less than a tenth of the children in our public high schools go to college. Nine-tenths will be looking for jobs when they quit school. No one in or out of the school system—unless it be their parents—is going to require any one in either category to take up any vocation. The children are to be as free as ever to choose for themselves how they will earn their livings. But when they have chosen they will be enabled to prepare themselves in school for their subsequent careers. The high school will attempt to do for the boy who wants to be a skilled mechanic what it has always done and will continue to do for the boy who intends to go to college: namely, prepare him to meet the requirements he will face.

Of course, the emphasis on the purely vocational side of education can be exaggerated, but there is no evidence that Mr. Johnson is likely to fall into this error. Of course, the primary duty of the public school system is to prepare boys and girls for the responsibilities of citizenship, but there is no evidence to suggest that this precept has been forgotten. All children will continue to be trained in English, civics, history. Those who are not going to college, however, will be spared the necessity of spending a great many hours learning things they will never use. Instead these children will be given instruction which may help them get jobs and hold them.

No doubt the plan will require amendment from time to time, but certainly there is nothing in it which justifies the hysterical outburst which has greeted it. The plain fact, recognized by educators for many years, is that the traditional high school curriculum is in need of revision to meet the demands of a new day. Mr. Johnson has proposed a plan for accomplishing this end.

DEFENSE IN THE PACIFIC.

Neither the course of military events in the undeclared war in China nor diplomatic developments at Brussels can afford much encouragement to defenseless nations with desirable territory in the eastern Pacific. The problem of self-defense seems, on the contrary, to be becoming more rather than less urgent. Australia and New Zealand can hardly fail to reflect that as beneficiaries of the spoil of the late war they have no very impressive claims on grounds of sentiment to the protection of other nations, and would do well to provide as expeditiously and substantially as possible for their own. Holland, with its immense archipelago, rich in resources, is in the same moral predicament, for it is the oldest of the imperialists in that quarter of the world, since little Portugal's enterprise did not expand. Canada's relative remoteness, waiving her neighborhood to the United States, may give her some plausible sense of security, but this is a time of surprising changes and it is not wise to gamble upon the durability of any situation. A strategist might question whether the populous eastern provinces of Canada would find it easy in credible circumstances to conduct satisfactorily a war against Japan in British Columbia.

At all events, prudence ought to suggest that it would be desirable for these nations to form an alliance and implement it with sufficient armaments to protect them from China's fate.

THE RUSSIAN INFANT'S RELIGION.

The communist Youth Union sent an investigator to five Moscow grade schools to give the pupils a test on the meaning of certain words which have been excluded from the Russian ritual of belief. The children said that an angel was an aunt with wings who lives in heaven, that angels were lies, that there were iron angels in cemeteries, and that angels weren't true.

Prayers were something that old women and old cabmen said. Paradise was a poultry yard, a place where it was warm all the year around, a place where apples and oranges grew, and a region in Crimea. Sin was a word grandmother tries to scare us with, the unclean spirit was a dirty uncle smoking, and the devil was an old man with a tail. He might be a janitor, an insane man, or a man who makes magic. A priest was a man who buries people.

It might seem that the young Russian is being brought up without any nonsense in his system regarding Santa Claus or places where good little children and bad little children go. The soviet infant would appear as an emancipated soul who from the cradle is taught to believe in nothing that his own experience with reality has not taught him. But this conclusion would go too far.

Inquiry would find the supernatural in the child's idea of the gospel according to Marx and in the dialectic. He believes that Lenin is a saint, that Stalin is a godhead of brotherhood and humanity, and that Trotzky is Lucifer. He thinks that all other children than Russian are benighted savages, that the purges are done by the holy sword of material determination, that heaven is a collectivized farm community, and that the Kremlin is a holy place. The Russian infant has not been deprived of religious beliefs. He has simply been given a new lot of symbols and totems.

THE MAN WITH A PAY ROLL.

Perhaps the maxim guiding Gov. Leche of Louisiana will not be received at the seat of federal policy with as much scorn as it would have encountered at any earlier stage of the New Deal experiment. "If we take care of industry," said Gov. Leche, "industry will take care of Louisiana." This from the state of the late Huey Long!

Reviewing the first year of his administration Gov. Leche points out results strongly supporting his theory that fair play to industry would pay. "The man with the weekly pay roll had been pommeled by legislation and ridden by mounting taxes until he no longer knew where to turn. Louisiana guarantees incoming industry that there will be no political meddling with its affairs." And this it not mere talk. An exemption for new capital from taxes for ten years was referred to the people and adopted by them in the form of a constitutional amendment, in force in November, 1936. Louisiana began to pick up. In the last year 20,000 men have found work in the building trades and 15,000 will be given permanent employment. Manufacturing sales in the state for the first nine months of '37 were up 21 per cent over '36; department sales, up 8 per cent; wholesale grocery sales, 8 per cent, and postal receipts, 9 per cent. Consumption of electricity gained 5 per cent, and 9 per cent more telephones were put in service.

Pommeling the man who has to meet the pay roll is a poor way to bring the more abundant life. Perhaps that truth will come home outside of Louisiana.

Editorial of the Day

REWARD FOR PEOPLE WHO SWEETEN LIFE.

[Elgin (Ill.) Courier-News.]

The last will and testament of the late William M. Carson contains a neat and painless little sermon for all of us.

Mr. Carson was a wealthy San Francisco business man who, when it came time for him to die, had neither chick nor child to leave his money to. He owned some $1,800,000 worth of this world's goods, and he didn't quite like the idea of handing it all in a lump to some impersonal philanthropic organization.

So when he sat down to make out his will he simply wrote the names of everybody who had been kind to him, everybody whose courtesy, efficiency, or helpfulness had made his life a little pleasanter—and divided his bequests among all of them.

The thirty-four people who worked for him all got bequests. The maids, janitors, bellhops, waiters and elevator boys at his hotel got bequests; so did the employés of the country club where he had played golf, people in the hospitals where he had been a patient, the church he attended, the university from which he had been graduated, and so on.

Altogether, more than 100 people were named in his will for amounts varying from $500 to $10,000.

There is a sort of moving picture romanticism about this will, of course, and earnest thinkers will no doubt say that the money would have "done more good" if it had all gone to some worthy cause.

But there is a jot to be said for the idea of doing something to repay all the people who had helped to make life run more smoothly and happily.

For all of us, as we travel on toward the graves that await us, carry with us debts just like those which this millionaire paid in his will. We don't often stop to think about them, but they exist. It's a good idea to stop and tabulate them once in a while.

Life consists of an infinite number of small human contacts. A man may consider himself utterly friendless and alone—yet his ability to get his work done, to sleep well at night, to maintain a smooth temper, even to enjoy his meals properly, depends in no small measure on the people with whom he makes these contacts.

Imagine what a miserable day you would put in if some morning you should find all of these people falling down on their jobs; if their pleasant efficiency should be replaced by grumpiness, slovenliness and laxity.

Corner cop, street car conductor, filling station attendant, phone girl, lunchroom waitress, man at the next desk, apartment house janitor, mailman, store clerk—all together they could ruin your day beyond repair; in a week they could drive you crazy.

We don't have millions to give away when we die, and even if we did few of us would give them as this San Franciscan did. But it won't hurt us to remember that we carry those debts with us.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

EVERY ONE CALLS HIM a scissors grinder, the little old man we decided to tell you about today, but he's really a knife sharpener with scissors grinding as a side line. Five, maybe six knives, he says, to every pair of scissors. Time was when the scissors grinder was a chubby, youngish man who traveled from town to town. He pushed a big sharpening stone on wheels from door to door, carried a school bell that he rang in a rhythm which meant the scissors grinder and nobody else, and too often resorted to short changing and other practices as sharp as your knives were dull. There's still an occasional bell ringer, but most of the scissors grinders are elderly gentlemen who ring no bells except those of the back doors on the regular routes they have established for themselves. They know when they're most likely to find their customers in, and return later in the week if no one answers. Should they still fail to find any one, they check the address off on their list for a Sunday morning call. Sunday has become the most profitable day in the week.

The 1937 scissors grinder didn't learn the trade from his father, and isn't a nomad. But he makes up in study of the rather complicated business of sharpening knives what he lacks in experience and background. The last one we talked to was a millwright, who assures us that almost all the scissors sharpeners now ringing back door bells are elderly men industry no longer has a place for. At sixty the millwright found himself out of a job as a result of the depression; his life savings had been swept away by a bank failure. Knowing there was a great deal to learn about grinding knives and scissors, he studied until he felt quite proficient, and then borrowed the money to buy a wheel. Now he's an expert; women who used to hire traveling bell ringers save up their dull knives for him.

The average household, he believes, needs a scissors grinder about once a month. He calls that often, anyway, and usually finds some work. Husbands are rather sensitive about knife sharpening. They really seldom do any of it, but feel nevertheless that keeping the knives sharp is part of a good husband's job. For that reason they act as if they were just a bit hurt when their wives hire some one to do it. As a matter of fact, the little whetstones they'd use aren't very effective. His wheel, he explains, isn't an emery wheel, but a carborundum one, which won't harm the edge. Lots of wives, he says, tell him their knives don't need sharpening when their husband's home, although he knows they do and goes back patiently later the same week. Women drive sharp bargains, though, while their husbands, even if nettled by the reflection upon their knife sharpening, usually tip generously.

WHEN SHADOWS FALL.

Always, when the darkness and the light
Are neither lovely day nor lonely night,
Trailing garments of a muffled dusk
Enfold my weary senses in their musk.

All the hidden yearnings of a soul
Well steeped in romance claim their only toll . . .
Down this city street sweet Guinevere
And Lancelot are strolling. Now I hear

Crash of hurried horses through a wood,
And spy plump Friar Tuck with Robin Hood.
Why these troubled people in the square?

HUNTING SEASON.

Cool, crisp days—Nov. 15 and deer season in the north woods—but no snow for tracking. There's a thrill, there's color, even if you're only a spectator. The windows filled with guns, trophies, camping equipment; the strangers tramping the streets, crowding the restaurants, laying in camp supplies; the heavily loaded cars and trailers; the news stories—"what to do when lost." And the hunters—young, old, thin, fat, prosperous looking men of middle age, eager young chaps—and how they're dressed! Bright red caps, red shirts, plaid shirts, plain shirts; hunting jackets—brown, with startling patches of red flannel, or all red; shining new boots of lether or rubber, shabby old boots, oxfords, high shoes, any shoes; overalls, army pants, corduroys, expensive hunting suits, any kind of wear, but best of all boot pants of the biggest, the loudest black and red plaids and checks, worn by the shortest, pudgiest, most bowlegged of the army. BURNS RESPOND TO TANNIC ACID TREATMENT.

THE Hindenburg disaster of May 6 presented to the physicians who were summoned a number of patients suffering from extensive and serious burns. If one may judge from pictures, particularly of the upper part of the frame of the ship, the heat was very intense. In a recent report one of the surgeons—O. R. Holters—comments on his experience with several of the passengers and the crew, and concludes that but for modern developments in treatment—namely, the application of the tannic acid spray—many lives could not have been saved.

He condemns in no unmeasured terms the older methods which involved the use of oils and ointments of various types. He regards carron oil [a mixture of linseed oil and lime water] as about the worst possible remedy, although that compound still is supplied as standard equipment in some industries where conflagrations are likely to occur. He notes, further, that the use of wet dressings of almost every description generally lead to infection.

Whenever a burn is encountered the first thing to do is to ease pain. This is far more urgent than bandaging wounds, and the nearest physician should be sought for the purpose of administering a narcotic of sufficient power to alleviate suffering.

Why is this essential? Because the irritated nerve endings, loss of fluid, etc., all contribute to shock which may take life within a very few hours. Furthermore, it will facilitate the handling of the raw surfaces which must be undertaken promptly in order to impede the absorption of poisonous products from the destroyed cells.

The next step is to provide the victim with enough fluid to keep the circulation at par. If he can drink water or a mild salt solution, well and good; if not, glucose or some liquid should be given directly into a vein.

In the meantime, if a bathtub is handy, and a considerable expanse of the body is involved, the patient should be immersed so that clothing may be cut away and bits of dead skin removed with the least possible trauma. If this apparatus is not ready the necessary procedures may be carried out in bed or in the emergency department of a hospital.

As soon as the skin has been cleaned—and soap and water is advised for this purpose—a 5 per cent tannic acid spray is started. If an atomizer is not available, sterile gauze swabs soaked with the solution may be employed. All of the burned regions should be covered. After a half hour or so 10 per cent silver nitrate is sprayed or swabbed over the tannic acid. Then, with the patient comfortable, heat is maintained by means of electric light bulbs attached to a semi-circular metal or wooden canopy. This may cover the legs, the chest and abdomen, or all of the body as the situation may demand.

The importance of forming a firm tannic acid crust cannot be overemphasized. That substance combines with the protein of the destroyed cells to prevent the absorption of toxins and—when incrusted with the silver preparation—will check infection.

Every burn other than a relatively small blister presents an emergency, as the patient is in real danger due to the upset of so many of the body's functions. For emergency use, tannic acid must be kept in powdered form and a solution made quickly if the occasion arises. Stock preparations deteriorate and lose their power if more than twenty-four hours old.

Results of the above outlined plan have changed into recoveries many instances that otherwise would have ended fatally. For example, in one well known clinic—of 160 patients—all burned severely enough to require hospital care, only three failed to survive.

Healing must be watched critically and sometimes splints will be required to prevent contractures resulting from the formation of scars.

BETTER REMOVE MOLE.

E. A. M. writes: I have a raised mole on the abdomen and my doctor advises removal. It never has bothered me, but since the top of my girdle rubs against it I am wondering if I should have it taken off.

REPLY.

Better have it off—by all means—without delay. Any pigmented mole that is subject to irritation should be removed.

OFTEN SO WITH AGED.

A. J. writes: I have to get up several times at night to urinate. I am 76 years old.

REPLY.

This is a common complaint of old age. Have your kidneys and prostate examined. There probably is some infection or enlargement of the gland. You can help the condition by taking fluids freely up to 4 p. m., restricting them thereafter.

AVOIDING DIABETES.

D. T. writes: Can a person do anything special to avoid developing diabetes?

REPLY.

Yes, indeed. Avoid excessive consumption of sugars and starchy foods. Many persons use too much sugar.

SURGERY FOR GOITER.

J. K. writes: Is surgery the only relief for toxic goiter of two years' standing?

REPLY.

X-ray has been helpful in some cases, but surgery is advised if you are in skilled hands.

EFFECTIVE HEATING.

H. C. writes: From the standpoint of health, which is better heating—hot water or hot air?

REPLY.

Hot water, as the humidity can be regulated more effectively.

WITH PHYSICIAN'S CARE.

C. A. writes: Two years ago I had a hysterectomy. I am very nervous. Would theelin help me?

REPLY.

In my opinion, yes. You should take it under the watchful eye of a physician.

YES, SHE DOES.

A. W. writes: Does a woman menstruate after an operation for the purpose of sterilization?

REPLY.

Yes.

THE FIGHT WITH THE SHADOW

From Across the Sea

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—Ernest Brown, the minister of labor, has rejected the Trades Union Congress' demand for an increase in the dole to meet the rising cost of living.

In a letter to the general council of the T. U. C. he admits the cost of living has risen over 6 per cent in a year, but claims that the regulations "represent a standard which must remain constant in spite of minor fluctuations in the cost of living figure."

The point at which it would be necessary to make alterations, he says, has not been reached.

The letter was in reply to a deputation from the general council. Mr. Brown added:

"I pointed out to the deputation that it is impracticable for a reconsideration of the regulation scales to take place with every movement of the cost of living figure. . . . But I can assure the council there will be no delay in acting if and when it appears that the time for action has arrived."

The general council replied:

"You suggest that the starting point should be the summer of 1936, when parliament decided on the scales of allowances under the present regulations, and you believe that the way the regulations have worked shows that parliament was right.

"This appears to be a claim that the allowances to the unemployed are sufficient because there has been no violent trouble about them. In our view it would be more correct to attribute this to the patience and respect for democratic forms of the unemployed.

"We claim to have shown that the amount fixed in the regulations has never been sufficient. We contend that the unemployed are entitled to be provided for at least on the basis of scientific investigations and not on the basis of the low wages which are paid in some industries.

"If the government really desires national fitness it should have regard for the proper meals of the unemployed who are in its charge."

RIGHT TO PROPERTY.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—There is a house and some stocks owned by my mother and stepfather. My mother died recently without leaving a will.

1. The title to the house reads "to the parties of the second part and their heirs, [2] in joint tenancy and not in tenancy in common."

3. Have I any claim to this property?

4. Can I claim the jewelry left by my mother, for sentimental reasons rather than value?

5. Am I entitled to any part of these stocks if they are in both my mother's and stepfather's name without the stipulation of joint ownership?

6. How can I find out just how the title to these stocks read?

7. I have the name of the brokers handling this account. L. P.

1. Where a deed conveys property to a grantee "and his heirs" the quoted wording is interpreted as meaning merely that the first named grantee receives an inheritable estate, rather than as giving a separate interest to the heirs.

2. Joint tenancy property goes to the survivor to the exclusion of the heirs of the one who dies first.

3. No.

4. You would be entitled to a share.

5. You would be entitled to a share in your mother's one-half.

6. If the estate is probated these items should appear in the inventory.

7. The best way to find what information you can get from the brokers is to ask them. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ADMINISTRATOR'S DISCHARGE.

Aurora, Ill., Nov. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will you please advise me if an administrator of an estate is [1] automatically discharged after the estate is [2] out of probate [3] even though the property in question has not been sold? C. H. R.

1. No, he would be discharged only by court order.

2. We would interpret "out of probate" as meaning that there has been a court order and hence do not know what you mean by "automatically."

3. It is possible for probate proceedings to be closed without sale of the assets, if that is what you mean to ask.

PROTECTED PIGEONS.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—The 1937 hunting licenses state that Jan. 1 to Dec. 31 is open season for domestic pigeons. Though homing pigeons are truly domestic, it is unlawful to shoot them at any time or anywhere. Through an oversight this fact was not mentioned in the new game and fish codes of Illinois for 1937.

Section 110 of chapter 8 of the Smith-Hurd 1933 Revised Statutes of Illinois reads as follows:

"Any person other than the owner thereof who shall shoot, kill, maim, or injure any Antwerp or homing pigeon, commonly called carrier pigeon, or who shall entrap, catch, detain, or shall remove any mark, band, or other means of identification from such pigeon shall be fined for each offense not more than $25 nor less than $10."

When I took this matter up with the Illinois department of conservation at Springfield recently I was assured by Mr. Thomas J. Lynch, assistant and acting director, that proper insertion would be made on 1938 hunting licenses and that wardens would be instructed to notify hunters that homing pigeons are protected by Illinois statute and request that they refrain from shooting all pigeons. W. R. FANCHER, Secretary, Greater Chicago Concourse of the American Racing Pigeon Union.

AND INDIGESTION.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Here are some of the things the American Indian gave the white man to eat:

Virginia oysters with cocktail sauce of tomato and red pepper; clam chowder with tomato and green corn; opossum fat substituted for pork; terrapin stew with turtle eggs; barbecued shad and white potatoes; Mexican Indian tamales; bell peppers; tomatoes stuffed with wild rice; turkey stuffed with chestnuts or oysters, cranberry sauce; sweet potatoes, string beans, succotash of lima beans and green corn; stewed tomatoes; artichokes; corn pones or hoe cake; guava jelly; quail, rice birds, canvasback ducks, blackberries, grape jellies, salad of avocado [alligator pear] with dressing, hickory nuts, maple sirup, pineapple, tapioca, pumpkin pudding, stewed blackberries, strawberries, wild plums, pecans, Brazil nuts, hazel nuts, popcorn, chocolate, Yerba Mate, cassine tea, cigars and pipe tobacco, hominy, pemmican, and chewing gum.

Stop and think when you eat your Thanksgiving dinner what the Indian gave the white man.

WHITE BISON DE FOREST.

THE ACCOMMODATING BRITTLEWIT.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—In the Orphan Annie strip, wasn't it accommodating of Brittlewit to crawl into a sack, while toting a gun in a belt holster, so Blabble could shoot him without making a nasty mess?

Surely Blabble, an elderly, rather frail looking individual, could not have driven the car late at night and at the same time overpowered Brittlewit, relieved him of his gun, and tied him up in the sack.

The hypnotists say that no one can be hypnotized against his will—so that's out. Or did I miss some of the sequence?

J. D. MERSHIMER.

HERMITAGE AVENUE TOPICS.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—A short time ago I was presented with a petition all signed up by my neighbors, except a space left at the top for my signature. The purpose of the petition was the razing of 4246 North Hermitage avenue, next door north of where I have lived for 59 years. I have many reasons for not signing, which I will give upon request. Suffice to say that who knows what a vacant lot will produce.

Certain disturbing conditions have existed in our portion of the block for some time. Some of the property is under foreclosure and some owners owe several years' unpaid taxes, the taxes being exorbitant, unreasonable, unequal, and unfair, comparing one piece with another, in my opinion.

I have had those in charge of 4246 board it up several different times, only to have it again damaged and smashed into and windows broken by public enemies and those who seem to delight in making the neighborhood look as bad as possible. For the last two or three years I kept a fence between the front and back yards, thus preventing tramps, kids, and peddlers from going from the alley to the street, and I have kept the grass cut and watered the lawn, thus maintaining a small plot under the tall, shady elms in front of 4242 and 4246 for small children to play. I bargained with them not to go on the porches or in the back yards, and I must say they have kept the agreement like little ladies and gentlemen.

Now, in order to bring "the day when the shadows shall flee away," I will make a contra-proposition regarding this section, to wit:

I will donate and deed my equity in the old home where I have lived for 59 years for a small park, said park to extend and take in the property south of the Presbyterian church as far as the authorities wish to purchase, and west to the alley, said park to be called Vail's Goodfellow park [two oldest homes and residences in this section] and dedicated to small children, nurse girls, ladies and canines, old veterans, etc. Who doesn't love children and dogs? Special police should be furnished at night to protect the ladies and their pets.

I will make a further proposition of donating $10 if ten other neighbors will give a like amount, the money to be used in painting, improving, and keeping the neglected properties in the block presentable, and I will decorate and paint 4242 if the houses north of me are redecorated and repaired, and I can secure as honest and as good a painter as Richard O'Brien, who painted the house 44 years ago, and said painter will guarantee the paint to last as long.

These are bona fide offers and made in good faith. EDWARD VAIL, 4242 North Hermitage avenue.

THE TRIFLING DEBT.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Why worry? All the United States government has to do is to confiscate the entire state of Illinois and sell it back to the Indians at $1,000 an acre. The amount received, $36,265,600,000, would just about pay off the national debt. GEORGE MCHENRY JR.

ALL CONTRIBUTIONS GRATEFULLY RECEIVED.

BRADY GANGSTER PLEADS GUILTY; JURY TRIAL SET

Death Penalty Possible After Hearing.

James Dalhover, surviving member of the Al Brady gang, pleaded guilty in federal court at Hammond yesterday to a charge of murdering Indiana State Policeman Paul Minnerman of Logansport on May 25, but he will not learn the penalty until a jury, called for Dec. 6 by Judge Thomas W. Slick, hears the evidence and fixes the punishment.

Mrs. Beatrice Zionkowski, sister of gang victim.

Judge Slick ordered the jury called because under federal law the maximum penalty he could impose without a hearing on the guilty plea is life imprisonment. A recent act of congress, making the robbing of a bank insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation a federal offense, permits a jury to set the death penalty for murder committed during such robberies.

Seek Maximum Penalty.

United States District Attorney James R. Fleming for northern Indiana appeared in court with two assistants, Alex Campbell and Luther M. Swygert, prepared to oppose any procedure which would let the bandit escape with less than the maximum penalty.

The diminutive bandit (he is 5 feet 4 inches tall) was led into the court handcuffed to two guards and wearing leg irons. He was taken to Hammond from the Marion county jail at Indianapolis by automobile, guarded by fourteen state policemen and federal agents.

His muddy brown hair was ruffled, his jaws were sunken, and he spoke almost inaudibly when the court asked if he had counsel.

Tells of Losing $2,600.

After saying he was not represented by counsel, he was asked by Judge Slick if he had money to employ legal representation.

"I had $2,600 when I was arrested, but the government agents took that from me," he said.

District Attorney Fleming said later that the money was identified as part of the $8,000 loot in the holdup of the Peoples Exchange bank at Thorp, Wis., on Aug. 23.

The court selected Attorneys Timothy P. Galvin and A. E. Tinkham of Hammond to represent Dalhover. After conferring with them in the office of Deputy Marshal Joseph Morris, Dalhover returned to court and pleaded guilty.

Mrs. Beatrice Zionkowski of Hammond, a sister of Minneman, wept in court during the reading of the indictment. The state policeman was killed while pursuing the bandits after they had robbed the Goodland, Ind., State bank of $2,668. Brady and Lee Shaffer Jr. were slain in a trap set by federal agents at Bangor at the time Dalhover was captured.

Kruetgen said 400 part time clerks will be assigned to examine the census cards, while others will be on duty at the branch offices to help persons fill out the blanks properly.

Albert Hillman, 67 years old, and J. H. Morgan, 54 years old, who have long prison records, were returned yesterday from Sharon, S. C., and will be arraigned today before United States Commissioner E. K. Walker for a hearing on removal to South Bend, where they will be tried for the $65,000 burglary on Sept. 5 of the Nappanee, Ind., postoffice.

CRIME WAVE IN BROOKLYN CALLS OUT VIGILANTES

Citizenry Arms to Guard Own Streets.

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Business men in the Stuyvesant and Bedford sections of Brooklyn today planned to arm themselves with rifles and shotguns and organize a vigilance committee to end what they charge is a reign of robbery and street assaults that the police don't stop.

Holds Police Undermanned.

Thirty-eight small tradesmen and other residents of the area already have applied to the police department for pistol permits, according to Sumner A. Sirtl, president of the Mid-Town Civic league, an organization of some 1,000 men and women.

"We have to take this matter into our own hands," Sirtle said. "The police are unable to do anything about it because the precincts here are so undermanned.

"We have applied for the right to carry pistols. If this is denied we are prepared to buy shotguns and rifles—which is permitted by law—and use them to protect our families, our wives, and our businesses.

Seven Daylight Robberies.

"The situation is intolerable, street robberies, sluggings, and holdups in homes and businesses are an every day occurrence. The streets have become so unsafe one church in the neighborhood discontinued vesper services, because the women members were too frightened to leave their homes and walk to the place in the night time."

"In the last few weeks there have been seven daylight robberies in homes here," he added.

ALCOHOL SERVED AT PARTY KILLS 3 MEN, WOMAN

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Three men and a woman were dead tonight and a fourth man was in a hospital for treatment as a result of a party at which Deputy Coroner Michael Leonard said he was told poisonous alcohol was served for drinks.

The dead were: Michael Bukowski, 47, and his wife, 37; Thomas Sherman, 50; and Francis Deneen, 45. Edward Svec, 47, is critically ill in a hospital.

Detectives took the proprietor of a filling station into custody and held him for questioning.

La Follette Leaves Panama After Recovering from Flu

POLICE SLAYER PLEADS GUILTY; PAL'S TRIAL SET

CRIMINAL COURT.

Jerome A. Bernard, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph A. Sabath.

James Pogue, 28 years old, an escaped convict, pleaded guilty yesterday in Criminal court to the murder on July 22, 1933, of Policeman Elmer Ostling of Warren avenue station. Samuel Turriano, 22 years old, a paroled convict, who was implicated by Pogue, pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Thursday. Sentencing of Pogue, who will testify against him, was held up until after Turriano's trial.

Ostling and Policeman John Skopec were shot to death while questioning three men in front of 2840 Washington boulevard. Capture of Pogue, who had escaped last Oct. 6 with Edward Moorehead from Joliet, led to identification of the killers. Moorehead was fatally wounded when his companion was seized.

DIETERICH HOLDS UP DECISION ON RACE UNTIL 1938

Appointive Job May Be Offered to Make Peace.

Senator William H. Dieterich said yesterday that he will hold up until January the announcement of his decision on whether he will run for renomination in the Democrtic primary next April.

"I have not announced my candidacy and I haven't said I wouldn't run," he said in Washington, repeating the only statement he has made on this subject, and then added: "I won't do so during this session of congress."

Since the special session which convened yesterday is expected to continue right up to the convening of the regular session on Jan. 4, what Dieterich said was considered a postponement of his public decision until after New Year's day.

Appointive Office Discussed.

He was asked at this time about his intentions because of downstate rumors current for several days that he already had made his choice between running and seeking an appointive federal office, the one now discussed being the William J. Graham vacancy on the court of customs and patent appeales, a $12,500 salaried post.

Those reports were supplemented downstate by circulation of the fact that the Decatur Herald-Review had published a dispatch from a Washington correspondent saying that national administration leaders, seeking to establish Democratic peace in Illinois, had determined to offer Dieterich a federal appointment so attractive he could not afford to turn it down.

This dispatch went so far toward offsetting Dieterich's postponement statement that, instead of being slowed up, the movement among old supporters of Michael L. Igoe to persuade him to go out after the senatorship was said to be gaining momentum. That plan, being launched partly by former associates of Igoe in the legislature, was said to have been encouraged by the telegraphed report that the Rosevelt administration no longer feels inclined to back Dieterich against the bitter opposition of Gov. Horner.

Igoe Silent but Smiling.

Efforts to obtain from Gov. Horner some indication of his attitude toward the Igoe plan were unsuccessful. A secretary brought word that he was suffering with a severe cold that prevented his talking and a message that he had "no comment" on the subject of the senatorship.

Igoe, in the midst of his duties as district attorney at Chicago, refused to talk about the senatorship but he did so with a smile.

"I haven't been notified," he said, "of any movement of a definite nature to urge me to run and so I'm not in a position to discuss it."

P. A. Nash, chairman of the Cook county organization, was said to be out of the city. Mayor Kelly is in Washington attending the annual conference of mayors.

PROBE PLOT TO BOMB HOMES OF FILMLAND JEWS

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 15.—Chief Investigator Eugene Williams of the district attorney's office said tonight that plots to bomb the homes of Hollywood film notables of Jewish origin and sympathy are under investigation by his staf.

For several days, Williams said, complaints have reached him concerning the activities of southern California anti-semitics.

Williams said several persons question admitted they attended conferences at which the proposed bombing of the homes of screen notables was discussed.

PREDICT ARMY OF U. S. WILL BE REORGANIZED

Officers Expect Mobile, Hard Hitting Divisions.

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Complete reorganization of the army on the basis of an infantry division of a wartime strength of about 10,000 men is an almost certain result of two months experimental field tests concluded here.

The reorganization, which is expected to start late next year or in 1939, officers said, will "modernize" the army and modify its organization probably to a far greater extent than at any previous period in our peace time history.

For the army of tomorrow, as predicted by the far reaching experimental tests here of the "P. I. D." [proposed infantry division], will be a mobile, fast moving, hard striking "army on wheels," in which the "streamlined" division—small, flexible, and swift—will be substituted for the ponderous 22,000 man [war strength] division of today.

Plan Complete Motorization.

Motorization—the substitution of trucks, sedans, station wagons, trailers, motorcycles, and other powered vehicles for animal transport—and mechanization, the equipment of the army with tanks and armored vehicles, will provide its new mobility.

The substitution of modern, quick firing automatic and semi-automatic arms and improved artillery—the Garand semi-automatic rifle, more and improved machine guns, new howitzers of 75 milimeter, 105 mm., and 220 mm. calibers—will, at the same time, give the new division, it is estimated, greater fire power than the old.

The actual field tests of the "P. I. D." started here in early September, but were preceded by some seven to eight months' preparations at home stations of the thousands of regular army troops called here.

Division Has 1,600 Vehicles.

It was this division of 13,500 men at war strength, provided with a total of nearly 1,600 vehicles and no animals, as compared with the 750 motor vehicles and 6,300 animals of the present 22,000 man division, that received its baptism of mud and dust here at Fort Sam Houston, at Camp Bullis, and on the Leon Springs Military reservation near San Antonio.

During the last week the division has traveled an estimated 1,250,000 vehicle miles and consumed in all more than 130,000 gallons of gasoline.

Colored Quack Fined $130 for Violating Medical Act

James A. Craig, colored, of Robbins, yesterday was fined $130 and costs by Judge James G. Gullett of Elizabethtown, sitting in the County court here, for violation of the medical practice act. Craig admitted diagnosing and prescribing for an investigator of the state department of registration and education last Feb. 22.

GOVERNMENT TURNS BIG-TIME ADVERTISER

A peep behind the scenes at the modern technique of keeping 120,000,000 people happy about their government

The Post Office is carrying nearly four times as much free government mail as it did in 1933. The number of departments, bureaus and boards flooding the country with publicity has jumped from 51 to 82. How much of this new high-powered modern evangelism is information? How much is salesmanship? Here's a trip through the factories now busily engaged in manufacturing public opinion—to order—for the government.

MRS. JOHNSON'S FUNERAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Long Illness Is Fatal to School Head's Wife.

Mrs. Lilian Mattocks Johnson, wife of Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of the Chicago public schools, died yesterday in her home at 914 Gunnison street after a long illness. She was 43 years old.

Mrs. Johnson had been seriously ill since last January. In May she underwent an operation at the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn., but her condition failed to improve.

Born in Chicago, Mrs. Johnson was graduated from Tully High school, where she met Dr. Johnson. Drawn together by a common interest in education, they continued their work together for many years.

Graduate of U. of Chicago.

Mrs. Johnson was a graduate of the Northern Illinois Normal college at De Kalb and received her doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Chicago in 1922, three years after her marriage.

That same year she entered the public school system as a teacher. She taught for five years at the Lafayette school, and on Oct. 28, 1927, became assistant principal at the Gale school. On Feb. 3, 1936, Mrs. Johnson was granted a leave of absence.

At her bedside when death came early yesterday were Dr. Johnson, her mother, Mrs. Marie Mattocks; a brother, John, and a sister, Miss Marie Mattocks, principal of the Bell elementary school. Mrs. Johnson had been in a coma for several days.

Leaders Express Regrets.

James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, and other school officials expressed their regret at her death. Mrs. William S. Hefferan, a school trustee, declared the schools had suffered a great loss.

Mrs. Johnson is also survived by an adopted daughter, Patricia Joyce, 19 months old. Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue. Burial will be in Graceland cemetery.

News of Radio

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The telepathy program on NBC stepped up its pace and listener interest Sunday evening by presenting persons who have actually experienced extrasensory phenomena. The son of a Canadian merchant recounted how his father had predicted an out of season blizzard with uncanny accuracy; an Indianapolis man told of a dream which assured him a war casualty list showing his son killed in action was wrong. This later proved true.

The program previously has had an intellectual touch. Now it is streamlined with showmanship, and it will have wider appeal.

Warner Brothers theaters have signed with WHIP, the new south side station, for a daily matinée series to feature the studio orchestra, Hollywood gossip and man in the street interviews. This station, which has been on the air less than two months, has announced that it already has the S. R. O. sign out for sponsors on Sundays.

Kay Kyser's musicians, who put on those College of Musical Knowledge broadcasts on W-G-N-Mutual Monday nights from the Blackhawk, are to journey out to the University of Chicago Wednesday to give a benefit concert for the university school of music's scholarship fund.

Ballots have been circulated among local radio folk for the choice of the best Chicago radio performance of the year. Ten awards are to be announced at the Radio Costume ball at the Medinah club on Saturday, Nov. 27. The committee in charge is composed of James Ameche, Gene Arnold, Ruth Bailey, Shorty Carson, Eddie and Fannie Cavanaugh, Madeline Chace, Sylvia Clark, Josephine Field, Mercedes McCambridge, Tom McDonnell, Cheri McKay, Betty Mitchell, Jack Odell, Virginia Payne, Vincent Pelletier, Michael Romano, Hugh Rowlands, Verne Smith, Olan Soule, Bill Thompson, Willard Waterman, and Joan Winters.

The same benefits as with cod liver oil—
but the modern way for adults

There's a modern way to get your cod liver oil vitamins—convenient, pleasant, and every bit as effective. Adex, it's called!

And here's what it will do for you. Adex will supply you with Vitamin A, the factor which aids in building good general resistance; also with "sunshine" Vitamin D. Three tablets contain as much of these important protective vitamins as five teaspoonfuls of cod liver oil.*

Think how beneficial! And every bit of the vitamin content is obtained from healthful, natural sources, such as good cod and halibut liver oil.

In preparing Adex, special precautions are used by E. R. Squibb & Sons to protect this vitamin content. Vitamin A is easily destroyed by contact with air. So Squibb coats the tablets more than thirty times to keep them air-resistant.

As a further check, the vitamin content is carefully tested in the Squibb laboratories to make sure that every bit of it is retained. Only then, does Squibb guarantee the tablets.

Start with Adex today and keep it up regularly all winter. Have a package right on the breakfast table every morning to remind you.

Stop for Adex now at any reliable drug store.

*3 Adex tablets equal 5 teaspoonfuls of U. S. P. XI minimum standard cod liver oil in Vitamins A and D, or 3 teaspoonfuls of Squibb's.

3 Adex tablets daily instead of 5 spoonfuls of cod liver oil*

JAMES T. BURNS DIES; KNOWN FOR ECONOMY FIGHT IN ASSEMBLY

James T. Burns, former state representative and former judge of Kankakee county, died yesterday at the Edward Hines Jr. hospital after a long illness. He was 59 years old.

Mr. Burns served as a private in the Spanish war and for 20 years was captain of a Kankakee company of the Illinois National Guard. During the world war he became assistant chief of staf of the 33d division with the rank of lieutenant colonel. He was elected to the bench in 1919 after holding the judgeship by appointment. In the same year he also became judge of Cook county for 13 months, filling a vacancy caused by the death of Judge Thomas F. Scully.

HE sped down the corridors of the Art institute, his laborer's cap pulled down over his eyes, obviously in eager quest of something. As he sped down Blackstone hall a guard called that visitors were not allowed, but the man, inattentive to the reprimand, made for the art school entrance. There another guard stopped him, saying firmly, "No visitors allowed."

ONE of Northwestern university's professors may be seen early almost any morning in an Evanston eatery indulging in what Max Karant says may be an intellectual's breakfast. He peels a Spanish onion, eats it; peels an apple and eats it, and consumes one hard bun and a cup of coffee.

A man who breakfasts regularly at an Adams street restaurant orders a dill pickle and a cup of coffee. We have no way of knowing whether he is an intellectual, but many literary men and musicians and scholars have had definitly plebian tastes in food. It was Emil Ludwig who passed up the breast of chicken or filet mignon at a Palmer house luncheon in his honor and asked for hard boiled eggs and beer. Keats once covered his tongue and throat with cayenne pepper in order to enjoy claret the more. Ariosto is said to have had a ravenous appetite for turnips, and when Handel dined at an inn he ordered dinner for three and ate all three. Ben Franklin kept a plate of bread and cheese at his side "to repair mental waste." Dryden ate raw meat to stimulate his imagination.

THE publicity chairman of the Woman's Advertising club called a special committee meeting last Tuesday to discuss how to get more publicity in the newspapers. The following morning she picked up the paper to find her own picture right next to that of Mayor La Guardia, the Dionne quints, and Mrs. Hahn. A newspaper photographer had snapped her picture as she was leaving the publicity meeting, in a camera shot calculated to show how windy it was around the Palmolive building.

SHEPARD VOGELGESANG went to New York this autumn after a stay at the old house he owns in the White mountains, a little sad at leaving nature behind for a big city of cement and steel. As he sat at luncheon downtown somewhere a little fluff of milkweed blew in through the window. Going uptown, he saw a squirrel scurrying along on the sidewalk at the intersection of Park avenue and 59th street. Cheered him up quite a lot.

Parents Busy with Lists for Holiday Debuts

BY JUDITH CASS.

IN these hectic days of preparing invitation lists for Christmas debut parties anxious parents and social secretaries are harassed by blithe requests from debutantes away at college to invite a new found friend or beau. However simple it may seem to Miss Debutante to add a name or two to the list—sometimes she airmails a scribbled list, sometimes she telephones casually [collect, of course]—it is not so simple to ferret out the addresses of young men or women who are strangers to the rest of the family.

Col. and Mrs. Robert G. Peck are the latest party givers to receive a telephone call from their young debutante, for only yesterday Miss Laura Moyer, their niece, called from Sarah Lawrence college in Bronxville, N. Y., to add some new names to the list for her debut tea Dec. 22 at the Fortnightly.

When Miss Moyer returns from college she will find her engagement pad filled with party dates, including two other parties that will be given for her. Mrs. William E. Parsons is giving her a luncheon at the Arts club on Dec. 20. On Sunday, Dec. 19, Mr. and Mrs. George Voevodsky will give a luncheon at their new Libertyville home for her and for Miss Betty Lord.

Another Christmas party planned is a dinner Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Dickinson will give at the Casino before the Princeton Triangle club performance on Dec. 30 for their debutante niece, Miss Janet Gregory.

Mrs. MacArthur Busy with Plans for Party.

Mrs. Telfer MacArthur, mother of a debutante, is busy these days finding out who "John Doe's" or "Mary Smith's" parents are, for her daughter, Miss Dorothy MacArthur, has sent quite a number of additional names to be added to the list of those who will be invited to her debut tea-dance on Dec. 21 at the Woman's Athletic club. Miss MacArthur is a sophomore at Smith college.

Mr. and Mrs. MacArthur's plans for the evening of Dec. 21 are indefinite, for Dixie, as their younger daughter is called, has written that what she wants to do is to take her assistants and their beaux out to the MacArthurs' new house in Libertyville for a buffet supper, but since December weather is uncertain Mrs. MacArthur is afraid to plan on a party like that.

Guild Members Make Mincemeat.

However busy Mrs. Peck may be with plans for Miss Moyer's debut, she is occupied this week with preparations for the Thanksgiving sale next Tuesday of the guild and auxiliary of St. James's church.

"Chop-chop-chop" and "clatter-clatter-clatter" were the only sounds audible yesterday morning at St. James's parish house where members of the guild were busy chopping, slicing, or mashing ingredients for the guild's famous mincemeat that will be featured at the sale.

The odors of lemons, apples, and spices floated from each corner of the room, meeting at last at a large table where Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson, owner of the mincemeat recipe, and Mrs. Albert Morrell mixed the ingredients in proper proportions.

Preparations for making the mincemeat were begun two weeks ago when the guild members met to sort raisins and pick over currants. All day today and until noon tomorrow the guild will carry on with the mixing. In the afternoon tomorrow they will "spoon it," as St. James's women say when they mean to bottle the mixture. Advance orders are being filled now with Mrs. Fremont Chandler in charge of delivery.

For a few minutes each day the committee members rest weary fingers and aching backs while eating a delicious luncheon. Mrs. Duncan H. Browne, wife of the rector of St. James's, was the hostess yesterday. According to her reckoning, this is the thirteenth season that the guild has met to mix mincemeat. In future years it may have the added task of baking orange bread, such as

'Love of Three Kings' Revived; It's a Sensation

'THE LOVE OF THREE KINGS.'

BY CECIL SMITH.

After a lapse of precisely a week less than seven years, Italo Montemezzi's tragic opera "The Love of Three Kings" was revived last night at the Civic Opera house. The performance was triumphantly successful and was rewarded with heart warming applause and repeated loud cries of "bravo."

"The Love of Three Kings" is an opera with the power to raise singers, orchestra, and conductor to the highest peak of achievement. The finest tragic operatic score yet produced in twentieth century Italy [it was first given in Milan in 1913], the music is Wagnerian in the sense that the interest is impartially divided between the orchestra and the voices. From the singers viewpoint, however, it is much better than Wagner, for Montemezzi makes a vocal reality of the "endless melody" which Wagner so often was able to create only in theory.

The opera is as exciting a theater piece as "Tosca," but the rich, eloquent music escapes Puccini's somewhat vulgar sensationalism, and Sem Benelli's poetic libretto creates a deep rooted character motivation far removed from Sardou's blatant obviousness.

The second act of "The Love of Three Kings" is probably the greatest operatic scene in existence. The frenzied love scene of Fiora and her clandestine lover Avito, finally calming into a love scene as eloquent as "Tristan and Isolde" and much more human—the blind, aged King Archibaldo's rage as he discovers his daughter-in-law's guilt, and the elemental fury with which he strangles her—the return of the noble and reserved Manfredo and his stunned realization of the vengeance his father has wrought—Archibaldo's frustrated emptiness of soul as he slings Fiora's corpse over his shoulder and staggers off the stage at the final curtain of the act—these are the components of superb theater and tragic drama on a genuinely regal plane.

Virgilio Lazzari, singing the rôle of Archibaldo for the forty-third time in the Chicago area, once more gave one of the greatest operatic impersonations our generation has known. It is no simple accomplishment to project from the stage the primitive passions of this sightless old man, and yet to keep him always every inch a king. His singing was of the noblest sonority, and his declamation bore the inflections of a grand manner too nearly dead in the contemporary operatic theater.

Helen Jepson, singing Fiora for the first time, looked radiantly beautiful. She sang every note of the score with matchless beauty of tone, yet gave herself over to the demands of each dramatic situation with a propulsive force she has never shown before. This was her artistic coming of age.

José Luccioni was a handsome Avito, and revealed a romantic fire his debut in "Carmen" last Saturday had not hinted at. He sang with great sweep and sincerity, and played his part in the drama with an intensity I have seen only Edward Johnson surpass.

Under the influence of this great score of Carlo Morelli was a changed person. Singing with extreme tonal beauty, he revealed real sensitivity to the expressiveness of the music. Robert Moranzoni, who introduced the opera here in 1915 with the Boston Opera company, conducted gloriously. It will be a great mistake if this splendid performance is not repeated.

Neither Lotte Lehmann nor Emanuel List will be able to sing in "Lohengrin" Saturday afternoon. Their rôles will be taken by Grete Stueckgold and Chase Baromeo.

Good Morning!

Crisp comedy, this—with a reservation. It seemed to me rather padded toward the end.

The hero is a Shakespearean matinée idol who, to disillusion a girl engaged to the son of an old friend, makes a spectacle of himself in her presence. To do so it becomes necessary for him to postpone again an often postponed marriage with his temperamental co-star. . . . Complications attendant on this involvement are what make the picture interesting.

The action rocks with lines and business from Shakespeare and more modern playwrights—for to Basil all the world's a stage and he is constantly an actor—practically never drawing, so to speak, an untheatrical breath.

This production offers all interested persons an opportunity for getting entirely new slants on both Leslie Howard and Bette Davis. This is neither the Howard nor the Davis of "Petrified Forest" and "Of Human Bondage." Mr. Howard deliberately goes "ham" in a big way and Bette shows you how a great emotional actress can burlesque when she wants to. Olivia de Haviland is perfect as the wide eyed, sugary, man crazy society ingénue. . . . Eric Blore valets in his customary amusing fashion.

"It's Love I'm After" drew a bright eyed and alert director whose only trouble was, I suspect, that he found himself having so much fun with this job that he just couldn't bear to call "Curtain."

So far as that's concerned, here's one of those opuses in which the players seem to be thoroughly enjoying themselves. And that state of affairs always has a happy effect on an audience.

See you tomorrow.

Hair Trinkets Add Glamor to Party Dresses

BY RHEA SEEGER.

While we still think hats are the best things that go on the head, while newly unpacked confections and rather dizzy creations listed under the classification of fashionable headgear are still taking the money, much can be said for dress parade trifles that are distinctly decorative accents only. For instance, some typically feminine hairpins studded with pearl beads to hold up curls or to define a whirl of hair around the ear. Likewise some glittering green sequin skull caps, especially good for the youngsters partybound to impress the world, and the flippant, nodding clusters of bright green ostrich curls will do much for any one who tucks them in the hair.

We found the loveliest pearl bandeaux, the kind that stay flat and snug, no matter how fast you dance, some hair clips of pearls that could easily perform double duty service for dresses. The best rhinestone finds are the hair combs in long, graceful feather shapes, trickily made so that after a knowing of the comb attachment the entire model stays secure wherever you want it anchored. The combs themselves are transparent and small, the feathers and long leaf pattern of rhinestones are long, effective, and dramatic in all hair lines.

Buy clips now, for the prize assortments are here, unpacked for the Christmas rush, and there are some notable designs and color combinations and some of the most reasonable price marks we've ever found. Clips are the best decorative gadget any one can own. The newest fashion trick is to wear a pair epaulet—like high across each shoulder seam—or to wear one clipped to the lower part of each long or short sleeve.

Huge chest pins are staging the biggest comeback. Smart shoppers pin them high at one side of the chest, to accent the deep vee line of a shirred bodice, or to decorate the otherwise severe outline of a surplice closing. The bigger the pin the better the general effect. Some of them are as wide as three inches and twice as long.

Two Exhibits Should Start Yule Shopping

No matter what the weather nor how lazy her inclinations, a woman will have to be procrastinating indeed to avoid doing some of her Christmas shopping early at one or both of the two sales that are being held today. Near north side dwellers need go only a few blocks to the Drake hotel to find the lovely things the Woman's exchange will display.

It will mean a short drive instead of a short walk to attend the sale the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins is holding in Lake Forest, for the sale is being held in Mrs. W. E. Macfarlane's home on Ridge road, south of Westleigh road, a little west and south of the village.

The fact that Mrs. Macfarlane's home is a new one and that today is the first time it is being opened to the public will draw hundreds of curious shoppers. To make it easier to find the house the society sent out announcements illustrated by a map showing the way.

The directors of the exchange have decided to turn their sale into more of a social gathering by serving some of their own delicious foods at a buffet luncheon. One of the featured exhibits will be a complete, assembled layette, an ideal gift for Christmas babies. For school age children the exchange is featuring colored, educational maps. The exchange's own beautiful linens and decorations will be used by the women who are setting tables to represent their own impeccable tastes in entertaining.

Mrs. John W. Gary, Mrs. Cyrus Hill, Mrs. Ford R. Carter, Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams, and Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne will set tables.

Mrs. Osborne, Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., Mrs. Champ Carry, Mrs. Charles F. Giore, and Mrs. Philip D. Block have just been elected directors of the exchange. Mrs. William M. Spencer is president of the board of directors, most of whom will be assisting at the sale.

Miss Kay Goodman, Miss Mary Seymour Adams, Miss Mary Paul Welling, and Miss Betty Armour, four debutantes of the season, will help to serve the luncheon.

Miss Adams and her mother, the senior Mrs. Adams, and Miss Goodman returned yesterday from New York after attending the Yale-Princeton football game Saturday.

Mrs. Macfarlane is entertaining at luncheon the thirty women who will act as saleswomen in her home today. They include Mrs. Earle Zimmerman, president of the Vocational society; Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr., Mrs. Herbert Kennedy, Mrs. Edward E. Robbins, Mrs. F. Dorsey Montgomery, Mrs. Norman Pritchard, Mrs. Phelps Kelley, Mrs. Edwin E. Tullis, Mrs. Frederick G. Wacker, Mrs. Stuart Templeton, Mrs. John Prosser, Mrs. Frederick Copeland, and Mrs. Donald and Mrs. Edward Welles.

Describes Volume Which She Believes Shakespeare Used

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—In an address at Barnard college today the Countess de Chambrun, internationally known authority on Shakespeare told of her discovery of a second edition of Holinshed's "Chronicles of Britain," printed in 1587, supposedly owned by William Shakespeare and used in writing some of his drama.

In the third volume of this edition, owned now by Capt. William Jaggard of Stratford-on-Avon, there are marginal notations, in handwriting resembling that of Shakespeare. She pointed out that this edition has been overlooked because it had hitherto been believed that Shakespeare had used a copy of the first edition now in the Folger library for his source.

The countess, the former Clara Longworth, added that the discovery would not only give information on the methods of Shakespeare's work but would also provide sixty more words in Shakespeare's handwriting to be used in determining the authenticity of manuscripts attributed to him.

SAFE ROAD

By Katharine Newlin Burt

SYNOPSIS.

When rich old Caleb Winter died his wife, Isabelle, once his housekeeper, wires her daughter, Sally Lee Keyne, at school in Maryland, to come home at last. Because Caleb had demanded a housekeeper without family ties Isabella had never told him about Sally. Sally bids good-by to wise Mary Culpepper, school headmistress. En route she meets Robin Ashe, whose family live near the old Crewe mansion, Sally's new home—he falls in love with her—and has an unpleasant encounter with an arrogant tramp called Vincent. The morning after Sally's homecoming Joseph Marr, his lawyer, reads Caleb's will and her mother has a stroke. Informed of his wife's deception, Caleb left everything to his first wife's nephew, Obadiah Crewe. Mrs. Winter, if she stays on as housekeeper, to have shelter and an income. The new heir turns out to be the tramp—Vincent Obadiah Crewe. Though she hates and fears him, Sally serves him as housekeeper in her mother's place. Vincent inherits Caleb's tricky West Indian valet, Manchi. Gossip reaches Robin that Sally is the new heir's mistress. Vincent surprises Sally when he tells her he loves her and asks her to marry him. He shocks her by harboring an evil looking tramp who is ill. When Robin calls to beg Sally to marry him she announces that she is going to marry Vincent. Vincent is told by Manchi that he is not Caleb's nephew, but the illegitimate son of Caleb's first wife. Vincent takes the evidence, forced from Manchi, to the lawyer, relinquishing the fortune to Mrs. Winter.

INSTALMENT XXXVIII.

HONOR BOUND.

It was Sally's practical resignation to her promise of marriage that made her look like her mother when, a few minutes after closing the door, she sat down at her mother's workdesk. The world was an oyster to be open for nourishment only. Sally Keyne was definitely done with her wistful search for pearls.

She interviewed the cook, brought her accounts up to date and signed about a dozen checks. All the while she was thus occupied, she was aware of the silence of the house, conscious of a cramp within her bosom which was of suspense. At every instant she expected the sound of a step, unmistakable for its curious, brooding quickness, the opening of the door, the appearance of the man to whom she presently must fulfill her promise of herself. That he would hold her to this promise, she was convinced; in what manner he would hold her was as tormenting a question as could be put to a girl's inexperienced imagination. Besides this waiting, she was creepily aware of the presence above her in that house of the horrible old man. On her way to the office, she had passed his male nurse, a burly, soft-footed figure who carried trays.

That, thought Sally, cold of heart and finger tips, must be one of the conditions of her surrender. The old man must be taken to another home.

It was strange how her suspense grew, how it transformed itself to nervous fear, how, when a car passed her window and drew up before the house, it matured into a sort of panic. Sally opened the door in time to see little Joseph Marr's neat figure go trotting up out of her sight. She let out a caught breath, laughed in relieved self-mockery.

Perhaps three-quarters of an hour later little Early came running.

"O, Miss Sally, please ma'am, yo' mother want you quick as you can come."

"She's ill?"

"No, ma'am, Miss Sally. She jes' want you come mighty quick to 'scuss with her."

"Is Mr. Marr with her upstairs?"

"No, ma'am, Miss Sally, I done let him out jest now, ma'am."

Sally sped up the polished stair.

No sooner had she crossed her mother's threshold than she knew; realized, that is, a positive change not only in her mother's condition of mind but in her own fate. Nothing but the dynamite of revolutionary tidings could have dragged Mrs. Winter up so high upon her bed, could have lit and opened her heavy-lidded eyes and sent into her face the pennants of life and victory. She stretched out her well hand to Sally.

"Darling, come here to me. Come quickly." With the reaching hand on Sally's arm, the eyes burning up, she went on with less difficulty than she had spoken since her stroke, "You haven't talked to Vincent since you were here with me after breakfast? Tell me, Sally, quickly, please."

Sally laughed, her nerves in strong vibration.

"No, mother. I've been minding my job. Vincent has been out."

"Thank God! Now, sit down here. You must tell him as soon as he gets back, that this marriage is quite impossible."

"Mother!"

"Yes. You told me that yesterday seemed to you a thousand years ago, that so much had happened to change you inside and out. Well, since you said that, another thousand years has gone by and everything in our world has changed. We're free, daughter. We're free. No need to please or to subdue a tyrant. There's no tyrant. Caleb is dead. Vincent is out and, Sally, we are in."

Sally, her honey colored freckles apparent, stared.

"Marr has been telling me that the will Caleb made was just a sort of trick. He punished me but not for life. He fixed that will so that Vincent can now be discounted, must, in fact, walk out of the house as only a few weeks ago, he walked in."

"Wait a moment, mother!" Sally prowled distractedly, found and lighted for herself a cigaret and, returning, stood close to the bed but would not come again within reach of that grasp which had given her the sensation of fear and of distaste.

"Now, tell me slowly please, just what Mr. Marr said. Was it something he knew all the time, was it up his sleeve . . . to put us through a sort of test? I just can't understand. It sounds fantastic."

"It's no more fantastic than Caleb was himself. It's no more fantastic than a thousand other wills. The imagination of men and women about to die often takes a fantastic form to assert posthumous control of other people's lives. Caleb was very angry with me just before his death. And he had been angry before with another woman. His first wife deceived him as to her character and her estate. A child by another man. You see, the history of his hurt was repeated."

"O, mother, have a heart! Please. Please."

Isabella Winter then did control her excitement and carefully enough described the discovery of Manchi's evidence and its result. All Sally's great eyes listened. Her face was now so pale that it seemed to have narrowed in its very bones.

"He took those papers himself, to Mr. Marr?"

"Yes."

"He could have burned them."

"It was honest but, if he had not done so, he would have been guilty of a crime and, remember, that he could not be sure but that Manchi had held out on him some evidence sufficient to prove the case."

"O, mother, don't . . . don't."

"Don't what?"

"Don't belittle him. I've thought all this time that he was, perhaps, a sort of . . . criminal."

"You are a romanticist, Sally. It's time you learned some sort of moderation in your feelings. How to keep your head."

"And now you think I should go to Vincent and say, moderately, I was going to marry you, Vincent, in order to share your inheritance and my mother was delighted with my choice, but now that I've got what I want, please consider yourself dismissed!"

"You don't love him, Sally. You told me so yourself . . . not much more than two hours ago by that clock."

"And not long ago, you told me that he was so honest and gentle and humble a man that I could not fail to learn to love him."

"I did feel that. But, to be practical, darling, there was really nothing else sensible for either of us to feel. We were caught in a trap."

"O, mother, mother, I can't believe it's you."

Mrs. Winter laughed shortly. "Because I quote you to yourself?"

Sally, seated now in a low chair beside the bed, had put down her face in both of her hands. She was thinking against her will, that it was no unreal or incredible mother who now used against her the very phrases she had so recently combated. It was the real mother, the woman who with a lie in her mouth had married Caleb for his money and had used that money in secret for a purpose he could not either have relished or approved.

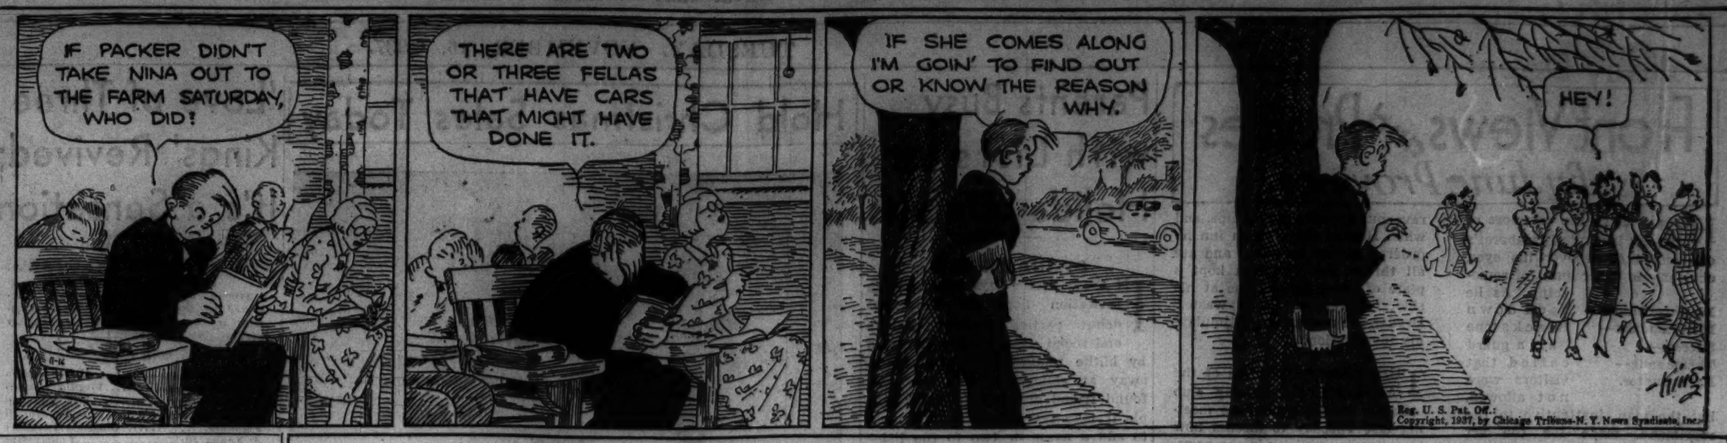
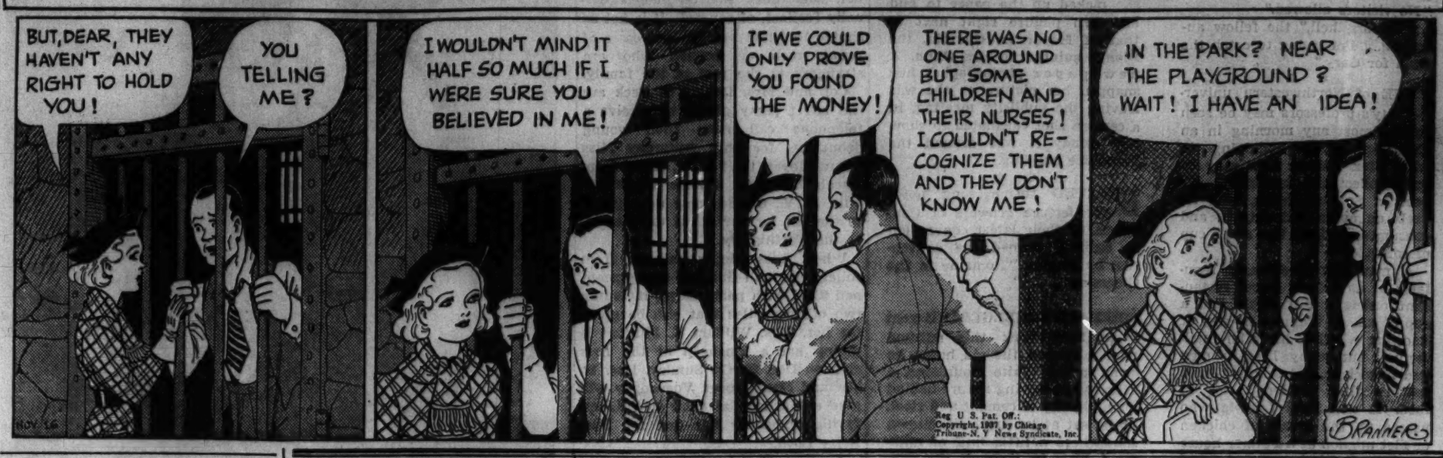
GASOLINE ALLEY—PERFECT INTERFERENCE



WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Can Winnie Have a Clew?



Open Mind Is Essential for Raising Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Several older people I know are quite pessimistic about my column.

"Do you think people can be changed as far as bringing up their children is concerned? Don't you think they just go along in their own way and if they do read anything, let it go in one ear and out the other?"

There are undoubtedly people like that, just as there are undoubtedly many parents who are neglectful, or self-centered, or indifferent, or ill-tempered, or even cruel. Any one who knows human nature knows that must be so, and having children doesn't transform everybody.

But it does do something very fine to most people. To a great number of people, their children are their jewels. The coming of a baby floods most women and perhaps as many men with tenderness, protectiveness, and a desire to give that child all of goodness and happiness that they can.

I not only see this all around me, but in my mail. And numerically this latter represents quite a cross section of parenthood. Through my correspondence runs the urge to understand, to guide wisely, to give something more and better than the parents had themselves.

This upward-reaching sometimes doesn't become articulate until a mother sees trouble brewing or a father finds himself up against a stone wall. But frequently it springs into being when a woman knows she is to have a baby, and more often than you would imagine, the desire to learn and be ready is present in girls in their teens who read and observe and do a lot of thinking.

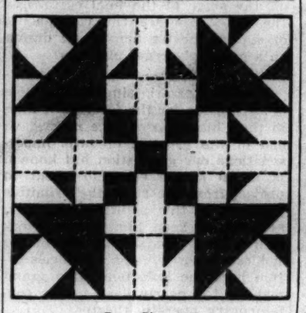
Quilt Based on Four Patch Motif Has a Gay Theme



Four Clowns.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Four Clowns" is one of those middle aged pieced blocks which have been endowed with frivolous names but possess all the substantial qualities of a good old four patch pattern. An entire coverlet set together with "Four Clown" blocks reminds one of a group of whirling clowns in a sawdust ring. Red and white is the favorite color combination for this block, and the entire coverlet, quilted in outline, presents a most beautiful coverlet of which either side may be used. The block is medium in size, measuring 13½ inches square. Forty-two blocks are set together and surrounded by a four and one-half inch border and a one-half inch bias binding.

Y.W.C.A. to Join Chicago's War on Venereal Disease

Leaders of the Young Women's Christian association will join the city's campaign against venereal disease at a luncheon meeting tomorrow at the Y. W. C. A.'s central branch, 59 East Monroe street.

Mrs. Oscar Hayward, chairman of the Chicago association's health education committee, pointed out yesterday that the national committee of the Y. W. C. A. had authorized local branches to coöperate in anti-syphilis campaigns as a part of the Y. W. C. A.'s sex education program.

Dr. Rachelle Yarros, director of the education project in the Chicago campaign, and Miss Pearl Hart, attorney, will speak on the social hygiene and legal aspects of the new Illinois marriage law, which requires venereal disease tests.

Milk Week Opened with Plea for Quart-a-Day

Women who have the notion that they should not drink milk if they are trying to reduce were reproved yesterday by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, who declared a reducing diet should have as its basis one quart of milk a day. He addressed club women and members of the Chicago Milk Fund association at luncheon yesterday in the Stevens hotel, opening Chicago's observance of National Milk week. Two hundred persons attended.

Highly Fashionable Apron

WOMAN'S AND MISS' APRON.

Stylists have not allowed the humble apron to lag behind in fashion. Here is a pretty one, which you may wear over your dressy frocks when you are hostess, that has the molded lines of the smartest dresses. The bodice is tightly fitted, the waistline snug, and the skirt widely flared. The neckline may be high and round, or it may be squared off and the apron held up with a smart cord which ties in a bow. One or two pockets may adorn the skirt. All types of washable fabrics are suitable, and sheer materials are especially nice. Plain shades, prints, and stripes, all are suitable, and the apron may be bound with bias tape or not, as you choose.

This apron is a grand idea for gifts. Busy women always have before them the problem of party prizes, remembrances to hostesses, birthday and "shower" presents and Christmas gifts. We recommend this pattern as a perfect solution to this eternal question.

Style No. 2034 is designed for sizes small, medium and large. The medium size requires 1⅛ yards of 39 inch material, with 3⅛ yards of binding and 1⅛ yards of cord.

Has the Girl of Today Forgotten How to Walk?

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

The modern girl is forgetting how to walk.

As a result, she is walking away from all that's worth while, love, admiration, and beauty.

At least, one ace film director thinks so, and he is an authority on the subject. He is Richard Thorpe, whose recent picture, "The Four Marys," stars such graceful pedestrians as Myrna Loy and Rosalind Russell.

"In intervewing ambitious young actresses and rehersing them for motion picture scenes, I have noticed that many of the prettiest and most charming girls are forgetting how to walk gracefully. When they forget to walk with grace and rhythm, they are walking away from love."

Thorpe believes the automobile is responsible to a great degree for the decadence in graceful walking among women.

"A girl may have a beautiful face, but her beauty is without value if she has a slouchy carriage. In women, men look for face, figure, and the charm, and none of these can be sold without grace," declares Thorpe.

"The mannish trend in walking among women may be traced to the increasing interest in athletics. But there is no glamor in a mannish swagger. However, a girl still can be healthy and athletic and remain feminine.

"My advice to women is, don't walk away from love. Learn to walk gracefully."

Decency Wins Girl Real Type of Popularity

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Three girls around 16 years of age are bemoaning the fact that they aren't receiving any attention from boys. They want to know if it pays to be good. They aren't cutting in on any of the invitations extended by the boys in their group they say. Should they be a little freer in their manner that they may be more popular? Would it make them more attractive? The girls' claim is that the girls who smoke and don't mind if they do have a cocktail and aren't averse to sitting in parked cars are the ones who are taken places.

Perhaps they are enjoying a wave of popularity, but you may be sure those girls are not going to retain their popularity with boys for any length of time. Boys who are given unusual privileges are wise enough to know the girls extend those same liberties to every young man with whom they go out. That immediately brands them as girls who haven't proper self-respect. They wouldn't permit such liberties if they had, and certainly they can't expect to command respect from boys when they haven't respect for themselves.

I take it you girls still are in school. You will be highly thought of by your teachers. Later, when you look for a position, you will be the ones who are awarded the positions of trust. It is very easy for an employer to determine the habits of his employés, and certainly girls who come to the office looking as though they had been out on drinking parties the night before, losing sleep needed to keep them fresh and alert, aren't going to be allotted positions of responsibility. They are no asset to an office.

Then, later on, you'll want to marry. The kind of man you'll want for a husband wouldn't give a second thought to girls who have spent their time petting and drinking with every young man who asked to take them out. If one of them should marry a worth while chap she will live in fear of his finding out about the kind of girl she used to be.

And, most important of all, it pays to be decent because of the satisfaction it gives you to know you have had the courage to pass up the kind of times which are costly in the long run, and dangerous to one's self-respect.

When blending sugar and butter to make hard sauce, or when starting a cake or cookies, try a new kitchen utensil called the all-purpose blender. You'll find it lightens your labor and works most efficiently.

Shaped like an extra large, six pronged fork, the prongs are set at a slight angle and their edges are almost as sharp as a knife. So you can cut, cream or beat cakes, biscuits and sauces with it in much less time than it usually takes. This blender is inexpensive, too, for it costs less than half a dollar.

For scooping out grapefruit there is a new, shallow spoon with edges as sharp and pointed as a saw. You can easily lift out the meat of the fruit with this scoop. And with another inexpensive little gadget you can quickly cut out the tough, center heart of the grapefruit.

Yesterday's questions were:

Question 41: Both sides vulnerable. You are South. The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	Pass	2 diamonds	?

You, South, hold:

♠ 6 4 3 ♥ 7 ♦ K J 10 9 8 6 ♣ Q J 9

What call do you make?

Answer: You should pass. A double would not be conventionally for penalties. It would be a conventional takeout [informatory] double. Obviously you dare not invite your partner to bid. Hence, despite your strength against the two diamond bid, you must, at least temporarily, hold your peace. [Two points demerit for any call other than pass.]

Question 42: Both sides vulnerable. You are South. The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	Double	3 spades	?

You, South, hold:

♠ Q J 2 ♥ 3 2 ♦ 7 4 2 ♣ A K Q J 4

What call do you make?

Answer: You should bid three no trump. You have a stopper in the adversely bid suit and a solid five card suit of your own. Your distribution is such that you cannot be sure of making five clubs. Hence there is no reason to bid four clubs, thus going past the three no trump level. [Two points demerit for passing; one point demerit for doubling or bidding four or more clubs.]

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 43: You are West, declarer at a three no trump contract, in rubber bridge. Your hand and dummy are as follows:

WEST	EAST [dummy]
♠ J 8 4	♠ A 5 3
♥ K Q 6 2	♥ A
♦ A K 4	♦ J 10 9 7 2
♣ A 10 5	♣ 7 6 3 2

North opened the heart jack. You must win with dummy's singleton ace. What card do you then lead from dummy and what card do you play from your own hand?

TODAY'S HAND

Match point duplicate.
South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ Q 6 4
♥ 9 2
♦ Q J 10 8 2
♣ K J 10

WEST	EAST
♠ 9 2	♠ A J 10 8 3
♥ 8 7 5 4 3	♥ K J 10
♦ K 6 4	♦ 9 7
♣ 8 6 5	♣ 7 4 2

SOUTH
♥ A Q 6
♦ A 8 5
♣ A Q 9 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 diamond	1 spade
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

The South player, who deliberately chose to open the bidding with one club, "fixed himself" badly by that strange choice. Obviously one no trump was the perfect opening bid.

The opening lead of the spade nine was ducked all around. Now, on the spade deuce continuation, East shrewdly read that if he again ducked he probably would lose his ace and, at match point duplicate, one trick more or less would mean a big difference. The spade ace winning, the heart jack was returned. Declarer finessed successfully, entered dummy with a club, and finessed diamonds. West having the king, the hand then was spread for four odd.

Declarer could have recovered his bidding error by a superplay at the very first trick. That was to put up dummy's spade queen! East would have been helpless. To win with the ace would mean that he never could regain the lead. To permit the queen to hold would concede declarer a second spade stopper.

Tomorrow's Hand

Match point duplicate.
South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ 10 6 5
♥ 10 4
♦ Q 5 3 2
♣ A Q 7 2

WEST	EAST
♠ J 9 4 3	♠ A Q 8 2
♥ K 7 2	♥ J 9 6 3
♦ A 10 8 7	♦ J 9
♣ 9 3	♣ 8 5 4

SOUTH
♠ K 7
♥ A Q 8 5
♦ K 6 4
♣ K J 10 6

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A whole new family of lipsticks and powders has come to Chicago. We've never seen more exquisite shades nor heard a more interesting story around them.

There are five sets, all coördinated perfectly. Each has as its name that of an artist famous for color tones.

One is Manet. The powder is a pale, pale apricot that tones to a faint peach on the skin. There's this season's smart translucency for you! Fair skinned blondes or brunettes can wear it beautifully. The Manet lipsticks are a vivid red with undertones of blue—perfect for what the current fashion demands in the way of clear skin and dark mouth accent.

For the brunette who wants to give her complexion fresh and exciting depths there is the Goya pair. The painter who loved dramatic red and Spanish skin tones would like the dark rachel powder that's been named for him. And he'd like the gorgeous, rebellious red of the lipstick. Brunettes of this day will be mad about these.

Sargent, who painted women of gracious beauty, inspired a set, too. The powder named for him is in a light rachel tone, flattering and soft. The lipstick is a true, soft red. Not obtrusive, and a perfect complement for the flesh tinted powder.

For the woman of delicate coloring there is the Degas pair. The powder is the perfect misty shade for the pale blonde skin, the lipstick the exactly right matching light tone, softly brilliant.

There had to be a pair for the suntanned. This, named for a contemporary Russian artist, is, in the powder, a rich, sun-browned tint. The lipstick to accent it is a rich rosy rust.

These are all beautiful, and to find the right shades is simple. The quality is beyond reproach.

Healthful ingredients such as milk and eggs, chocolate and fruit couldn't help making the right kind of dessert. Custards and cornstarch puddings are, for the most part, simple but nutritious. They aren't hard to make and they aren't hard to eat. They're neither too rich nor too sweet to please the discriminating palate.

These three desserts are satisfactory for family or company service.

Apple Sauce Custard.

[Serves Five to Six.]

3 eggs
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ cups scalded milk
1 cup strained apple sauce
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Beat the eggs and add sugar and salt. Beat all together thoroughly. Pour hot milk over the mixture and stir. Add apple sauce. If apple sauce has been sweetened reduce the amount of sugar in the recipe, as the recipe is given for unsweetened apple sauce. Pour the mixture into buttered custard cups and sprinkle nutmeg over the top of each. Place custard cups in a pan, and pour hot water into the pan to cover about an inch of the cups. Place in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, and bake until the custard is firm. When a clean knife inserted into one of the puddings will come out clean the custards have baked for long enough. Serve warm or cold.

Chocolate Meringue Custard.

[Serves Four.]

1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 cup hot evaporated milk
3 egg yolks
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons sugar
3 egg whites plus
¼ cup sugar and
1 tablespoon cocoa

Pour hot milk over melted chocolate and stir together. Beat the egg yolks until light, add salt and sugar, and pour the hot milk and chocolate mixture over them. Pour into greased custard cups or into a baking dish which has been well buttered, and set in a pan of hot water. Bake at 350 degrees, moderate heat, until the custard is firm, which will require about 30 minutes. Cover with meringue made by whipping the egg whites until stiff, and folding in the mixed sugar and cocoa. Brown in a 350 degree oven.

Chocolate Banana Pudding.

[Serves Six.]

3 squares unsweetened chocolate
3 cups milk
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 banana

Melt chocolate in milk in the top of a double boiler. Beat with a rotary beater until blended. Combine sugar, cornstarch, and salt, and add a little of the liquid to it, stirring smooth. Combine with the remaining milk and chocolate, and cook over hot water until thickened. Continue to cook for 15 minutes, stirring frequently to keep the mixture smooth. Remove from heat and add vanilla. Cool somewhat and fold in the banana, which has been diced. Chill and serve with cream.

Menus and recipes for buffet suppers are contained in the booklet, "Buffet Suppers and Dutch Lunches," on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents in stamps. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, The Tribune, Chicago.

Honor Sculptor

New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Malvina Hoffman, sculptor, was presented the American Woman's association 1937 award for eminent achievement tonight at a dinner at the American Woman's club.

Hall of Man Praised.

In making the presentation, Pearl Buck, novelist, paid tribute to Miss Hoffman's distinction in the world of art, referring to "that great panorama of humanity," the hall of man in the Field museum in Chicago, where life size figures, representing human types and races, are Miss Hoffman's best known work.

She devoted five years to executing the figures, circling the globe in search of models and undergoing many hardships among primitive peoples.

PICKETS BAR MEN AT PLANT GATES; 15 HURT IN RIOTS

11 Seized After Rushing Police on Guard.

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Fifteen persons were injured today in rioting by pickets attempting to bar the way to men reporting for work at the Presto Lock company plant in Brooklyn, which has been closed four weeks by a strike. Eleven others were arrested charged with assault.

In fierce fighting between 250 pickets and 30 policemen, a sergeant was cut badly about the head and a plant watchman was beaten severely. Windows were smashed and doors torn from automobiles carrying men who sought to go to work within the plant.

Men and women—kicking, punching, shoving, mauling and screaming—struggled to prevent policemen, who swung night sticks and punched in turn, from clearing a path through the massed pickets for ten men.

Pickets Storm Workers' Car.

Shortly after 9 o'clock an automobile arrived with six men. Pickets rushed the car. Stones and bricks were thrown at the windows. Sticks bearing strikers' placards were pounded on the car.

Policemen, afoot and mounted, closed in, attempting to stem the rush. The six men did not try to alight. The car, with windows broken and a door torn off, sped away with them.

The pickets resumed parading. The police drew back and reformed their lines. Two ambulances arrived. Crowds of curious swelled on the sidelines. Then up rolled a second automobile, carrying four men.

Second Car Damaged.

Again the pickets divided forces, rushing the car and massing before the plant entrance. Police moved in again. Stones and bricks were thrown, every window in the car was broken, and out leaped the four passengers.

The strikers are members of the United Electrical and Radio Workers of America, an affiliate of the Committee for Industrial Organization. Their spokesmen said they demanded a closed shop and wage increases. The management, they said, had offered to discuss wages, but refused to consider a closed shop agreement.

Owners Take Strikers' Places.

In another strike sector twenty-eight owners of trucks engaged in the flour trucking business made personal deliveries under police guard in defiance of a strike of drivers which began a week ago. A bread shortage is feared.

The owners said they would not hire strike breakers but that they intended to continue making deliveries until the strike is ended.

MRS. HELEN KAHN.

Mrs. Helen Amato Kahn, 24 years old, 2901 Augusta boulevard, yesterday asked Judge John J. Lupe to grant her complete custody of her son, Donald Lee, 7, who is now with her former husband, Joseph Amato, 6541 West 16th street, Berwyn. Mrs. Kahn, who has remarried, accused Amato of breaking a provision of their divorce decree by sending Donald to a public instead of a private school. Judge Lupe ordered a social service investigation. Mrs. Kahn was represented by Attorney Harry X. Cole. Milton Sabath represented Amato.

FRENCH FASCIST BRANDED TRAITOR BY EX-PREMIER

De La Rocque Took Bribes, Tardieu Charges.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 15.—Col. Francois de la Rocque, decorated ex-soldier who built a veterans' organization called the Cross of Fire into a powerful Fascist political group which more than once threatened the government of France, was branded a traitor by former Premier Andre Tardieu in a lied!" but so stormy was the court-stormy slander trial today.

Tardieu flung his accusation at the powerful Fascist leader while testifying as a witness in De la Rocque's suit against 15 men who, he charges, slandered him by accusing him of accepting secret funds from the government.

Tardieu declared it was true that the funds were accepted by De la Rocque, head of the French Social party since his Fascist Croix de Feu [cross of fire] was outlawed by government decree.

Tells of of Paying $8,300.

The former premier testified that he paid De la Rocque $8,300 as a bribe to support the government, shouting as he ended his testimony:

"De la Rocque is a traitor. He always has been a worker for his own profit. I address myself to the fine men [war veterans] he betrayed and affirm that in telling the truth about their unworthy chief it is they I wish to serve."

The former premier said that his successor, Pierre Laval, made additional payments to De la Rocque after Tardieu went out of office.

De la Roque cried: "Tardieu has lied!" but so stormy was the court-room at this point that he was barely heard.

Tardieu shouted back: "The saying, 'a liar like De la Roque,' has become a proverb. De la Roque is the last person to give me that insult."

The defendants, including leading politicians and writers, took the stand earlier and admitted accusing the plaintif of accepting the "secret funds." In the course of the testimony, De la Roque admitted that in letters to Tardieu he had declared: "I am prepared to put myself at your orders." The hearing will be continued tomorrow.

Long a Storm Center.

De la Rocque has been a storm center in French politics ever since he joined the war veterans' Cross of Fire back in 1927. The announced aim of the group after De la Rocque won control of it was to "maintain the republic," even if in doing so it should be necessary to dissolve parliamentary government.

Fascist agitation by the organization led to numerous riots and clashes with French radicals. So powerful was De la Rocque that in 1935 the cabinet was threatened with downfall in a split over the question of dissolving the Fascist group.

The Cross of Fire finally was banned by the government, and De la Rocque then emerged as head of the French Social party, which the government charged was merely the old group in disguise.

When Leon Blum became premier and sought last April to disband De la Rocque's new party, De la Rocque defied him, declaring that the membership of 2,000,000 "cannot be destroyed or suppressed."

Be Extra Careful about STUBBORN COLDS

Relieve their misery this PROVED Way

Too often, the cold that "hangs on" is a result of neglect . . . and neglect of colds is risky at any point. Be extra careful of a stubborn cold. But the safest course is to be careful of all colds. Don't experiment. Relieve the misery of colds this doubly proved way.

Here's What To Do: It's best to stay in bed and get lots of rest. Eat lightly, drink plenty of water, and keep elimination regular. And use your dependable Vicks VapoRub without delay.

VapoRub has been proved by everyday use in more homes than any other medication of its kind—further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds. (Full details in every VapoRub package.) Only Vicks give you proof like this.

No Long Waiting for Relief to Begin...

Vicks VapoRub is direct external treatment. No "dosing"—no risk of stomach upsets. You simply massage it on throat, chest, and back (as illustrated). Then—to make its long-continued double action last even longer—spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

Almost before you finish rubbing, you begin to feel warm and comfortable as VapoRub goes to work direct through the skin like a poultice. At the same time its medicated vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are carried direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

This double action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation and coughing—helps break up local congestion. And long after restful sleep comes, VapoRub keeps right on working.

NOTE: If there is much irritation and coughing, or the air-passages feel clogged with heavy mucus or phlegm, even stronger vapor action is helpful. Pour boiling water in a bowl, melt a teaspoonful of VapoRub in it, and inhale the steaming vapors for several minutes.

NEW HAVEN LAWYER NAMED A.A.U. PRESIDENT

TUBBS THINKS MOVIES WOULD HELP OFFICIALS

Officials Think Same About Tubbs.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 15.—Irl Tubbs of Iowa, the newest coach in the Western conference, now has had one full season of football as it is played in the middle west states.

Irl Tubbs.

It all has been enlightening to him, he will tell you.

This energetic little man, who went from Miami university in Florida to Iowa, has watched his Hawkeyes go down in defeat in all five of their conference games and he knows there is plenty of room for improvement there.

But he has looked around, too, and found a few other weak spots which if strengthened might affect the conference as a whole.

He's a Man of Action.

When Mr. Tubbs comes to a decision like that he goes into action.

He invents something to cure the mistake. It's a habit with him.

In 1924 he didn't like the idea of blowing his lungs out to fill a football or basketball with air. Presto, he invented a valveless ball which is in use everywhere today.

Some time later he became annoyed at the voluminous football breeches which were in vogue.

Presto, he patented the elastic seated football pants which have beautified the gridiron ever since.

Followed in quick succession the newest form of cleat worn on a football shoe, the laceless football and the laceless basketball and a half dozen other smaller and less important inventions.

On royalties Mr. Tubbs is reported to be receiving more money than most Western conference coaches are paid in salary.

Now It's Officials.

Now he is concerned with the glaring mistakes or at least doubtful decisions made by referees, umpires, head linesmen, and field judges during an entire football season.

Mr. Tubbs says:

"I would like to see the Western conference okay a plan whereby moving pictures would be taken of every play in every conference football game.

"An authority on football who could see these mistakes with a stenographer and camera man would be all that was necessary except the camera and the film. Each time a doubtful decision arose the authority with the aid of the stenographer would write that particular play into the film.

"At the end of the season these marked plays would be woven into one film. All persons who officiated in these games would be required to sit in on a showing of the film.

"The first year or two this picture might be as long winded as a double feature," says Mr. Tubs, "but eventually it would have the desired effect of cutting down avoidable mistakes."

How About a Villain?

Tubbs thinks the film would become so short in time that a Mickey Mouse would have to be added to make sure that the officials would get their money's worth.

"And another thing," says Mr. Tubbs. "There would be no mad scramble to see what judges or referees were to be given the Rhett Butler and Scarlett O'Hara rôles."

"And how about Mr. Tubbs for the villain?" suggested one of the referees.

CHICAGO ILLINI CLUB TO HONOR ZUPPKE DEC. 2

The Illini club of Chicago will honor Robert C. Zuppke on his twenty-fifth anniversary as football coach at Illinois with a banquet on Dec. 2 in the Palmer house.

Deneen Watson, president of the Chicago Illini club, has appointed Red Grange as general chairman of the affair. Milton J. Spitz, class of 1917, who is chairman of the celebrity committee, announced yesterday that more than 100 leading football coaches and athletic directors will be guests.

"In addition there will be present more than 100 Illini who won 'I' sweaters playing football under Zuppke, ten who were named on All-America elevens, and other celebrities of baseball, track, and basketball," Mr. Spitz said.

Gov. Horner will be toastmaster. Addresses will be made by A. C. Willard, president of the university; Joe E. Brown, motion picture comedian, and Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of Big Ten athletics.

38 SOX, OLD AND NEW, WILL SEEK JOBS NEXT YEAR

Pitchers Predominate on Club Reserve List.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Unless James J. Dykes, the White Sox manager, does a little fancy pruning inside of the next few months, he will be a busy old man when he assembles his 1938 hopefuls at Pasadena, Cal., for spring training purposes.

The American league reserve list, officially announced yesterday, shows that 38 athletes of various ages and shapes have been assembled under the J. Louis Comiskey banner. Twenty-three of these are fellows who, with one exception, served throughout the 1937 season. The remaining 15 come under the heading of freshmen, although many of them either were up before for a cup of coffee or were given a chance to show themselves during the waning moments of the last race.

However, there may be trades or releases which will alter the complexion of the 38 man layout before the training grind gets under way.

Pitching Candidates Predominate.

Sox scouts, while wandering around in the sticks last summer, apparently concentrated on budding pitching talent. Seven of this variety were brought in, one being Italo Chelini, the southpaw who needs no introduction. The best of this particular part of the crop is supposed to be Bill Cox, who this fall was purchased from St. Paul, where he won 13 and lost 16 out of 44 games in which he participated. Cox originally was in the St. Louis Cardinals' chain gang but escaped when his owners were found guilty of trying to smuggle him from one minor circuit into another.

One of the incoming pitchers is Walter Zuehls, former University of Wisconsin athlete. Two of the pitchers, Jess Dobernic and George Gick, are graduates of the Rayne, La., club of the Evangeline league, so probably are destined for a season of development with the Dallas Texas league farm club.

Two Probably Will Stick.

The freshman class also includes two catchers, two outfielders and four infielders, the best of these, so far as is known, being Third Baseman Bill Martin, drafted from Baltimore, and Outfielder Rupert Thompson, selected from the San Diego Coast league team.

Unmindful of suggestions that because of his aged underpinning he is entitled to a place on the inactive list, Manager Dykes has kept himself among the playing eligibles, but he really hopes that he will not be needed. If he isn't able to make a deal for an experienced third sacker he will try to fill his former spot with either Martin or Mervin Connors, who prepped at Longview, Tex., before his tryout with the Sox last September, as understudy.

The complete Sox roster follows:

PITCHERS—Clint Brown, Merritt Cain, Bill Dietrich, Vernon Kennedy, Thornton Lee, Ted Lyons, John Rigney, Monty Stratton, John Whitehead, Italo Chelini, Frank Cook, William Cox, Jess Bodernie, George Gick, Robert Uhle, Walter Zuehls.

CATCHERS—Luke Sewell, Merv Shea, Tony Rensa, Clarence Finucane, Norman Schlueter.

INFIELDERS—Luke Appling, Louis Berger, Zeke Bonura, James Dykes, Jack Hayes, Tony Piet, Mervin Conners, Jess Landrum, William Martin, Thomas McBride.

OUTFIELDERS—Mule Haas, Mike Kreevich, Rip Radcliff, Larry Rosenthal, Fred Walker, Henry Steinbacher, Rupert Thompson.

POLICE GUARD HOWIE MORENZ JR. AFTER THREATS

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Warning that gangsters are planning to kidnap and hold for ransom Howie Morenz Jr., 10 year son of the late Montreal Canadiens hocky star, caused police to rush a heavy guard to the Morenz residence today.

Mrs. Mary Morenz, the boy's mother, reported to police that she had received half a dozen telephone warnings that her son would be abducted. A few days ago a sum of $25,000 was raised at a benefit game and placed in trust for Mrs. Morenz and Howie Jr.

Winter Must Be Near When This Committee Meets

This Illinois-Western Skating association committee met last night to allot ice skating dates for the coming season. The Tribune Silver Skates races were set for Jan. 15 and 16 at Garfield park. Chicago Faces Busiest Ice Skating Season

American speed skating interest will center in Chicagoland this winter, according to Earl W. Solem, president of the Illinois-Western Skating association, which last night allotted racing dates for the 1937-'38 season.

The biggest entry list in the history of the sport is expected this winter for the Chicago Tribune's Silver Skates Derby, which is set for Jan. 15-16, Solem said. To make certain of ideal ice conditions for the Silver Skates two additional dates were granted. In the event of adverse weather, the annual event will be held Jan. 22-23. The site of the two day classic will be Garfield park, but may be changed if better racing conditions prevail at some other park.

Greatest Need Is Ice.

"Early indications point to a record season for speed skating here," Solem said, "and with an even break from the weather man there should be from two to five times as many skaters competing in every Sunday afternoon event throughout the winter."

Ten organizations will hold Derbies in the Illinois district, with the first event scheduled for Dec. 26 at Garfield park, sponsored by the C. Y. O.

The Sleipner Skating club, oldest race sponsors in the United States, will hold its forty-third annual meet on Jan. 1 at Humboldt park, the same date and site the Sleipners have had since pioneering the sport at the turn of the century.

Elgin Gets Tri-State.

Elgin will be the scene of the tri-state meet Jan. 2. The national indoor races will be held at the Chicago arena on Feb. 26-'27. The Illinois state championship will be decided at Aurora on Jan. 30. Events scheduled:

C. Y. O. Derby, Dec. 26, at Garfield park.
Sleipner S. C. Derby, Jan. 1, at Humboldt park.
Tri-State meet, Jan. 2, at Lord's park, Elgin, Ill.
Northwest Derby, Jan. 9, at Humboldt park.
Tribune Silver Skates Derbies, Jan. 15-16, at Garfield park.
Olympic club meet, Jan. 22-23, at Garfield park.
Illinois state meet, Jan. 30, at Aurora, Ill.
Walton Athletic club Derby, Feb. 6, at Humboldt park.
Bidwell Athletic association Derby, Feb. 12, at Humboldt park.
National indoor meet, Feb. 26-27, at Chicago Indoor arena.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

WHEN young Bob Zuppke was substituted in the Illinois line in the Northwestern game at Dyche stadium John Kovatch, Northwestern end, greeted him with: "You have a brother, a father, a grandfather, an uncle, or somebody who coaches at Illinois, haven't you? No wonder you get into the game." . . . The Illinois player, who is a nephew of Coach Robert Zuppke, became so infuriated he leaped across the line and started swinging. . . . That was when the referee called members of the two squads together and gave them a heart to heart talk on gridiron etiquet. . . . The 35 to 10 licking Minnesota administered to Iowa was the biggest score ever run up on a team coached by Irl Tubbs. . . . Paul Berlenbach, who held the light heavyweight boxing championship from May, 1925, to July, 1926, is seeking a referee's license in Illinois. . . . He now is a resident of the south side. . . . Jack Benny has bought a race horse which will be heard from [he hopes] on the various tracks as Buck Benny. . . .

Slip Madigan blames the thinner football for the prevalence of fumbles this season. . . . The stress on speed and faster plays also is a factor, Madigan says, but the ball itself he holds more responsible. . . . The present ball, adopted nationally after its selection by the Big Ten, is more pointed and the cover is only one-sixteenth of an inch thick. . . . The old cover was one-eighth of an inch thick. . . . At least two new umpires are expected to be introduced in the American league next spring. . . . One is Eddie Rommel, former Athletic star, who worked in the International league last year. . . . The other is Bill Grieve, a graduate of the American association. . . . Bronko Nagurski will fly to Los Angeles for a wrestling match this week, but he will make no additional appearance until after the Bears end their football season. . . .

HAWKS PUT LID ON DRILLON, BUT HE TOPS SCORERS

Champion Red Wings Next Foe Thursday.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks Sunday night managed to stop Gordon Drillon cold, but even so the name of the brilliant young forward of the Toronto Maple Leafs appeared at the head of the National league scoring statistics announced yesterday in Montreal. Charley Conacher, who wasn't stopped cold by the Hawks Sunday night, he having made two of the three goals with which the Leafs tied the Hawks, is runner-up in the tabulations.

And speaking of those Montreal statistics, it is perhaps noteworthy that Doc Romnes, the Hawk who was out of twenty-two of the Hawks' forty-eight games last season, is tied for third among the league's scorers by virtue of two goals and three assists. Romnes, Harvey Jackson of the Leafs and Marty Barry of the Red Wings each has five points.

Drillon Collects Eight Points.

Drillon has made four goals and four assists to lead the parade with eight points, one more than Conacher boasts as a result of five goals and two assists.

The Hawks finished as strenuous a week as they will experience all season in possession of a tie for the American division leadership, but while they are twiddling their thumbs in idleness tonight they may yield to teams that will be playing. If the Boston Bruins beat the Montreal Maroons tonight they will break their tie in the league standings and take undisputed leadership. And if the New York Rangers beat the New York Americans they will go ahead of the Hawks by a point.

Red Wings Next Foe.

The Hawks Thursday night will have a chance to regain any ground they may lose during their idleness tonight. But they will not have a soft touch. The world champion Red Wings will come to town and that means plenty of hard work for Bill Stewart's boys. The showing the Hawks made against the great Leafs Sunday night and their 3 to 0 victory over the Rangers in New York last week has caused Hawk followers to concede their heroes at least an even chance to topple the Detroit aggregation.

There was no rigorous practice for the Hawks at the Chicago Arena yesterday. However, Manager Stewart did call out some of the lads for a hocky lesson. The list of pupils included Roger Jenkins who was signed for general utility service after he had convinced Mr. Stewart that he still can skate.

Most Frequently Traded Player.

Jenkins had become a free agent after winning the reputation of being hocky's most frequently traded young player. Since turning pro with the Hawks in the 1930-'31 season he has been with the Canadiens, Maroons, Bruins, Leafs, and Americans.

Most of Jenkins' experience has been as a defense man, but he played a whole season as a right winger with the Maple Leafs. He probably will be given a thorough tryout at defense especially if Hawk opponents keep skating around the men now listed as defense men on the Hawk roster. Lead is not standard equipment in the seats of the Hawks' beautiful new tights, but some arch fiend seems to have slipped in a large quantity of the heavy metal, if one may judge by the way the defense men assume the roles of May poles while visiting forwards circle about them.

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The New York Giants have sent Phil Weintraub, first baseman and outfielder from their Jersey City farm to the Baltimore Orioles of the International league in part payment for Harold [Hy] Vandenberg, right-hand pitcher, the Giant office announced today.

FIGURES FAIL TO SUPPORT WARNER IN RAP AT RULES

Scoreless Ties Few, but His Team Has Been Held to Four

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Glenn S. Warner, coach at Temple university and prominent in collegiate football for more years than the average fan can remember, has burst into print with a criticism of what he calls the prevalence of scoreless ties this season. As a veteran coach, whose offensive maneuvers with the double wing back system of attack have become familiarly known as the Warner system, his opinions merit consideration.

Pop Warner has led other crusades to change the rules in the interest of increased scoring, since it is a common belief that the public is more interested in touchdowns than in unsuccessful marches toward touchdowns. Some of these fights on the rules, however, were designed to limit the attack. One of these a decade ago resulted in the present rule which requires that players on the offense must come to a stop for at least one second after a shift.

Ruling on Shift Slows Up Attack.

The late Knute Rockne believed that the rules against the shift were aimed at the attack he taught at Notre Dame. And today many coaches will agree that removal of the one second period restriction on the shift, and requiring only that the shift come to a stop, will overcome the alleged advantages of the defense based on the frequent changes in defensive formations.

There are a few college coaches who would be willing to adopt the professional football rule which permits a forward pass to be thrown from any point behind the line of scrimmage.

But all of these discussions are predicated on the assumption that this year's games have resulted in a large number of scoreless ties and in low scoring games. A survey refutes the assertion, for in the Big Six conference the average number of points per game scored so far this season is 16.3. From this figure the number of points scored per game in the organized conferences of the country range upward to 25.9 points per game in the Missouri Valley.

Points Plentiful Figures Indicate

A table giving the names of the conferences, the number of games, the total points, and points scored per game follows:

Conference—	G.	T.P.	A.P.G.
Big Ten	22	391	17.1
Rocky Mountain	31	739	23.8
Southwestern	16	321	20.06
Southern	32	779	24.3
Southeastern	27	622	23.0
Pacific Coast	24	452	18.8
Big Six	12	195	16.3
Missouri Valley	13	337	25.9
Little Nineteen	48	809	16.8

G.—Games. T. P.—Total points. A. P. G.—Average points per game.

In thirty-one games in the Rocky Mountain conference there has been only one tie game. In forty-eight games in the Little Nineteen conference, the largest number of contests in any conference, there have been eight tie games, the largest number.

Warner's Team Held to Four Scoreless Ties.

The following table gives the names of the other seven conferences, the number of games, the number of tie games, and the number of scoreless ties:

Conference—	G.	T.	S.T.
Big Ten	22	1	0
Southwestern	16	3	0
Southern	32	2	0
Southeastern	27	1	1
Pacific Coast	24	6	3
Big Six	12	2	1

G.—Games. T.—Number ties. S. T.—Number scoreless ties.

Since the eastern teams are not listed in any conference the tabulation would not be complete without a search of all eastern scores. But in this group of games it might be noted that Temple, coached by Warner, has played four scoreless ties this season, the record for the nation's major elevens. Temple has engaged in scoreless ties with Mississippi, Boston college, Holy Cross, and Bucknell. It is apparent that Warner's view of the necessity of limiting the defense or spurring the offense is biased by his own team's unusual record.

SAMUEL HOYT IS CHOICE OF MAHONEY BLOC

Move to Compromise with Colleges.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The threatened rift in the ranks of the National Amateur Athletic union was closed today almost before it took form when Judge Samuel E. Hoyt, 61 year old New Haven track official, unanimously was elected president as the forty-ninth annual convention closed on a note of harmony.

Samuel E. Hoyt.

Judge Hoyt, who claims to have no set A. A. U. policy in mind and no axe to grind, politically or otherwise, succeeds Judge Jeremiah T. Mahoney of New York, leader last year in the fruitless movement to prevent the appearance of American athletes at the Olympic games in Berlin because of the anti-Jewish activities of Nazi officials.

Judge Hoyt's chief interest is in track and field competition, in which he has been an official for more than twenty-five years. He has served as referee at national and intercollegiate track meets on many occasions. He is a graduate of Yale university, class of 1897.

Former Public Defender.

Upon completion of his law studies at the same school in 1899, he took a minor hand in Connecticut politics and soon will enter upon his eleventh year as state's attorney in New Haven. Prior to that he had been public defender and judge in the Municipal court.

Hoyt was named as the candidate by an influential bloc led by Retiring President Mahoney, which included Daniel J. Ferris of New York, secretary-treasurer, and Charles Hunter of the Olympia club, San Francisco, vice president of the A. A. U.

The judge's selection was another surprise move in the A. A. U.'s decision to seek a more harmonious relationship with the National Collegiate Athletic association, which organization seeks greater collegiate representation on the American Olympic committee in boxing, swimming, track and field, and eight-oared rowing.

Brundage Foregoes Caucus.

As further evidence of its sincerity in seeking a better understanding with the collegiate body, the A. A. U. today appointed a committee to confer with N. C. A. A. leaders. The committee includes the new president, A. C. Gilbert of New Haven, Conn., Ferris, Ward Haylett of Kansas State Teachers college, James Richardson of Oregon, Murray Hurlburt of New York, J. Lyman Bingham of Chicago, Charles L. Ornstein of New York, and Frank E. Lowe of Portland, Me.

Hoyt's name came before the convention when Avery Brundage of Chicago, who last night had called a caucus to select a slate, apparently changed his mind. At that time it was rumored Brundage, president of the American Olympic association and a former chief of the A. A. U., might be a candidate for the office himself. Brundage made it clear today, however, that he was not a candidate because of the duties involved in his Olympic games position.

The four vice presidents also were elected unanimously. They are the Messrs. Lowe, Richardson, Haylett, and Van Camp, first, second, third, and fourth vice presidents, respectively.

The convention adjourned without selecting a site for next year's meeting.

HOPPE LEADS SCHAEFER IN 18.1 MATCH, 500-154

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Willie Hoppe, successfully launched the defense of his world's professional 18.1 balkline billiard championship today. In the opening two blocks of a 3,000 point challenge match with Jake Schaefer of Chicago he enjoyed a 500 to 154 lead. Hoppe captured the afternoon test, 250-87, in seven innings. Returning to the table at night, with the position of the ivories unchanged, Hoppe emerged with a 250-67 triumph in the second block, which required six innings.

CARDINALS, LIONS REFUSE TO GIVE UP TITLE HOPES

Therefore Sunday's Game Is Important to Both.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

In some quarters it is taken for granted that the western division champion in the National league will be either the Bears or Green Bay. There are others, however, including Maine and Vermont, where such an assumption is considered most presumptuous. One of these is Detroit; another is the Cardinal's camp.

Detroit and the Cardinals meet Sunday at Wrigley field in a contest in which each will be striving to keep alive a mathematical chance for a tie in the pennant race. The hopes of each are based on the possibility that the Bears will find trouble in remaining games with the Louis and Cardinals and that New York and Washington can do something about stopping the Packers.

The Cards are Ready.

Aside from the remote titular aspects, the game will afford the Cardinals an opportunity to avenge an early season defeat at Detroit. Schedule vagaries provide the Cardinals with a two weeks' recess and Coach Milan Creighton has utilized the respite to get his team into perfect shape for a supreme effort against the Lions, who have been the league's most persistent winners over his squad.

Detroit was most impressive against New York Sunday, bracing after an embarrassing first period to defeat the Giants, 17 to 0. Only the Bears and Packers have succeeded in defeating Coach Dutch Clark and his squad, the Packers accomplishing the feat twice. The Giant game indicated that Clark has his club playing better ball than it did in any previous contest, but whatever improvement he has been able to make in the Lions will be offset by the increased offensive strength of the Cardinals since their first meeting. There also is the fact that the Cardinals will be rested and without injury while the Lions returned to Detroit bearing many a reminder of Sunday's vicious encounter.

Bears Refuse to Rest.

The Bears, idle now until they meet the Lions at Detroit Thanksgiving morning, returned to work yesterday, despite the off day in their schedule this week. Coach George Halas is eager to get as much work behind the squad as possible before the Detroit trip, which last year resulted in the most humiliating defeat a Bear team has suffered in seasons. Drills are scheduled every day this week, with Sunday devoted to a mass scouting expedition to Wrigley field, where the entire squad will study the Lions from the stands.

Up at Green Bay, Coach Curley Lambeau awaited big George Sauer, the former Nebraska full back, who was to rejoin the club after closing the University of New Hampshire's season. Sauer took a leave of absence after the All-Star game last September to coach New Hampshire. He will be used at left half back as relief for Bobby Monnett when the Packers open their two weeks' eastern invasion at New York on Sunday.

CORNELL STAR WINS TITLE IN CROSS COUNTRY

New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Howard W. Welch, gangling Cornell senior, broke Michigan State's monopoly of the intercollegiate cross-country race today as he won the individual crown, but the Spartans turned back nearly a score of eastern schools to capture the team title for the fifth successive year.

Racing on a rain soaked course over Van Cortlandt park's hills and valleys, Welch covered the five miles in the good time of 26 minutes and 54 seconds.

Welch's teammates found the pace too swift today, however, Cornell winding up fifth in the battle for team honors. Michigan State retained the title with the low aggregate of 59 points, considerably more than last year, but good enough to give the midwesterners a 10 point advantage over Syracuse.

ARCHIBALD REID OF ST. ANDREWS TO HEAD U. S. G. A.

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Archibald M. Reid, a member of the St. Andrews club, Hastings-on-Hudson, will be the next president of the United States Golf association, succeeding John G. Jackson, New York attorney. That was learned today when the report of the nominating committee was made public. Nomination is tantamount to election.

Reid, a son of the late John Reid, one of the founders of St. Andrews, generally regarded as the first organized golf club in America, has been an official of the U. S. G. A. since 1932—secretary in 1933 and 1934 and a vice president thereafter.

Pierce Will Be Vice President.

Succeeding him as vice president will be Harold W. [Hal] Pierce, a member of the Country club, Brookline, Mass., who has been treasurer of the association. Jess A. Sweetser of Siwanoy, Bronxville, a former national and British amateur champion who was appointed to the executive committee two years ago, will take Pierce's place as treasurer.

Col. R. Arthur Wood of Exmoor, Highland Park, Ill., will retain his place as a vice president, while Frank M. Hardt of Merion, Haverford, Pa., remains as secretary. Charles W. Littlefield of Montclair, N. J., will succeed Morton G. Bogue of the National Golf Links of America as counsel.

The personnel of the U. S. G. A. otherwise will remain practically the same as in 1937. The only new appointee to the executive committee is Thomas Telfer of Claremont, Oakland, Cal.

These Retain Places.

Those who will retain their places on this committee are George W. Blossom Jr., Onwentsia, Lake Forest, Ill.; Edward L. Cheney, the Country club, Celveland; Paul P. Farrens, Alderwood, Portland, Ore.; Perry E. Hall, Gulph Mills, Bridgeport, Pa.; W. P. Nicholson, Denver; Charles V. Rainwater, Atlanta A. C.; Telfer, and Bogue.

Willie Lewis, south side heavyweight, was awarded a two round decision over Warren Pumphrey when the latter was unable to continue due to a cut left eye. Lewis fought in place of Jack Stamper.

In the first match Eddie Helstrom, Rogers Park welterweight, and Owen Woods boxed a four round draw.

N. U. GETS REST AND PRAISE FOR POWERFUL STAND

Starts Intensive Work for Notre Dame Today.

As a reward for the fine performance against Minnesota, Coach Lynn Waldorf called off all practice for Northwestern's football squad yesterday. Intensive drills will be resumed again today in preparation for the final game of the season against Notre Dame at Dyche stadium Saturday.

The annual clash between the two teams will be played before a capacity crowd of 47,000. Ted Payseur, Northwestern ticket manager, announced yesterday that only 2,000 tickets in the end stands remain unsold.

Coach Waldorf was pleased with the team's showing against the Gophers, stating that it was by far the best performance turned in this season. He had praise for all the players who saw action, particularly the guards and John Haman, center, who effectively bottled up Minnesota's power attack.

Wildcats Use 30 Players.

Northwestern used thirty players against Minnesota, the largest number to see action in any game since the Iowa State contest. Twelve of the thirty were sophomores. At one stage of the game, the Wildcats had nine sophomores in the lineup.

The Wildcats probably will retain the same revamped back field that started against Minnesota. This combination consisted of Don Heap and Bob Swisher, half backs; Fred Vanzo, quarter back, and Jay Laskey, full back. It was Swisher's first appearance at right half in three years and he celebrated the occasion with his best running performance of the year.

Swisher sustained a leg injury in the third quarter of the Minnesota game, and it will not be known definitly for several days whether he will be able to take his place in the lineup against Notre Dame. Erwin Wegner, veteran center, may be sufficiently recovered from the leg injury that kept him out of the Minnesota game to play against Notre Dame.

NOTRE DAME HAS DAY OFF.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Whether Coach Elmer Layden will use his new version of the shock troop plan against Northwestern at Evanston Saturday was in doubt today, as he gave the entire squad a day's rest.

He started the first line and second back field against Army Saturday, relieving this group with the second line and first back field. It was the starting combination which scored the winning touchdown against the Cadets, with Ed Simonich taking the ball over in three plunges from the 14 yard line. Chuck O'Reilly, quarter back, added the extra point. Layden said he might rely on the same combinations against the Wildcats.

Len Skoglund, left end; Bill Hofer, quarter back, and Walter [Babe] Marshall, right guard, who were unable to play Saturday, probably will be available for the Wildcat game. Bunny McCormick, right half; Paul Kell, right tackle, and Simonich, full back, who were hurt in the Army game, also are expected to be on deck this week.

MAROONS OPEN FINAL DRIVE FOR BIG TEN VICTORY

Chicago's varsity, which took time out from its preparations for Illinois to defeat Beloit last Saturday, yesterday resumed rehersals for its final game of the season at Champaign this week. A scrimmage yesterday, another today, and a third contact session tomorrow, will mark the close of heavy workouts.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy indicated yesterday that he will start the team that played Michigan against the Illini. This group has Hamity at quarter back, Sherman and Valorz at halves, and Goodstein at full back, with Pierce playing center.

Maroons Still Hope.

The Maroons still have hopes of winning a Big Ten game. They reason that if Illinois could score a major upset in defeating Northwestern they can do likewise in upsetting Illinois. Kyle Anderson, who scouted Illinois, reported that the Illini appeared to be let down at Ohio State, after their big effort against the Wildcats, but probably will be back in top shape for the final game.

Both the Maroons and the Illini lost to Michigan by one point, but Illinois was 20 points better than Chicago against Ohio State.

All last week the Chicago first string team devoted itself perfecting some new offensive maneuvers for Illinois. This week defense will dominate the drills.

REEDER BACK WITH ILLINOIS.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Jim Reeder, sophomore, will be able to play left tackle against Chicago here Saturday, it was announced today. Reeder will relieve Harry Lasater, who started against the Buckeyes at Columbus, but sustained a dislocated shoulder. Fears that Reeder also would be incapacitated were dissipated when the sophomore lineman was reported as certain to be in condition.

Coach Bob Zuppke gave the players who saw most of the action against Ohio State a rest today. The return to condition of John Kirschke provided more replacements at tackle. The Joliet sophomore may replace Cramer on the right side.

SHEPHERD DOGS TO SHOW HOW TO OBEY ORDERS

German shepherd dogs will give an exhibition of obedience to orders during the Western Specialty club's show at the Coliseum next Saturday and Sunday.

Amateur trained German shepherds will be judged on five points. In the first test the dog must walk on a leash at the left side of his master with his head always in line with the master's knee without pulling at the leash. When the master stops the dog must stop, too, and sit down at the master's left side. The second test is the same as the first except that no leash is used.

In the third test the dog must answer his master's call, must walk around him and sit down at his left side. In the fourth test the dog must sit down for one minute. In the last he must lie down at command and stay there for three minutes.

PRINCETON HEARS OPPOSITION RISE AGAINST CRISLER

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The anvil chorus is beating its angry rhythm today in the vicinity of Fritz Crisler.

Fritz Crisler.

The man who was accepted as Princeton's football saviour when he took up his duties there in 1932 is learning that sounds other than cheers and gestures other than back-slapping can be made by Princeton partisans. Princeton's 26 to 0 defeat at the hands of Yale last Saturday has intensified the discontent with Crisler's régime.

"He was a great guy when he had it," you now hear—and the "it" refers to the Kadlics, Kalbaughs, Cullinans, Stoesses, Lanes, Wellers, Le Vans, and Sandbachs. "But," the comment continues, "without the cream of the prep school crop he hasn't much to offer."

Same Old Story.

In other words, the old story—a story familiar to every coach who has had a losing season—is being recited, with Crisler as the goat, and with more emphatic bitterness because, for the last six years Tiger teams coached by him held a place among the football elite.

The Tigers had only one thing to do on Saturday—stop Yale's Clint Frank. Their failure to do so—and they had merely to stop his running, not his passing, for Yale did not use an aerial play all afternoon—is clearly shown in the fact Frank scored all four of Yale's touchdowns to compile the greatest individual point total ever to be made in the long history of the Yale-Princeton relationship.

Frank Is Elusive.

Stopping Clint Frank is, of course, a man's job. The moment he laid hands on the ball—it was on the first scrimmage play of the game—he ran seventy-eight yards to a touchdown.

In some instances the tactical plan seemed at fault. The Tiger ends, instead of charging in upon the Yale running formation, spent the afternoon drifting, presumably to apprehend passes which never came. Frank's first scoring run was predicated on the envelopment of a drifting end. So was his third touchdown run.

15 Ohio State Players to End Careers in Michigan Game

Columbus, O., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Fifteen Ohio State seniors started preparation today for their last college football game, which will be played against Michigan at Ann Arbor Saturday.

The departure of these men will take away nine regulars, all starters, and six replacements.

The graduating men include Co-Captains Ralph Wolf and James McDonald, Dick Nardi, Nick Wasylik, Jim Miller, Charles Ream, Fred Crow, Sol Maggied, Gust Zarnas, Warren Chrissinger, Tom Monahan, George Haddad, George Novotny, Victor Dorris, and William Hargreaves.

Attendance Totals 274,432.

The homecoming crowd which saw the Illinois game, 41,921, brought the total home attendance for the Buckeyes this year to 274,432, a new record for Ohio State.

Alex Schoenbaum turned up in training headquarters with a badly sprained ankle which may keep him out of the Michigan game. Wolf has a shoulder injury. McDonald's knee is stiff again. Maggied's back was hurt in the Illinois game, and he is not in the best condition for training this week.

MICHIGAN IN GOOD SHAPE.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Michigan's football team will be at its best, physically and mentally, when it meets Ohio State here Saturday, according to Coach Harry Kipke.

The Wolverines' fourth victory in a row, at the expense of Pennsylvania Saturday, is an important factor in the squad's mental condition, the coach believes.

With Norm Purucker's kicking and Stark Ritchie's running and passing the feature of the Pennsylvania game, that pair seems assured of starting posts this week.

MARQUETTE SHIFTS ENDS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Changes were made at the end positions today as Marquette prepared to close its football season against Duquesne here Saturday.

HAWKEYES REST, PLAN.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa football squad rested today following the Indiana game here Saturday in which the Hawkeyes were defeated, 3 to 0.

Coach Tubbs indicted he would drill the team on offense this week in an effort to provide a scoring punch for the Nebraska game next Saturday at Lincoln. This will be the last one of the season for the Hawkeyes.

The Hawkeyes are in good condition.

SEVEN HUSKIES HURT.

Lincoln Neb., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Injuries to seven Nebraska football players dismayed followers today as the Cornhuskers opened preparations for Saturday's game with Iowa.

Harris Andrews and Johnny Howell, who do most of the Huskers' passing, suffered hand injuries in the Pittsburgh game last Saturday and doctors indicated Center Charley Brock may have suffered a broken hand.

Backs Jack Dodd and Bill Callihan, Guard Lowell English, and End Lloyd Grimm also were on the ailing list. Brock, English, and Grimm were the only ones who did not turn out for practice. Coach Biff Jones sent his reserves through a signal drill, gave the players a look at Iowa plays, and then showed them motion pictures of the Pitt game.

Alpha Tau Omega Holds Football Banquet Thursday

The Chicago Alumni association of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity will hold its annual football banquet at the Hamilton club Thursday night. James Weber Linn of the University of Chicago faculty will speak.

GOPHERS PREPARE TO CLOSE SEASON LIKE CHAMPIONS

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Minnesotas football squad, with four straight victories—three of them over first division teams—and one to go for an undisputed Big Ten title, took it easy today as work began for the Wisconsin game next Saturday.

Horace Bell, colored place kicker and guard who has kicked five extra points in a row, reported with a broken nose today. Kulbitski, center, was suffering from a lacerated face.

Rudy Gmitro had recovered from his tonsilitis attack, which almost put him out of the Northwestern game. Schultz and Moore also were improved.

All players will be ready Saturday. Tomorrow the squad will get down to the business of building a defense for the third foe using the Notre Dame system this year. The third straight crowd of 60,000 is anticipated.

BENZ LEADS BADGERS.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The 23 players who participated in the Purdue game Saturday were excused after a short limbering up drill today as Coach Harry Stuhldreher sent the Badgers through a light workout in preparation for the season finale at Minneapolis Saturday.

Fred Benz, senior left end from Milwaukee, has been named acting captain for the game. In addition to Benz, four other players will end their intercollegiate careers in the Minnesota game. They are Neil Pohl, center; Walter Cole and Erv Johnson, guards, and Vernon Peak, end. Erv Windward, senior quarter back, was forced to quit ten days ago because of injuries.

Wisconsin emerged from the Purdue game without serious injuries. The only casualty of consequence is Bronko Malesevich, who had several teeth knocked loose.

The Wisconsin-Minnsota rivalry, oldest in the middle west, began in 1890 and was interrupted only once.

Indiana Seeks Defense for Purdue Backs

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Canceling the usual Monday layoff, Coach Bo McMillin plunged the Indiana university team into a week of secret practice today in preparation for the Purdue game here Saturday.

Most of today's drill was devoted to defense. "Unless we can bolster our defense," Coach McMillin asserted, "Purdue's fast backs will riddle our line."

Capt. Jack Kenderdine, end, who played only five minutes against Iowa last week because of an injured ankle, was back in the lineup today and is expected to be ready Saturday.

PURDUE WANTS BUCKET.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—"Only six more days to get that bucket," proclaimed a huge sign that appeared on the Purdue campus today as the Boilermakers, weakened by the loss of Capt. Martin Schreyer, left tackle, launched preparation for the season's football final with Indiana at Bloomington Saturday.

Schreyer's costly knee injury will move Joe Mihal, junior from Gary, into the left tackle post as the Boilermakers go in quest of the old oaken bucket which slipped from their grasp in 1934 when Indiana scored a surprise 17 to 6 victory.

MEMBER BANKS CONTRACT LOANS BY 25 MILLIONS

Advances to Business Continue Rise.

Despite an increase in business loans, a further small decrease in total loans was reported yesterday by federal reserve system member banks in 101 principal cities of the United States in the week ended Nov. 10.

The statement issued yesterday by the reserve board showed a decline of 46 million dollars in loans and investments. Loans were down 25 millions, principally because of a 23 million dollar decline in real estate loans and a further drop of 24 millions in loans to brokers and dealers.

Business Loans Expand.

Commercial, industrial, and agricultural loans, on the other hand, expanded 19 million dollars, reversing the trend of recent weeks.

The banks reported a decline of 5 million dollars in holdings of direct or guaranteed government bonds and a decline of 16 millions in other securities held.

Demand deposits increased 47 millions, time deposits were up 24 millions, and government deposits were down 31 millions.

STEEL MAKERS SPREAD WORK AS OUTPUT DIPS

National Rate Slips to 36.4 Per Cent.

Operations in the steel industry were scheduled this week at 36.4 per cent of ingot capacity, a decline of 4.6 points or 11.2 per cent from the 41 per cent production schedule a week ago, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated yesterday. In the Chicago area, where production slumped 8.9 points to 26.1 per cent of capacity, leading steel companies reported staggering of employment to avoid wholesale layoffs.

J. L. Hyland, who reports letdown in steel production.

The national rate of 36.4 per cent compares with a schedule of 55.8 per cent a month ago and 74.1 per cent a year ago. Except for the five day week beginning July 1, 1935, which included the Independence day holiday always observed by the industry, the current rate is the lowest since the end of 1934. The depression low was about 16 per cent in March, 1933.

Recent Decline Is Sharp.

In the nine weeks since Sept. 13, production has fallen to the present level from 80.4 per cent, a decline of 44 points or 36.4 per cent. From the peak 1937 level of 92.3 per cent reached for the week of April 26 the current rate represents a decline of 55.9 points or 60.6 per cent.

The present rate of 26.1 per cent in the Chicago area represents a decline of 16.8 points in the last month. Leading companies said that so far they have been able to avoid wholesale layoffs by dividing the available work and by stepping up repair and maintenance programs.

Some men actually have been cut from the pay rolls, it was admitted. Several steel officials agreed that a further decline in the operating rate or a long period at present schedules of production would require layoff of many workers. Of the men actually laid off, almost all were said to be new employés or temporary workers.

Work Less Than 30 Hours.

The staggering of employment has resulted in many workers having 30 hours or less employment a week. At the peak of steel production in the spring the workers were getting much overtime in addition to their regular shifts of 40 hours a week.

Republic Steel corporation, Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, Inland Steel company, and Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, subsidiary of United States Steel corporation, report curtailed operations. J. L. Hyland, district manager of Republic, made the following statement yesterday:

"Republic Steel corporation's operations in the Chicago district have been curtailed as the result of a decline in business. There has been no wholesale layoff, but most of the men are working on sharply curtailed schedules. Only three of the eight open harth furnaces at the South Chicago works are operating."

Others Control Operations.

"Our operations in the Chicago district have been sharply reduced," said a representative of Youngstown Steel. "We have laid off a limited number of new and temporary workers and are trying to balance the work by dividing it among our regular employés. Only three of our seven open harth furnaces are in operation."

Carnegie-Illinois reported that of approximately 45,00 workers on its payrolls in this district at the peak of production, around 40,000 are still working, although many are on part time.

Of the 39 blast furnaces in the Chicago area, only 17 were reported operating yesterday. Between 30 and 35 furnaces were going at the peak of production.

INVESTING UNIT OF DU PONTS PAYS $119 PER SHARE

New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The year end dividend windfall, partly shaken down by the federal surtax on undivided profits, brought a disbursement today of $39.30 a share on the common stock of Christiana Securities company, making the total for the year $119.80.

It put the company, a closely held investment unit of the du Pont interests, in the front rank of dividend payers. The 1937 payments topped its 1936 outlay of $118.10 a share and contrasted with $68 in 1935, and $57 in 1934.

The company at the end of last year held 3,049,000 E. I. du Pont de Nemours common shares and 90,150 General Motors common. Pierre S. du Pont is president.

Du Pont Votes $2 Dividend for Year-End

E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. yesterday declared a year-end dividend of $2 a share on common stock. Previously this year the company paid interim dividends of 75 cents on March 15, $2 on June 15, and $1.50 on Sept. 15. On Dec. 15, 1936, a dividend of $2 was paid.

An extra dividend of 65 cents a share and regular quarterly payment of 20 cents were voted on the common stock by directors of the American Laundry Machine company. The company paid an extra of 50 cents on Sept. 1.

A year-end dividend of 50 cents was ordered by Blaw-Knox company. This makes a total of $1.20 a share paid this year, compared with 80 cents in 1936.

Pay on Accumulations.

Directors of B-G Foods, Inc., voted the equivalent of three quarterly dividends or $5.25 a share on the 7 per cent preferred stock, to apply on arrearages. Accumulations on the issue after this payment will amount to $1.· a share.

Directors of the Dixie-Vortex company yesterday declared an extra dividend of 50 cents a share on common stock, bringing total dividend payments this year to $2 a share. The stock is on a regular $1.50 annual basis.

New York City Omnibus corporation announced a special dividend of $2.50 on its common stock. On Oct. 15 an initial payment of $2.40 was made.

Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt corporation ordered a 20 cent payment on common. Dividends of 15 cents each were made April 21, July 21, and Oct. 21.

Superior Portland Cement company announced a dividend on class B stock of $1.50 per share. The last payment on the issue was 12½ cents in 1933.

Simonds Saw and Steel company ordered payment of 80 cents a share on its capital stock, compared with a dividend of 50 cents paid in September. On the basis of the present shares, adjusted for the 10 for 1 split in May, this declaration brings dividends for 1937 to $2 a share.

WAGE EARNERS' COST OF LIVING SHOWS INCREASE

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The cost of living of wage earners increased 0.1 per cent from September to October, the National Industrial Conference board monthly survey showed today. Living costs were 4.4 per cent higher in October than in the corresponding 1936 month, 24.8 per cent more than in the spring of 1933, but 11.6 per cent lower than in October, 1929, the survey disclosed.

Food prices dropped 1 per cent in October, but rents advanced 0.7 per cent, clothing prices were up 0.3 per cent and coal prices increased 0.7 per cent. A rise of 0.8 per cent in the sundries index during October was attributed by the board primarily to an increase of 6.1 per cent in the index of admission charges to motion picture theaters.

Purchasing value of the dollar, using 1923 as 100, was 111.7 cents in October, this year, 111.9 cents in September, and 116.7 cents in October, 1936.

URGES UNIFIED LEGISLATION FOR TRUCK INDUSTRY

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Constructive unified legislation to replace the present maze of measures now governing truck transport was urged here today by Robert F. Black, president of the White Motor company, who spoke before 2,500 delegates at the American Trucking association's annual convention.

Black asked for the elimination of "the scrambled variety of so-called safety laws" in different states, and urged sane and uniform safety laws. He asserted the present resentment to trucks on highways, which is based on public feeling that trucks use public roads without paying for the privilege, is unfounded.

"Trucks represent about 14 per cent of all motor vehicles," he said, "yet they are paying nearly 27 per cent of all motor vehicle taxes."

HOW'S DOLLAR TODAY, MR. MORGENTHAU? TEMPERATURE NORMAL

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—"How is the dollar today?" a reporter asked Secretary Morgenthau at his press conference this afternoon.

"Very well, thank you," Morgenthau replied. "Temperature normal."

The dollar entered the discussion when the secretary said he did not know whether United States gold exports are temporarily at an end.

He declined to amplify the statement he made on taxes in his speech last week at New York, saying that any further discussion of this subject would come only if his testimony should be requested by a congressional committee.

BUT DOLLAR IS LOWER.

The dollar declined moderately yesterday in terms of European currencies on renewed selling of the American unit by continental Europeans. Pressure against the dollar was light, however, and foreign exchange markets in the United States and Europe were reported to be fairly quiet.

The British pound advanced 13-16 of a cent to $4.99⅝ and the French franc moved up 0.00¼ cent to 3.39 cents. The Swiss franc advanced 0.06 of a cent, the Belgian belga gained 0.04½ of a cent, and the Holland guilder rose 0.05 of a cent.

TEXAS ORDERS DRASTIC CUT IN OIL PRODUCTION

Austin, Tex., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The most drastic cut in oil production since the wells in the east Texas fields were closed by Gov. R. S. Sterlin in 1928, was ordered today by the railroad commission when it gave instructions that the 24,000 wells in the east Texas field must cease production during each of the next four consecutive Sundays and also ordered a reduction of 68,886 barrels daily in the current allowable output.

The east Texas field is producing an allowable of 485,000 barrels daily, and one day's cessation means a reduction of the state allowable of 69,280 barrels, or a total cut of 137,966 barrels daily. The state allowable as of Nov. 12, was 1,423,029 barrels daily.

The reason given by the commission for closing the wells was that it would enable production engineers to study reservoir conditions. The entire curtailment, however, was largely based on the decline in market demand for crude oil, it was said.

Commodities Slump; Index at New Low

Led by copper, hides, and rubber, most commodities for both immediate and future delivery slumped rather sharply yesterday. The Associated Press index of 35 cash staples again finished at a new 1937 low mark.

Copper futures declined 0.31 to 0.38 cent a pound on announcement that world refined copper stocks had increased at the end of October to 382,320 tons from 344,730 tons a month before and 356,780 tons a year ago. Domestic stocks totaled 181,840 tons on Oct. 31, against 144,320 tons a month earlier and 178,010 tons a year before. Domestic copper output showed a decline during October but was still well above a year ago.

Export Copper Unchanged.

Export copper held unchanged at 10.58 cents a pound, and custom smelters continued to quote domestic copper at 11 cents a pound, although there were indications late last week that they might raise their price to the 12 cent level charged by producers. One smelter raised the price of No. 1 copper scrap 0.25 cent to 8.75 cents a pound.

Tin for immediate delivery declined 0.25 cent to 45.50 cents a pound, and antimony was marked down 0.25 cent to 16.25 cents a pound. Lead for immediate delivery was unchanged at 5 cents a pound in New York and 4.85 cents a pound at East St. Louis despite a big increase in demand. The St. Joseph Lead company removed its restriction against selling to other than exclusive users.

Rubber Prices Decline.

Rubber futures declined 0.09 to 0.12 cent a pound, and crude rubber for immediate delivery sold 0.07 cent lower at 14.68 cents a pound. Hide futures tumbled 0.55 to 0.57 cent a pound. Silk futures were unchanged to 1½ cent a pound lower, but some grades of silk for immediate delivery showed small gains.

Santos coffee futures improved 0.10 to 0.15 cent a pound and Rio coffee futures gained 0.09 to 0.14 cent a pound. The cash coffee market was quiet and unchanged. Sugar futures finished unchanged to a shade lower. Both raw and refined sugar was unchanged.

SECURITIES FIRM GIVES UP LICENSE IN WISCONSIN

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The B. E. Buckman company, Madison, Wis., which has handled investments of hundreds of small Wisconsin securities buyers, announced today it is surrendering its license to do business in this state.

The disclosure was made as a hearing was started before the state securities division on complaints that the concern had disposed of listed and saleable securities of its customers for unlisted stocks in companies of doubtful value.

Counsel for a group of complainants who last Saturday filed charges against the company and demanded the return of $20,000 paid for stock of Condor Pictures sold by the Buckman company, announced the company had made a settlement with all complainants. The securities division ruled the hearing should continue.

39.5 PCT. OF MARGIN ACCOUNTS RESTRICTED OCT. 26, SEC REPORTS

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Thirty-nine and one-half per cent of the margin accounts of nineteen large stock exchange commission houses were restricted as of Oct. 26, five days before the lower margin requirements went into effect, according to a tabulation issued today by the Securities and Exchange commission. On Sept. 20 there were 47.1 per cent of such accounts restricted.

On Oct. 20 customers' equity in the restricted accounts amounted to approximately $82,000,000, while the equity in unrestricted accounts totaled $159,000,000.

The number of margin accounts in the nineteen houses declined from 54,733 on Sept. 20 to about 48,000 on Oct. 26, an indication of the large number of accounts which were closed out because of the break in prices in the second half of October.

Usually the SEC's restricted account tabulation figures are based on the condition as of the 20th of each month. Brokers were so busy Oct. 20, occasioned by sharp declines, that the 26th was selected instead. Figures which have been collected monthly since May by the SEC will be of little comparative value now since the federal reserve board reduced margin requirements from 55 per cent to 40 per cent effective Nov. 1. When an account is restricted no new commitment may be made unless the customer puts up additional margin.

MOVIE PRODUCING CONCERN FORMED BY CHICAGOAN

B. N. Judell, president of Judell, Inc., Chicago motion picture distributing concern, announced yesterday he has founded the Progressive Pictures corporation, Hollywood, which will enter the picture producing field in January.

Plans of the new corporation, according to Judell, call for work during the first year on 44 pictures, including 30 full length features, six special features and eight westerns. He said no announcement was yet ready about actors to be employed or studio properties to be leased.

The new company, like Judell, Inc., is a closed corporation. Judell, Inc., formed in 1925, now has branch offices in Milwaukee, St. Louis, and Indianapolis. Judell said he expects to open branches during 1938 in Detroit, Kansas City, San Francisco, and Los Angeles.

USE OF CHECKS SHOWS DROP IN TRADE ACTIVITY

Business activity as indicated by debits to individual bank accounts in the week ended Nov. 10 was less than in the preceding week but slightly larger than a year ago in the seventh federal reserve district.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago announced that debits of 162 banks in 41 leading clearing house cities of the district aggregated $1,067,523,000. This was a decrease of 15.7 per cent from the $1,266,154,000 of the preceding week and 1.4 per cent higher than the $1,053,054,000 in the corresponding 1936 week.

A large amount of the decline from 1936 was accounted for by Chicago banks. Their debits amounted to $575,322,000 in the week ended Nov. 10, compared with $633,418,000 in the week ended Nov. 11, 1936. Detroit, Indianapolis, and Milwaukee reported gains.

COURT REFUSES THIRD TIME TO UNSEAT BLACK

Wire Tapping Case Comes Next.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—[Special.] — For the third time the Supreme court refused today to consider a constitutional attack on the eligibility of Justice Hugo L. Black, the former Ku Klux Klansman, who was appointed by President Roosevelt last August. The petition which the court denied today was the second filed by Florida oil share dealers in a case involving the wholesale seizure of private telegrams by the Securities and Exchange commission.

Immediately after the denial without comment of this plea against Justice Black, the court began hearing arguments in another case involving the sanctity of private communications. Black, as chairman of the senate inquisitorial committee, participated in the wholesale seizure of private telegrams during the summer of 1936 and the pending case, for that reason, may cause him some embarrassment.

Question of Act's Provisions.

The question at issue is whether the Securities and Exchange commission act of 1934 prohibits the tapping of telephone wires to obtain evidence for prosecutions. This practice was severely condemned in a minority opinion of the court back in 1928 by two present "liberal" members of the court whom Black is wont to follow, Justices Louis D. Brandeis and Harlan F. Stone. Justice Black, on the other hand, has never evinced any solicitude for the sanctity of private communications.

In the celebrated Olmstead case, the Supreme court, by a 5 to 4 decision, upheld the tapping of telephone wires to win evidence against bootleggers. The late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes condemned the government as "playing an ignoble part," and Justice Brandeis wrote:

"As a means of espionage, writs of assistance and general warants are but puny instruments of tyranny and oppression when compared with wire tapping. To declare that in the administration of the criminal law the end justifies the means—to declare that the government may commit crimes in order to secure the conviction of a private citizen—would bring terrible retribution. Against this prenicious doctrin this court should resolutely set its face."

It's Liquor Smuggling Case.

In the pending case, Frank Carmine Nardone and other defendants in a New York liquor smuggling case, who were convicted on the basis of evidence obtained by tapping telephone wires, are appealing from a decision of the second Circuit Court of Appeals upholding their conviction. The government is relying on the Supreme court's 1928 decision, while the defendants rely upon this provision of the SEC act:

"No person not being authorized by the sender shall intercept any communication and divulge or publish the existence, contents, substance, purport, effect, or meaning of such intercepted communication to any person."

This was the provision of the act on which the District of Columbia Circuit Court of Appeals relied when it condemned the wholesale seizure of private telegrams by Black's committee and the Securities and Exchange commission as a violation of law.

Liberals Split on Decision.

The only decision handed down by the court today attracted interest because of the unusual lineup of the justices in their voting. In a 6 to 3 decision Black joined Justices Stone and Cardozo, two of the so-called liberals, in dissenting, while Justice Brandeis, another outstanding liberal, voted with the conservative majority.

The majority opinion, reversing a ruling of the 7th Circuit Court of Appeals, held that the Forty-One Thirty-Six Building corporation of Chicago could not be reorganized under section 77B of the bankruptcy act because it had been dissolved by the Cook county Superior court in accordance with an Illinois statute. The corporation owned the building at 4136 Wilcox avenue, which was sold in a foreclosure proceeding.

"How long and upon what terms a state-created corporation may continue to exist is a matter exclusively of state power," said the majority opinion, written by Justice George Sutherland.

The United States Pipe and Foundry company was denied a review of a Texas state court decision awarding the city of Waco, Tex., $237,159 for alleged fraudulent misrepresentation by the pipe company of the adequacy of conduit pipe.

Amer. Safety Razor Profits Show Decline

Profit in the first nine months of this year was $851,326, equal to $1.62 a share, compared with $906,525, or $1.73 a share, in the like 1936 period.

FEDERAL POLICIES REDUCE POWER FIRM'S SPENDING

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Government policy has forced the Alabama Power company to curtail its 1938 capital expenditure program to 4 million dollars, 1 million less than in 1937, Thomas W. Martin, president, announced today.

Martin said the company might spend 9 millions were it not for conditions over which it has no control. Among these conditions he cited the apprehension of business generally over the effect of existing laws such as the capital gains tax, threatened legislation including the wages and hours bill, and the punitive attitude of the administration toward business in general. Public utilities, he added, are suffering from the fact that the government is "seeking to destroy them by direct unfair competition."

"The lag in Alabama Power company construction for the last five years," Martin said, "has been about 79 per cent, or 43 million dollars, brought about in part by the depression, but particularly by the acts of the TVA and other government agencies."

SERVICE LIFE CO. ABSORBS ILLINOIS INSURANCE FIRM

John A. Farber, president of the Service Life Iusurance company of Nebraska, announced yesterday his company had absorbed the Builders Life Insurance company, an Illinois concern, and all its liabilities.

Farber said that Ernest Palmer, director of insurance for Illinois, and Charles Smrha, insurance director of Nebraska, had approved a contract whereby the Nebraska company reinsured all the outstanding policies of the Illinois concern.

Farber said more than $6,150,000 of insurance, carried by approximately 6,000 policyholders of the Builders Insurance company, had been transferred to the Nebraska firm.

STOCKS RECEDE AFTER MESSAGE BY ROOSEVELT

Sag in Steel Output Also Is Influence.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 15.—Stock market prices lost ground today following publication of President Roosevelt's message to the special session of congress and this week's steel operating rate estimate. Losses ranged from fractions to around four points among the pivotal issues, and up to 18 points in inactive stocks.

Trading was quiet throughout, particularly after publication of the President's message, when traders took time out to read and digest his remarks on treasury revenue and possible government action to help curb the trade recession. Transactions totaled 1,450,210 shares, compared with 1,881,730 shares last Friday.

Regard Message Indefinite.

A first reading of the Roosevelt message led observers to remark it left much still to be desired in the way of clearing the decks for private industry to start lifting the country out of the business setback. However, the American Iron and Steel Institute's report putting the steel industry's operating rate for the current week at 36.4 per cent of capacity was held partly accountable for the dropped 3½ points.

The President's expressed contention that unjust provisions must be removed from the tax laws was viewed with favor in Wall street. But the fact that he frowns on any substantial change in the present tax structure—as indicated in his suggestion that corporations with net income of $5,000 or less be exempt from the undistributed profits tax and other small revisions — gives proof, according to observers, that he will not be as tractable as desired in asking removal of many of the barriers to economic recovery.

Steel Shares Drop.

Steel shares were generously supplied today. U. S. Steel common closed at 57, off 3½, Republic Steel dropped 1¼ to 18½ and Bethlehem lost 2⅝, to close at 52⅛. Youngstown sharp drop in prices.

Cancellation of plans for buying new equipment and unfavorable earnings statements depressed the carrier group. New York Central led them into lower territory, dropping 1⅛ in active dealings. Losses ranging from that margin to 4½ points appeared against Atchison, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, and Union Pacific.

Utilities gave way under the general pessimism following a strong upward tendency early in the session. Electric Power and Light, American Water Works, Columbia Gas and Electric, and United corporation came in for particular attention, but at the close they were forced, with others, into the minus column.

Copper Group Weakens.

The poor statistical position of the copper trade, predicated on the sharp increase in copper supplies, contributed to the weakness of copper shares. Losses of 1 to 2 points appeared against Anaconda, American Smelting, national Nickel. Greene Copper slumped 18 points on a trade of 100 shares.

Building shares, which stand to profit considerably if the administration's aim in spurring a building boom materializes, gave way with the remainder of the list. Losses were small, however.

Motors kept pace with steels. Chrysler and General Motors dropped 3½ and 2¼ points, respectively. Electric Equipments, notably General Electric and Westinghouse, lost 1 to more than 4 points.

School Board Calls Tax Warants for Redemption

President James B. McCahey of the board of education yesterday called the following tax anticipation warants for redemption: 1936 educational fund, E-7252 to E-7484, principal, $233,000; 1936 building fund, B-3409 to B-3466, principal, $56,000; 1936 playground fund, P-217 to P-219, principal $3,000. Interest on the warants will stop Nov. 19.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 15.—In contrast to the action of the stock market, listed bonds displayed a fairly firm tone today, although the volume of transactions declined. The turnover was $7,253,575, compared with $10,029,900 Friday. Today was the second slowest of the month.

United States government issues were buoyant under the continued influence of last week's disclosure that the federal reserve banks had reentered the open market as buyers of government issues. Although fluctuations were not wide, net gains of 1-32 to 5-32 point were reported at the close. Except for two Home Owners Loan corporation issues, there were no losses in the list.

Railroad and utility bonds did well, apparently because of the general belief that the government's efforts to restore the recovery trend will mean better times for these two important branches of industry.

Rail issues to show gains of over two points were: Erie 4s of 1953 B, up 3¼ points; Missouri Pacific, refunding 5s of 1981, certificates, up 2⅞ points, and New York Central consolidated 4s of 1998, up 2¼ points.

Among the foreign issues a recovery in Brazilian bonds was the outstanding development. These showed gains of from 1⅝ to 3½ points.

Chicago Stocks.

A selloff in the final hour carried most issues lower on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday after an upturn earlier in the day. Trading totaled 49,000 shares, compared with 47,000 last Friday.

Of the 97 issues traded, 46 declined, 21 advanced and 46 closed unchanged. The Tribune average of 20 stocks finished at 11.93, down 0.30 and only a shade above the lowest level of the session.

Middle West was the most active issue and finished ⅝ point higher in a turnover of 11,950 shares. General Household Utilities, Commonwealth Edison, and Chicago corporation ccmmon, other active issues, finished with small declines.

Zenith Radio closed 1¼ lower and Marshall Field finished unchanged.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were weak yesterday. American National, Harris Trust, and Northern Trust each declined $5 a share. Continental Illinois slipped $2 and First National $1, Lake Shore Trust and Savings moved against the trend, closing $3 higher. National Boulevard was quoted unchanged to $5 higher by various dealers.

COTTON

Cotton futures were on the downgrade yesterday in sympathy with a sharp break in prices in Liverpool and only fair trade buying. Reports indicated a slow demand for cotton goods. Closing trades on futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were at net losses of .05 to .11 cent. Other markets declined .06 to .10 cent a pound.

Reports indicating possible delay in passing the proposed farm legislation was said to be responsible for the weakness in cotton in the Liverpool market. It was officially reported 1,857,000 bales of cotton had been pledged as collateral for government loans, but a large amount has been traded on which no action has been taken as yet. The average loan price on the cotton was said to be 8.48 cents a pound.

Spot cotton closed .05 to .10 cent lower, with New Orleans and New York, 7.95 cents; Galveston, 7.70 cents, and Houston at 7.60 cents a pound. Prices follow:

CHARGES CODE OF NRA SHELVED IN U. S. OIL SUIT

Defense Counsel Assails Government Tactics.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 15.—(AP)—A defense attorney in the federal government's gasoline price-fixing case accused government prosecutors today of suppressing evidence.

This accusation was made by T. P. Young, of St. Louis, counsel for the Shell Petroleum company, who followed William J. Donovan, chief counsel, in the argument for a directed verdict of acquittal for 19 oil companies and 45 individuals being tried here on conspiracy charges.

Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone did not rule on Donovan's motion. He said that first he would hear arguments on whether the evidence shows an unlawful agreement among the major companies, and then, "if necessary, argument as to whether certain companies and individuals were implicated."

Charges Evidence Is Suppressed.

Donovan had reviewed the government's evidence and asserted there is "fatal variance" between the proof and the indictment.

Young directed a stinging attack against the prosecution staf for attempting to keep out of the record all references to the NRA petroleum code.

"They carefully suppressed the evidence of their own witnesses," Young said, declaring the prosecution had subpenaed members of the NRA petroleum code authority's planning and coördination committee, but did not put them on the witness stand.

"The government would like to exclude if possible some of the most important and most relevant facts which it is necessary for the court to know," Young continued.

The government charges the defendants operated buying programs in 1935 and 1936 to raise and fix midwestern gasoline prices. The defense contends the companies merely purchased surplus gasoline along the lines of the invalidated NRA code program.

Denies Companies Are Guilty.

Referring to the major oil companies' documents read in court by the prosecutors, Young said, "it seems to me that their actions were inconsistent with any guilt. Men who get together and conspire to do criminal acts don't have it published in the trade papers every week and send wires all over the country to tell competitors and the whole world what they are doing."

Young spoke of Charles Arnott, Socony-Vacuum company official whom the government has called the "master mind of the conspiracy." Young asserted Arnott, as chairman of the marketing committee under the NRA code authority, should have been named as such in the indictment.

The testimony has indicated Arnott appointed a "stabilization committee" which arranged the major company purchases of gasoline. Special prosecutor Hammond Chaffetz insisted Arnott was never an official of the government.

Two New Wells Flowing in Field Near Noble, Ill.

Olney, Ill., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Two new oil wells were brought in today in the Noble, Ill., area, about six miles west of here. The Web Hanna well, owned by E. E. Hipple, in the village of Noble, came in under its own pressure and drillers asserted it was making about 75 barrels an hour. The Pure Oil company said its Anna Snyder well had come in northeast of Noble, opening a new area for development. Pure Oil officials said it would be a "good well," but declined to give any figures except that the well flowed 45 barrels in the first hour.

Coal Reserves.

Coal is the most abundant of the three natural fuels in the United States. The others are oil and gas. Coal is found in 31 states. An estimate by the federal power commission places the total already mined in this country at 25 billion tons. Reserves still available are placed at 3,000 billion tons. World reserves of coal amount to approximately 7 trillion 8 billion metric tons. [A metric ton equals 2,204.62 pounds.]

There are many kinds of coal mined in this country, ranging from graphite anthracite, with practically no fuel value, to true anthracites and bituminous lignites and peat deposits.

Almost all anthracite is found in Pennsylvania, which in 1935 mined 51 million tons of that variety and 90½ million tons of bituminous. Next largest coal producing state in that year was West Virginia with 86½ million tons. The third was Illinois with nearly 44 million tons, while Kentucky was fourth with approximately 40 million tons.

Total production in all states in 1935 was 420,327,000 tons of anthracite and bituminous.

THREAT TO FREE TRADE SEEN BY NEW YORK BANK

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Interstate commerce is being hampered through the enactment of state sales taxes supplemented by use taxes, chain store taxation, establishment of state ports of entry, the proposed federal wages and hours bill, and the possible establishment of regional authorities in seven flood control areas, the index of the New York Trust company said today.

The increase in these obstacles seriously threatens the preservation of the great free trade area represented by Continental United States, the publication asserted.

"While each one of the taxes, prohibitions and proposed legislative acts may have been actuated by worthy motives and afford certain specific benefits," the index said, "the broad national interest has been obscured."

EMPLOYERS FACE PENALTY IF LATE ON PAY ROLL TAX

Illinois employers may have to pay a double pay roll tax unless they file by Nov. 30 a "report to determine liability" under the state unemployment compensation act, Martin P. Durkin, director of labor, warned yesterday.

Under the terms of the act, employers who have eight or more persons on their pay rolls and are subject to the state act are entitled to a 90 per cent offset against the federal social security tax if they pay the state tax. To obtain this offset, employers must file reports showing their status, with the director of labor by Nov. 30.

The director announced yesterday that of 172,000 report forms originally sent to employers, about 78,000 have been returned, including 18,000 from employers subject to the act. He estimated between 30,000 and 40,000 employers will be subject to the act, but pointed out that the number cannot be determined until all reports have been returned.

EGG FUTURES DIP SHARPLY; SELLING HEAVY

Egg futures fell 1½ to 1¾ cents a dozen on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday in a sharp selloff attributed to disappointing storage withdrawals and small wholesale demand for eggs in view of liberal supplies.

November contracts closed 1½ cents lower at 18¾ cents a dozen, December contracts 1¼ cents lower at 18¾ cents, and January contracts 1¼ cents lower at 18½ cents. The decline was the widest since Oct. 8 when a heavy downward movement was in progress in the egg market.

In the cash market fresh eggs were unchanged, but refrigerator eggs were ½ cent a dozen lower.

Butter futures declined ¼ cent a pound on all contracts. Cash butter was unchanged.

Twenty-eight cars of eggs and two cars of butter were delivered on contracts.

Rothschild & Fishman, Inc., Lease Downtown Building

Rothschild & Fishman, Inc., leased for ten years at a reported term rental of $250,000 net the six story building at the southwest corner of State and Van Buren, from Childs, Inc., and the State and Van Buren Building corporation, lessors. The lessees will spend a reported $50,000 in remodeling the first floor into a restaurant and bar. This floor formerly was occupied by a Childs restaurant. Ronald J. Chinnock of Farr & Co. and L. L. Sachs & Co. were brokers.

WHEAT PRICES DECLINE; CORN AT NEW LOW LEVELS

Several Factors Cause of Recession.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

Closing prices on the December delivery of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday:

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$ .80⅛	$ .91¾	$1.18½
Corn	.53⅜	.54¼	1.03⅜
Oats	.36⅛	.36	.44¼
Rye	.70⅛	.71¾	.92⅜
Soy beans	.91⅝	.92⅝	1.30¼

Grain prices declined sharply yesterday in leading world markets. Reports that damage to the new Argentine wheat crop was not as heavy as at first believed increased pressure of Australian grain and an absence of demand for North American wheat combined with weakness in securities to cause a decline of 1⅝ to 3 cents a bushel in North America. Liverpool futures were as much as 4¼ cents lower.

All deliveries of corn sold at new lows for the season and closed with net losses of ⅝ to ¾ cent a bushel. No. 2 yellow corn in the sample market sold at 54 cents a bushel, the lowest level since May, 1934. Other grains were easier in sympathy with wheat and corn.

More Wheat Afloat.

An increase of nearly 3,000,000 bushels in the supply of wheat now afloat on the ocean en route to importing countries more than offset a reduction of 4,316,000 bushels in the domestic visible supply. The latter now stands at 114,648,000 bushels, or about 46,000,000 bushels in excess of a year ago.

Persistent hedging sales were largely responsible for the decline in corn futures. Despite prospective government loans the country sold 150,000 bushels for deferred shipment to Chicago. While export sales were estimated as high as 250,000 bushels the quantity was too small to be a market influence.

Corn Movement Heavy.

Cash corn is moving in record breaking volume for this season of the year. The domestic visible supply increased 5,542,000 bushels last week, a gain of 10,124,000 bushels in the last two weeks, the greatest accumulation during the first half of November in history. Total stocks of corn are 14,721,000 bushels, compared with 4,688,000 bushels last year.

Export demand for soy beans has fallen off sharply in the last few weeks due to cheaper offerings from Manchuria.

Life Insurance Production Lower than in October, '36

New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Production of new life insurance in the United States in October was 2 per cent less than in October, 1936, but the total for the first ten months of this year was 5.7 per cent more than the corresponding 1936 period, it was shown today in the report of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents. The new paid up business of 40 companies having 82 per cent of life insurance outstanding in all legal reserve companies, the report said, amounted to $701,038,000 in October, against $715,261,000 for the same month last year. The ten months' total was $7,546,739,000, against $7,137,508,000 a year ago.
